COOLIDGE LEADS CHRISTMAS EVE JOY AT CAPITAL

Lights the Brilliant Community Tree.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—A genial Calvin Coolidge led the nation in the observance of Christmas eve tonight.

As head of the official family of the United States, the President lighted the national Christmas tree, setting an example for heads of families throughout the land. Before he touched the button setting the tree, a living evergreen growing just south of the treasury, ablaze with brilliant varicolored lights, Mr. Coolidge wished a "Merry Christmas" to the thousands of Washingtonians who had gathered for the annual community exercises.

"In token of the good will and happiness of the holiday season," said the President, "and as an expression of the best wishes of the people of the United States toward the community Christmas tree indea, I turn on the current which will light this Christmas tree. I wish you all a 'Merry Christmas'."

Star of Bethlehem Shown.

Exclamations of delight drowned out the final words of the President as the tree flashed into a twinkling cone of bright red, green, blue and white lights. A second later a single rocket exploded high above the gathering, showering the tree with brilliant red stars. As the smaller stars descended they were dimmed by a brilliant white Star of Bethlehem that hung for a moment a few feet above the brilliantly lighted tree.

Mrs. Coolidge, radiant with smiles, shared the applause of the large crowd which had gathered to watch her husband perform in what is expected to be his last appearance as the chief attraction at the capital's community Christmas eve exercises. The Marine band played Christmas selections both before and after the tree was lighted.

Get Greetings of Public.

Before the Coolidges returned to the White House, they were presented with a Christmas card bearing the Yuletide greetings of the people of Washington. Singing of the Star Spangled Banner by the whole assemblage closed the exercises.

At 8 o'clock the vested choir of the First Congregational church serenaded the President and Mrs. Coolidge with Christmas carols from the White House lawn.

Caroling by the Congregational choir has been an annual custom since the Coolidges moved into the White House and is now in a fair way toward becoming one of the Christmas traditions of Washington.

AT PEACE WITH WORLD

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Over a nation at peace with the world the Christmas spirit settled down tonight to be hailed nowhere more joyously than in its capital.

The vast machinery of the government was at rest and its chief executive and first lady joined with the rest of America's millions in preparations for the morrow, which throughout the Christian world signifies peace, good will to man.

The thoroughfares in the business district, like the main streets from coast to coast, were thronged with last minute shoppers, including Mrs. Coolidge, who for a short while today rubbed elbows with the bundle loaded crowds. Thousands of government workers were given the day off by a special order from President Coolidge.

The White House itself was bedecked for the Christmas season. The windows were garlanded with wreaths, while over the door of the portico at the north entrance a wreath was illuminated with red, green, and white lights. Inside, the huge reception hall was banked with poinsettias. In the spacious parkway near the White House was the giant Christmas tree, the lighting of which was turned over to the President.

Hear Christmas Carols.

On the capital's Christmas eve program two events held the center of attention—the lighting of the community Christmas tree and the traditional singing of old Christmas carols on the north lawn of the White House by the choir of the President's church.

The carol service on the White House lawn has become a customary yuletide event, attended by large numbers of Washingtonians. The program included Christmas songs and in addition a special selection written by Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, the pastor of

Here's Log of a Day of Holiday Cheer.

Santa Claus—he is known by many other names in various lands—rode around the world last night.

From almost every nation came stories of Christmas celebrations. They were stories of children being made happy, of feasting, of solemn religious services, and of riots by persons determined, even at the cost of violence, to have Christmas trees in their home.

There were stories of Christmas fetes in snow covered lands and under a tropic sun, but through them all ran that spirit of fellowship that has made Christmas day the world's most universally celebrated holiday.

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 24.—As for the last 1,928 years, Bethlehem is again a scene of glorification as the birthplace of the Savior. Under a clear blue sky and bright sun the Latin patriarch was escorted from Jerusalem by a stately procession of hundreds of clergymen. Religious dignitaries riding in automobiles afforded an interesting contrast to the pilgrimages on foot of ancient times.

Putting on a coat and mitre the patriarch entered through a low aperture, actually a breach in the wall of the basilica of the Church of the Holy Nativity, preceded by a line of choir boys and Franciscan monks and followed by colorfully robed masses of native Bethlehemites, intermingled with fashionably dressed Europeans and Americans, visiting Palestine for the occasion. They then solemnly proceeded to the grotto to do homage to the birthplace, the site of the manger now replaced by marble. The grotto is aglitter with a huge silver star and hundreds of twinkling candles.

Protestants Also Hold Services.

The churchmen and representatives of all foreign countries reassembled at midnight in the Church of St. Catherine adjoining the basilica. Again there was a procession from the church to the grotto where an image of the infant Savior was laid in place in the manger where it will be kept until the Epiphany.

Protestants commenced observance of the holiest day in Christendom by the bright moonlight in the shepherds field situated east of the road to Bethlehem. Dr. Edward Wicher, professor of the San Francisco Theological seminary, preached the serman and carols were sung, the services being under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Through the kindness of the Greek Orthodox church at 9 o'clock tonight English and American communities, underthe leaderships of Bishop MacInnes, an Anglican bishop of Jerusalem assisted by the Rev. Charles Bridgeman, American Episcopal chaplain in the holy land, were permitted to chant carols in the courtyard adjacent to the birthplace.

SING MASSES IN ROME

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, Dec. 24.—With replicas of the manger at Bethlehem erected in many churches, midnight masses attended by thousands of the faithful were held in Rome's 500 basilicas tonight, to mark the nineteen hundred and twenty-eighth anniversary of the birth of Christ. Ceremonies at Santa Maria Maggiore, Santa Anastasia and St. Peter's were especially picturesque. Pope Pius said mass in his own private chapel in the Vatican at midnight.

King Victor Emmanuel and the royal family are spending Christmas in Rome. Crown Prince Humbert came from Piedmont today to join them. Premier Benito Mussolini will also spend Christmas in Rome with his wife and three sons.

The customary Christmas trees are being replaced in many homes this year by the replicas of the Bethlehem manger, in an effort to revive in the minds of the children the former traditional symbolism of Christmas fêtes.

Big Families Rewarded.

The Fascist government is playing Santa Claus to 2,000 of the largest Italian families, to whom more than 300,000,000 lire (about $15,000,000) has been distributed. This sum, together with former prizes to large families, makes a total distributed during the year of more than 600,000,000 lire ($30,000,000), of which 20,000 families were beneficiaries.

Throngs of a Great City Pause to Carol Beside a Lighted Tree

CHICAGO, ILL.—Second largest in America; more than 3,000,000 pop.; industries, meat packing, world's largest grain market, steel mfg., world's largest retail stores, also wholesale; loop district contains hundreds of office buildings, skyscrapers, etc.

At 8 o'clock last night, it being Christmas eve, there was a burst of floodlights in Grant park. At the same moment there bloomed slowly into glory a gigantic blaze of yuletide colors as THE TRIBUNE'S community Christmas tree shone out of the eastern darkness. A chorus of boys' voices arose.

An amazing interlude ensued. There was a grinding of automobile brakes, a whistling of traffic policemen's abrupt commands, a slowing down of the turmoil and the clamor of Michigan avenue died away. Clear and sweet over the now hesitating crowds a Christmas carol sounded.

More Than 15,000 There.

Within a few moments the impatient hurry of the thousands out of the loop had been transmuted into something that seemed a Sabbath consciousness. More than 15,000 persons found themselves grouped about the Christmas tree. And there had been thrust into the urge of a city's brusque and sophisticated citizenry a motif such as is reported of the citizens of Bethlehem when on a night some 2,000 years ago they paused to hear the news of the birth of a child.

A band struck up a Christmas carol. The spirit of this passed instantly into the gathering, for with one accord the celebrants, who thus paused in a chilly street when held with the note of Good Will blazing out of the dusky confines of Grant park, lifted their voices and sang with a rousing good will.

The crowd was banked back into Michigan avenue and massed ten deep on the south, east and north sides of the tree.

The program was the climax to similar celebrations held Sunday night around Christmas trees erected by THE TRIBUNE in Garfield and Lincoln parks and in the Midway plaisance, in front of the Fountain of Time. Approximately 31,000 spectators attended these community celebrations.

Tree Blazes with Light.

Even the thousands of children in the multitude were silent while the liquid voices of the Paulist choristers were lifted in a group of Christmas carols. The great tree, glittering and flaming in the blaze of light from a score of high powered searchlights, was the center of attention.

But when the band played familiar yuletide songs, the Christmas spirit which imbued the crowd, broke forth. They joined in and the skyscrapers along the drive echoed to the thunderous rhythm of thousands of voices.

Shortly before 8 o'clock last night the lights were thrown on and a battery of floodlights concealed behind shrubbery below and about it illumined the gigantic tree. Thousands had already gathered at the scene and pressed against the ropes which had been strung.

Traffic Almost Blocked.

When the Paulist singers began their program under the direction of Father Eugene Malloy the crowd threatened to block Michigan boulevard traffic. Fifty south park policemen were engaged in keeping the thousands from overrunning the tree and snatching ornaments.

No one suggested that the onlookers join in singing the Christmas songs which the band played. It was a spontaneous outburst. Long after the brief program was completed the crowd clamored for more numbers and the band obligingly played. The last song was "The Star Spangled Banner" and the crowd, hatless in the mild winter night, thundered forth the chorus.

At midnight, three hours after the players had departed, there were still hundreds gazing upon the blazing tree. The lights were turned off at 12:30 a. m., but will be on again this evening.

The Garfield park program around THE TRIBUNE Christmas tree in Garfield park Sunday attracted 15,000 persons. Six thousand were present in Lincoln park and 10,000 watched the pageant at the Midway.

HOLIDAY MAIL BREAKS RECORDS BY THE MILLIONS

Not only did Chicagoans do their Christmas mailing earlier this year, but they did more of it, according to figures released yesterday by Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder.

The peak last year came on Dec. 22, when 13,000,000 pieces of letter mail and 2,700 tons of parcel post were handled by the Chicago postoffice. The heaviest load this year was on Dec. 21, with 15,000,000 pieces of letter mail and 3,000 tons of parcel post.

The postoffice reckons the period from Dec. 15 to 24 inclusive as the Christmas season. Last year 56,504,327 pieces of first class mail were delivered during those ten days. Yesterday, with the figures for the last day unaccounted for, 63,935,135 pieces of first class mail had been delivered.

"LOVE ALL MEN," CHURCH LEADERS APPEAL TO U. S.

PARIS, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Appeals for peace and good will among men featured Christmas messages to the people of the United States by two of the leading churchmen of France. They were as follows:

BY CARDINAL DUBOIS.

Archbishop of Paris.

"Peace on earth, good will to men; divine and ever opportune prayer, but especially so in our time, on the morrow of a terrible convulsion from which the whole world has not yet entirely recovered.

"Good wills are strung from one end of the universe to the other, in order finally to bring about by peace the equilibrium of social forces, of rival interests, of national aspirations.

Shall We Stabilize Peace?

"Shall we succeed in stabilizing peace, in warding off for a long time, at least, the menaces of a new world war?

"Yes, on one condition, that we call ever more often for the aid of spiritual and religious forces, which are the best agents of international concord.

"Before the injustices or provocative ambitions of foreign wars—against subversive theories which arouse hatred and prepare revolutions, the church rises up with her divine doctrine of justice and of charity. She repeats to individuals as to nations the evangelical words, 'Love one another.'

Take These Words to Heart.

"May these words be heard and taken to heart; may the light of truth which Christ brought upon earth spread throughout the world, for the guidance of men. May true brotherhood, respecting the rights of each individual, unite the sons of the same heavenly Father.

"And may there spread more and more widely on earth the kingdom of God, for Whom the Little Child of Bethlehem made Himself, here below, the Messenger to bring to humanity the only efficacious conditions of peace and happiness."

HUGUENOT'S APPEAL

BY PASTOR HENRY SOULIE.

[Leader of the Huguenot Church in France]

"Bells are ringing on earth, angels are singing in heaven. Over ocean and continent the joyous message of Christmas is born again: 'Love one another.' Ah! If we could but at last listen to this divine appeal, how everything would change: peaceful would be our hearts, secure and happy our homes, brotherhood the motto of our cities and state, cordial the harmony of the world.

"Yes, love one another. Outside of that all is in vain, religious observance, wealth, power, civilization. With love, on the contrary, divine love, the love of what is good, of the humble, of Christ, of the Father, everything is transfigured. With the love that comes from the manger Christianity finds its first seed. All conquering; money, instead of being the worst of masters, becomes the best of servants; power becomes the core of justice and peace; civilization, the beacon of the divine infant.

Appeals to U. S.

"This is the evangel in our hands, the evangel in its simplicity of Christmas.

"Let us take the initiative. You, the United States of America, to remain faithful to your traditions symbolized by the Pilgrims of the Mayflower; we, France, once called the eldest daughter of the church, also with its heroic line of martyrs of the reformation. This crusade for the triumph of the gospel throughout the world will unite us more and better than political decisions alone.

"The only lasting, fruitful, profound, eternal truth is the unity of hearts when we are on our knees at the feet of the Divine Master, Christ born and dead on the cross, who reigns from century to century and says to us day by day: 'Love one another.'"

GOOD FELLOWS GLADDEN 20,500 LITTLE HEARTS

BY THOMAS WREN.

This is the Old St. Nicholas task accomplished this year by TRIBUNE Good Fellows. Tabulation was made last night when some Good Fellow units returned to headquarters after victoriusly bombarding every tenement sector in the city with Christmas cheer for poor kids.

Visualize the smiling, gleeful countenance of 20,500 little children and one may entertain some vague idea of the great work done by Good Fellows this yuletide. Tenement houses this morning ring out with their childish laughter as these poor kids frolic about and amuse themselves with the toys so dear to juvenile hearts at Christmas time.

Larders are Filled, Too.

Then there are the supplies of candy, oranges, nuts, and a basket of wholesale foodstuffs to fill the family larder and blend it in with the gay festivities.

No beating of drums was heard; no fanfare in evidence early yesterday when the Good Fellows' army began its silent, precisioned march onto the tenement sections of the city.

Speeches would have been considered a waste of words. All minds were focused on the concentration point of attack—the streets of tumbledown houses where the poor kids live.

This year there were three divisions of Good Fellow activities. The regular Good Fellow crusaders provided Christmas cheer to 15,125 poor children. Their cash donations were used in financing Christmas parties for the 2,000 children who live at the Angel Guardian orphanage, the Chicago Home for the Friendless, and the colored children who attend the Wendell Phillips, and the Helping Hand day nurseries.

Junior Good Fellows Help.

A Good Fellow party arranged for the children at the Chicago Home for Jewish Orphans was held on one of the Jewish holidays. This year Junior Good Fellows did some effective work for the poor kids. Through Quin Ryan of W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S radio station, the names of 3,375 poor children were sent to little folks of more fortunate circumstances. In this way these poor children received some childish gift for Christmas.

TRIBUNE reporters accompanied the Good Fellow expedition. Stories of their experiences are published herewith. In the offing appears that old gentleman with scythe of time and he is about to write "finis" and "success" after the 1928 TRIBUNE'S Good Fellow crusade. As the curtain slowly downs, Good Fellow headquarters wishes to extend gratitude to all Good Fellow crusaders. It wishes them a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

STOCKINGS UP FOR WEEK

BY ELEANOR NANGLE.

In the first home we visited, a tiny cottage on 18th street, we found a family of six children, all joyfully excited when they saw our baskets and bundles. The youngest confided gravely that their stockings had been hung for a week, that they firmly believed in Santa Claus and that turkey dinner was second best to Christmas presents. Their mother, who knew with what disappointment those little stockings would have been found on Christmas morning if the Good Fellows hadn't helped out, thanked us with sincerity and sweetness, and after a joyous good-by we wended our way to a tenement on May street where the V—— family lived.

Here was desperate poverty and much illness. One girl was in the hospital, another, one of twins, was partly paralyzed, and even little Francie, a dark eyed, plump darling, just 2 years old, had a throat ailment that required constant treatment. We could understand why the mother could not afford a real Christmas. The children promised with dancing eyes and excitement in their voices not even to peek at their Good Fellow bounty until Christmas and Santa and I departed, almost as happy as they.

With this same happiness greeting us at each door, we went from house to house, coming at last to a basement on Vincennes avenue, laden with good things for the colored family living there. The mother, a quiet woman who had been deserted by her husband, was more restrained in her thanks than her youngsters, but her earnestness was evident in her tearful voice. Her children were ecstatic, their dark heads bobbing and their finger reaching out toward the tempting packages. "Did they believe in Santa Claus?" Five lilting voices answered at once, and little Janet snuggled up to say that she not only believed in him but that she "loved him lots."

TWO LITTLE "MOTHERS"

BY PEARL BOETTCHER.

THE TRIBUNE Good Fellows went calling in Little Sicily yesterday. Our first visit was at the third flat rear on West Division street, where Marie, brown eyed and small for her age of 13 years, mothers a family of four. The mother is dead. The father's whereabouts is unknown. Joseph and Anthony, who get work occasionally in a factory, support their younger brother and sister. We knocked and Marie, a bit shyly, came to the door.

"We're THE TRIBUNE Good Fellows and we have a Christmas basket for you. . . ."

Before we could finish Marie called out to Vincent: "It's the Good Fellows," she cried. Smiling and eager they opened the bulging basket we had brought. "O, thank you, ma'am; O, thank you," they both said together. They had expected to have a meager Christmas dinner. But the Good Fellows called, so there will be turkey and all the fixings.

Another Little "Mother."

Then there was the family on Townsend street. They lived four flights up. The oldest daughter, 18 years old, works irregularly to support the family of five, but she makes only $9 a week when she is employed, and there is only enough money for the barest living for Joseph, Fortunata, Anthony, and Peter. The Good Fellows had a basket for them, and playthings, too.

The family on Flourimond street not only had to do much with a little, but they were also ill. The mother usually works to help feed the nine children, but she has influenza. Two of the babies have pneumonia. The littlest baby was even too ill to notice the funny doll we pulled out of a box. "The food is a blessing," the mother said. "May God bless you and give you a merry Christmas."

SMILES HIDE TEARS

BY MARIE FLEMING.

The first little home we visited sheltered three little girls and their brother. They told us, as they crowded to the door, that their parents were out. But at the mention of Santa Claus they greeted us with smiles that seemed to hold back tears. And when we unpacked our store of goodies in the poorly heated kitchen, happiness was victor. They were thrilled with the thought of tasting real turqey for the first time with all the trimmings and with the working of their shining new toys.

At another house a mother reigned with her eight little ones, staunch and brave in the uphill fight of making it a home. Their hearts were happy in the sole ownership of a coveted toy, and having no stockings on their little feet did not seem to cool their enthusiasm over Santa's visit.

Coal Running Low.

Another house of want and suffering showed the kitchen, living room and dining room all in one. Coal was running low and the gas had been turned off because of bills overdue. But their spirits were enlivined as we displayed our tempting groceries and gifts and the worry over the lack of coal seemed lightened by the cheer they brought.

The final call where Santa was welcomed most of all brought us to a house of three rooms, a husband ill for eight months and living only from day to day; a little grandchild playing about the shadowy walls, and a woman, who with dauntless courage was fighting sorrow and want. With nothing in the house to eat and the rents piling up each month, she was wearing the mask of cheer to cover her cares, and was profuse in her appreciation of Good Fellows' gifts.

MORTON H. HOYTS, DIVORCED IN RENO, REWED IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Eight months after they were divorced in Reno, Morton H. Hoyt and Jeanne Bankhead Hoyt were remarried today in the Little Church Around the Corner. Their old wedding ring served for the second ceremony.

"Why, I guess everybody expected us to remarry," laughed Mrs. Hoyt. "We love each other and that's all there is to it."

Mrs. Hoyt's father was the former United States senator from Alabama, and her sister is Tallulah Bankhead, the actress. Mr. Hoyt is the son of the late Solicitor General Henry M. Hoyt of President Taft's cabinet.

Last July Hoyt leaped off the S. S. Rochambeau while at sea, presumably on a dare by Elsie Eckengren, 17 year old daughter of a Washington diplomat. He was rescued and landed in New York suffering from immersion, but his plunge is said to have reunited him with his divorced wife.

SMILES OF FOUR NATIONS

BY VIRGINIA LEIMERT.

In a second floor, rear room, at the first house we visited with Good Fellow gifts, a 4 year old, curly headed little Polish girl was overcome at the sight of the toys, while her three sisters, wreathed in smiles, tried to express their gratitude and contain their surprise at the large bundles left beside a none too competent stove.

A tired Greek mother at the next house sighed with untold relief because 7 year old Sam and his six brothers and sisters were going to have a happy Christmas after all, and a good dinner besides. A Jewish grandmother, surrounded by four dark eyed delighted little boys, tried to express thanks and tell of some one who was in the hospital, in the same breath.

A fourth visit found a mother with six youngsters to feed and no sturdy husband coming home every Saturday night with a pay check. She welcomed the Good Fellows with embarrassed looks and apparent joy at the sight of the basket of sorely needed food. It was a merry Christmas from the Good Fellows to needy Chicagoans, who learned that there is a Santa Claus after all.

SEVEN DUSKY GRINS

BY ANNA NANGLE.

Broad smiles greeted us on the south side wherever we appeared, laden with dolls and games of every kind, and the huge basket filled with delicious things for a Christmas dinner.

Champion smilers were the seven children of a colored family. They were grouped around the door as we entered, and as we unfolded the treasure we brought, each little, dusky face was lighted by a huge grin of delight. The only serious moment for them, was when the flashlight boomed. The seven pairs of big eyes opened wider than ever, and Urilla, 3 years old, dashed madly from the room and buried her head under the covers of the bed in the adjoining room.

Then there was the tired, wistful smile of a 13 year old girl, aged beyond her years. Her mother was ill. The doctors were unable to give much hope for her, but the child smiled like a little soldier and assured us we had brought happiness into the little home.

Seize Ten, 1,500 Gal. Booze in Christmas Eve Raids

Ten arrests were made and approximately 1,500 gallons of booze seized by federal prohibition agents yesterday afternoon in a series of eight Christmas eve raids on soft drink parlors on the west side. The proprietors were arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and released on bonds.

40 KIDS HAPPY! CHAMPION GOOD FELLOW'S ON JOB

He Finds Christmas Thrill in Homes of Poor.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

In four of the poverty stricken homes in this great city the sun went down last night upon Christmas eve desolation and came up this morning upon Christmas carnival. For THE TRIBUNE's champion Good Fellow was on the job.

Day by day this St. Nick of the slums is the president of one of the country's greatest corporations. But year by year at Christmas time he steps into the ranks of the Good Fellows, plunks down $200, and orders, "Four families, please. Make them very poor, and with plenty of kids." And Christmas is sure to be joyful for those he draws.

Gets Forty Children.

This year, as he sits down to his Christmas dinner of turkey and trimmingse in his Lake Shore drive apartment, he is chuckling over the record. For in the four families awarded him there were forty children—two colored families, one Slav, and one Italian. And the happiness he spread in those destitute places cannot fail to kindle the Christmas glow a bit brighter in his own luxurious home.

There were Christmas dinners for each family in the car that made the rounds. Not a meal of staples, but a filling, cheering dinner of turkey, sweet potatoes, fruit, vegetables, and all the necessary adjuncts and tidbits. The boxes measured two feet long by twelve inches deep.

There were toys of every description, from white enameled doll ranges, with real little frying pans and tea kettles, to sturdy games for sturdy boys, with books and dolls and beds and cuddly dogs and cats to help out. There was even, by special request of one of the youngsters involved, a toy typewriter that would actually print one's correspondence.

Warm Clothes for Cold Ones.

There were comfortable hose for little feet, and warm underwear, and even a soft blanket and downy comforter—for these Chicago nights are bitter in the homes where steam heat is unknown and the coal pile is always low.

Mrs. D——, the Italian mother, was taken to a store near her home to do the buying herself. She took with her her small Mary, whose thick tangle of curls was innocent of a hat.

"Why didn't you put a hat on, Mary?" queried one of the party.

She Gets a Hat.

So Mary's hat immediately became the center of interest. She was escorted to a counter and several felt bonnets tried on her. Eleven years old and much wiser than that, Mary fingered the price tag of the one she liked best, read $1.69," and caught her breath.

"Ooh-h," she gasped. "That's—too—much."

But it wasn't. And Mary, protesting that she'd keep it for Sundays, carefully carried her treasure home, and continued to wear only her day curls for protection against the cold.

These and similar incidents caused the Good Fellow's eyes to blur a bit as he stumbled down the worn stairs of the poverty stricken homes, and to carry with him as he rode homeward the real thrill of Christmas eve he had left behind him.

Christmas Presents Burn in Apartment House Fire

Fire in the basement storeroom of an apartment building at 854 Ridge avenue, Evanston, yesterday destroyed Christmas presents and other goods worth $7,000, which tenants had left there. The blaze was confined to the basement, but first floor tenants were forced to leave the building. Three invalid women, Miss Frances Banstow, Mrs. Elsie Nauman, and Mrs. G. Waugh, were carried out on stretchers.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Postal officials estimate that during the past three days 90,000 money order advices have been received from the United States and Canada. The amount paid out through the postoffice to addresses in Ireland was estimated at $1,800,000. In addition, large sums were remitted to Ireland through banks, of which no record can be obtained.

STEAMER RACES TO LAND YANKS FOR CHRISTMAS

S. S. MAJESTIC, at Sea, Dec. 24.—Carrying 11,000 bags of Christmas mail and 1,000 passengers, most of them Americans homeward bound, the White Star liner Majestic, last of the year's Christmas ships, which was delayed a whole day at Southampton by fog, has been making a valiant fight through winter seas to land its mails and passengers in time for the holiday. The result tonight is, despite head winds and rough weather, that she expects to reach quarantine before dawn and send her passengers ashore for Christmas dinners at their own firesides. Tonight mail sacks have already been brought up from the holds and are awaiting the postal tenders. Special arrangements have been made by wireless for speedy clearance of passengers by the immigration and customs authorities.

OFFICIALS START PROBE OF FATAL AIRPLANE CRASH

Go to Chattanooga, Where Four Were Killed.

Officials of the United States department of commerce, the Interstate Air lines and representatives of the Fairchild Aircraft company and the Pratt-Whitney Motor company were on their way to Chattanooga, Tenn., yesterday to investigate the airplane crash there Sunday in which four persons were killed, according to C. T. Blackburn, general manager of the Interstate lines.

The Fairchild cabin plane in which the four were flying to Atlanta, Ga., fell into a dwelling two minutes after it took off from the Marr landing field at Chattanooga. Motor failure, it was said, made it impossible for the pilot, C. H. Shield, to gain sufficient altitude to pass over a railroad embankment. The plane side-slipped and fell when the pilot swerved to miss the embankment, according to reports. A fifth passenger, Mayberry W. Rozar of Chicago, the only survivor of the accident, expressed the belief that a cold motor had caused the accident.

Commander Blackburn stated that the Marr field is well known among pilots for its hazards. "The field is [illegible] feet long and 1,200 feet wide and surrounded by embankments, trees, and other obstructions," he said. "There have been a number of crack ups by privately owned planes recently. The city of Chattanooga realizes the short comings of the field, however, and has recently passed a bond issue of $190,000 to be used in developing the airport."

German Expert Here.

Dr. Otto Merkel, an official of the German Lufthansa Air Service company, arrived in Chicago yesterday to survey local facilities for air transportation. He is on a tour of important air centers in America following the international civic aeronautical conference at Washington.

"The airplane will hardly be able to attract the majority of passengers, but it will cater to those to whom speed is paramount," Dr. Merkel stated. "Neither the railroads nor the steamships propose important improvements in speed and time saving, so it is apparent that aircraft will become increasingly useful because of its high rate of speed from the very moment of departure, lack of frequent stops and winding routes which slow up the railroad train."

Short Hauls Popular.

Citing figures from the volume of traffic of his own company, Dr. Merkel stated that short passenger hauls by airplane will also become more popular. "The Lufthansa transported [illegible] passengers in 1926 over distances averaging only 150 kilometers," he said.

Passenger comfort is important in the development of air transportation, the German air expert believes. The airplane, he said, should be as comfortable as other means of transportation. He predicted great improvement in the near future in the larger passenger and transport ships and the seaplanes.

"A few years will tell which countries are to be the leaders in this great new industry. Those countries whose governments attain a broad vision of the problems to be solved must necessarily become the air powers of the world," he stated.

Eight Pilots Die in Year.

Eight air mail pilots were killed during 1928, according to department of commerce figures. Leo J. McGinn, pilot for the National Air transport, who died when his plane crashed at Huron, O., on Dec. 20, was the only casualty to mail pilots flying out of Chicago. In 1927 there were six killed, of whom two flew out of Chicago. Department officials state that the fatality record shows improvement. There are now 250 air mail pilots. The average fatality rate is one death for between 300,000 and 400,000 miles flown.

PLANES TO RUSH FOREIGNERS FROM AFGHAN CAPITAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Despite continued alarmist reports from the borders of Afghanistan, the Afghan legation here continues to minimize the rumors of serious fighting. In answer to the report that Queen Souriya and Amir Amanullah Khan's mother were removed from Kabul to Kanahara and the rumor that the amir also fled from the capital, the legation says that it is the annual custom to change quarters in the winter, when the weather at Kabul is exceptionally severe.

According to the legation, the rebels were evicted from the heights near Kabul and pushed back 40 miles to the north, while the tribe of Khudyam, it is said, submitted to the authority of the government.

The legation adds, however, that volunteers are rushing to the defense of the government, which would seem unnecessary if the situation is "well in hand," as authorities report. That the situation is less well controlled than the legation desires to have believed seems to be indicated by news that British planes are planning to remove other foreigners from Kabul to Peshawar and other cities outside of Afghan territory.

SHOT BY POLICE WHEN SURPRISED IN SALOON HOLDUP

Fred Fagan, 24 years old, 5055 South Wells street, and two companions were engaged in holding up Mrs. Lucille Bladowski and three patrons in the Bladowski saloon at 5000 South Racine avenue late last night when a detective bureau squad, headed by Sergt. Thomas Gorman, walked in.

The robbers fled when they saw the policemen. Two of them went by the rear door. Fagan leaped through the glass of a window. The squad members followed. In the alley there was a pistol battle in which thirty shots were fired. Fagan was struck in the head by a bullet from Gorman's weapon. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital, where it was said he probably would die. The other outlaws escaped.

Charles H. Shield, who was at controls when plane crashed. He was killed.

MASTERPIECE IS FOUND UNDER 2 COATS OF PAINT

GRAZ, Austria, Dec. 24.—(AP)—While a large painting depicting the ascension of the Virgin Mary into heaven was hanging in a local art exhibition, Dr. Richter Bienenthal, a government expert, noticed that the canvas, which is the property of a local church, bore a double coat of paint.

Dr. Bienenthal removed the outer coating and discovered underneath an old masterpiece by Tintoretto, which has been valued at $500,000.

POLITICIAN GIVES BASKETS TO POOR, THEN IS BOMBED

The bomb was tossed through a window of an enclosed rear porch. The explosive force was so great that a door was hurled more than fifty feet into an alley. All the windows in the home of Porcaro and his nearest neighbors were shattered. Mrs. Marie Porcaro, mother of the politician, suffered from the shock and a physician was called to attend her.

Porcaro had spent most of the evening distributing baskets to the poor of his ward. He asserted that he knew of no motive for the outlawry. The police believed that politics was the underlying cause.

No Money to Buy His Wife Present, So He Ends Life

For more than a year Anton Strickler, 55 years old, 3819 North Nottingham avenue, had been ill of asthma and unable to work. His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Strickler, supported him by her labor. Yesterday he complained that he had no funds to buy her a present. Mrs. Strickler told him not to worry. Then she went out to buy him a gift, hoping that this would cheer him. When she came back, bearing a trifle wrapped in tissue paper and a gay ribbon, she found that her husband had committed suicide by shooting himself.

MYSTERY MARKS SLAYING IN WEST SIDE HOTEL ROOM

Mystery surrounds the shooting to death early this morning in a room of the Paradise Arms hotel, 4114 West Washington boulevard, of Albert Seneff, 35 years old, resident of the hotel. Seneff was found in his room with a bullet wound in the abdomen from which he died a short time later at the county hospital. He occupied the room with George Livingston and police are seeking Livingston for questioning.

Lieut. Richard Barry of the detective bureau took charge of the investigation and questioned Raymond Sher, the manager. Sher said that Seneff, who had lived in room 421 in the hotel for four months, had engaged rooms 303 and 305 on the third floor for a Christmas eve party. George Lumpkin, a colored bell boy, had served ginger ale to those rooms and said there were about six persons in room 305. In that room the police found two .45 automatics and numerous whisky bottles left by those at the party. It is believed the shooting resulted from a quarrel started at the party.

Seneff, according to Lieut. Barry, was an automobile accessory dealer and was arrested a year ago on suspicion. At that time he gave his address as 1659 South Millard avenue.

David Sher, owner of the Paradise Arms, was shot and killed in the hotel on the morning of April 25 this year by Thomas J. Rowley, well known gangster. Rowley was recently sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary for the killing.

Christmas Shoppers Set New Surface Line Record

Christmas shoppers pouring into the loop and other business centers last Saturday gave the Chicago surface lines the biggest day in the history of the company, it was announced yesterday. The total of 5,296,081 rides on the system during the day exceeded the number for the Saturday before Christmas last year by 538,510. For the entire last week, in spite of the inclement weather which reduced riding during the first three days, the system, their report stated, carried 160,075 more rides than during the Christmas shopping week last year.

HOOVERS SPEND XMAS ON OCEAN UNDER A HOT SUN

Warship Radio Busy with Greetings from U. S.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ABOARD U. S. S. UTAH, Dec. 24.—Sailing up from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, as the sailors sing "Toward the Equator and Home Again," the Hoover party finds Christmas on a battleship in the tropics an interesting affair, although some are homesick for snow and a fireside.

There was an impressive picture tonight on the after deck where 1,100 sailors and officers sang "Holy Night" and other Christmas songs. President Elect and Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover sat in the midst of the white jacketed throng. The men were perched on the gun turrets, masts, and all parts of the ship, while the chaplain and band led the Christmas anthems.

This is not the first warm Christmas for Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, however. When their first baby was born in Australia they decorated a little palm in place of a Christmas tree. They spent two holidays in the Suez canal. Mrs. Hoover, like her husband, is at home everywhere.

Hoover Opens Presents.

The President Elect opened his Christmas presents last night. He could not wait. He has a stack of boxes of cigars and the hold is full of boxes of gifts. Mr. Hoover addressed greetings on a special card with a tropical scene to each of the 1,300 persons on the ship. He also gave a dinner, together with Capt. Charles R. Train, to the officers and members of the party, numbering more than 100, on the quarter-deck.

The evening stars are bright and seem close to the warm salt spray of the seas of the equator. A special tree was brought on and little gifts were exchanged. In various parts of the ship there is rivalry as to decorations, and many parties are being given. Mr. Hoover has much Christmas mail and letters from children in all parts of the world.

He still has a memory of the glorious celebration at Rio de Janeiro when the ship steamed out of the harbar and all the nearby hills blazed with rockets and fire. It was a fitting climax to the trip, which now takes him toward his inauguration. He already is at work on his inaugural address.

Radio Brings Greetings.

U. S. S. UTAH, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A quiet Christmas eve was celebrated tonight by Herbert Hoover on his homeward journey through tropical seas on board the battleship Utah, whose radio all day brought greetings of the season from relatives and friends in the United States.

Homeward bound, after an enthusiastic reception at Rio de Janeiro, which climaxed his Latin American good will tour, the President Elect felt much gratified over the results of the tour. He is especially pleased over the fact that all appraisals and analyses of his trip which have come to him characterized his visit to the Central and South American countries as a real and pronounced accomplishment towards good will and understanding and closer friendship in the relations of the Latin American republics and the United States.

Members of the Hoover party pointed out that Mr. Hoover had brought a Christmas gift of "peace and good will" to the western hemisphere and that his tour was one of the most extensive efforts of history in applying the principle of friendly personal contact between chief executives of nations. Besides Christmas greetings, the radio today brought Mr. Hoover many felicitations from South American countries on his good will trip.

Christmas Under Hot Sun.

A torrid sun and clear skies was the Christmas eve weather as the battleship steamed toward the equator from Rio de Janeiro about 100 miles off the Brazilian coast. The Utah averaged about 14 knots an hour over a smooth sea in today's voyage.

But a strong breeze prevailed, which alleviated the tropical heat, and Mr. and Mrs. Hoover and other members of their party were able to rest comfortably on the quarter deck. An awning was stretched over the deck, which sheltered them from the sun.

Mrs. Hoover devoted part of the day to sorting and arranging the mass of flowers sent aboard to her at Rio by officials of the Brazilian government and a number of American residents of the Brazilian capital. She also made final preparations for the Christmas day celebration, which will include a dinner to the Hoover party and ship's officers.

A Profusion of Flowers.

The floral gifts to the Hoover party included basket after basket of roses, geraniums, carnations, lilies, violets, a profusion of orchids and many wild native Brazilian flowers.

The admiral's quarters of the Utah, where Mr. and Mrs. Hoover are located, virtually were filled with flowers. They filled every available space. The native Brazilian flowers were sent as tokens of friendship from the people of that country who in the last few days gave Mr. and Mrs. Hoover an overwhelming testimonial of their esteem.

The quarters now banked with these floral tributes were once the scene of more grim operations, as it was from here that the movement of American warships to European waters was directed during the world war.

Hoover in Good Health.

Mr. Hoover spent most of the day before Christmas reading letters and reports received yesterday at Rio de Janeiro by mail from the United States. Both he and Mrs. Hoover are in excellent health and in the best of spirits, but after the rush of the reception in the Brazilian capital, with scarcely a moment to themselves for relaxation, they welcomed the opportunity to take things comparatively quietly on the voyage to Key West.

At midnight Christmas eve the Utah expected to be about 100 hours south of the equator, with a forecast of perfect weather for Christmas—that is, perfect tropical subequatorial weather. Instead of the snowy Christmas of the northern climes, the only white touch to the Hoovers' Christmas will be that everybody now is wearing white ducks and white linens.

THREE CHILDREN, 3 WOMEN, 4 MEN KILLED BY AUTOS

Ten Deaths in the County Make Toll 1,044.

Three children, three women, and four men were added yesterday and early today to the Cook county list of motor accident deaths, which now is 1,044. This exceeds by 53 the total number of such fatalities recorded by the coroner's office in all of 1927.

Robert Auberg, 3 years old, 2830 North Mulligan avenue, was playing outside his home while a Christmas tree was being decorated by his parents last evening. He was struck by a Chicago Motor Coach company bus driven by George Wert, 4507 Ravenswood avenue, and died a few minutes later. Wert was arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Josephine Gustanien, 3 years old, was fatally injured when a car driven by her father collided with another at [illegible] street and South Park avenue. Robert Lang, 1807 Calumet avenue, driver of the second car, was held.

Boy Killed by Truck.

Charles Vasek, 6 years old, 3231 South Kedvale avenue, ran through a gate into an alley at 3230 South Kedzie avenue, and headlong into the path of a truck driven by Rudolph Benedict, 3027 South Karlov avenue. The boy died on the way to St. Anthony's hospital.

Nellie Brady, 50 years old, 2119 Washington boulevard, died at the Washington Boulevard hospital of injuries received on Sunday when she was struck by an automobile at Western avenue and Lake street. George [illegible], driver of the car, was held.

Youth Dies in Crash.

Alex Hermanovich, 22 years old, [illegible] Highland avenue, Berwyn, was killed when the automobile he was driving collided at 21st street and Western avenue with another driven by Clarence Mast of New Lenox, Ill.

Mrs. John Moses, 34 years old, 1426 Center avenue, Chicago Heights, died of injuries suffered on Sunday when the car in which she was riding with her husband crashed into one driven by Paul Scholle, 1657 Chicago road, Chicago Heights.

Mrs. Mae Meyers, 48 years old, 4735 Magnolia street, was killed when the automobile driven by Fred Ekstrom, [illegible] Winchester avenue, in which she was riding, overturned at Crawford and Lincoln avenues, Tessville.

L. M. Meyers, living at the Fort Dearborn hotel, was killed when struck by a taxicab driven by Samuel Lickhalter, 4308 West 13th street, at School street and Western avenue.

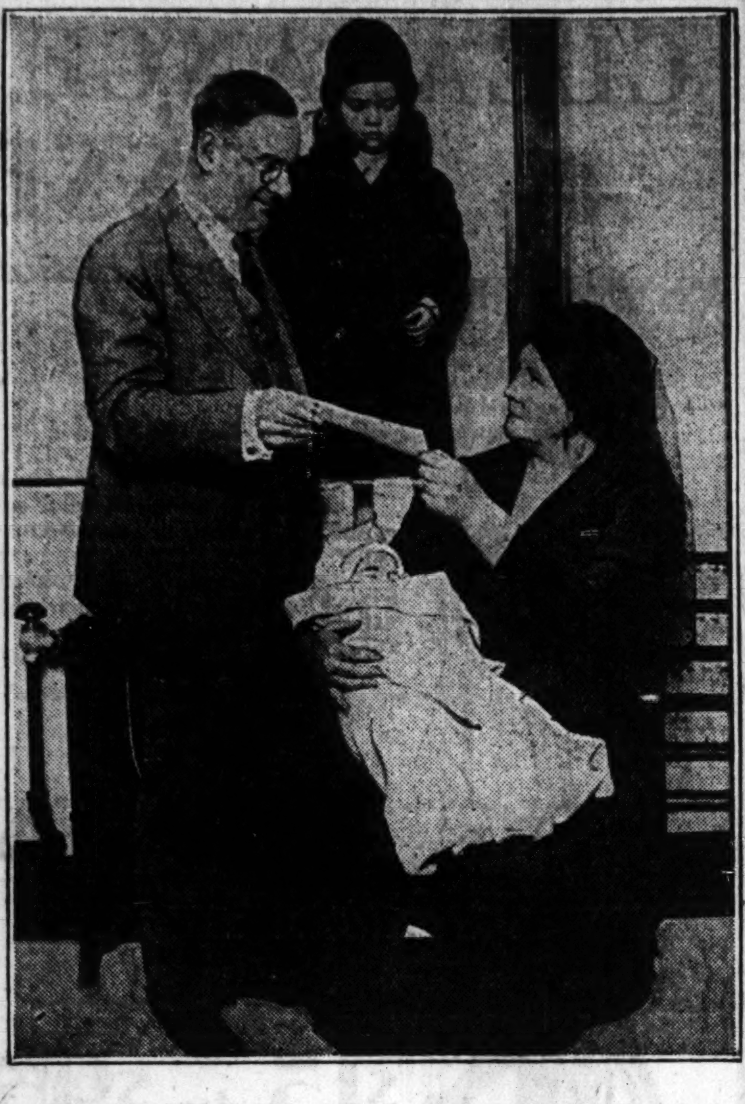
Samuel Larniga, 22 years old, 901 South Bishop street, was killed when an automobile in which he was riding with three others struck a safety island at [illegible] street and Michigan avenue.

Ernst Olsen, 23 years old, 5556 Race avenue, was fatally hurt when the machine in which he was riding collided at Central avenue and Iowa street with a car driven by Ben Johnson, 945 North Parkside avenue.

Daniel McGeoghagen, 31 years old, 5626 South Marshfield avenue, pal of Midget Fernekes, now serving a robbery sentence at Joliet prison, was given a sentence of 1 year in the Cook county jail by Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden on a charge of assault with an automobile. Mrs. Elizabeth Mason, 5648 South May street, last Friday was seriously injured by an automobile driven by McGeoghagen at Aberdeen and 57th streets while he was fleeing from detectives.

Figures compiled by R. R. Glass, in the office of Secretary Mayer, revealed that so far during 1928 a total of 15,683 auto mishaps, fatal and non-fatal, have occurred within the city limits. Of this total, the figures show that in 881 cases the injuries proved fatal, leaving the number of non-fatal accidents at 14,802.

Policeman's Widow Gets $1,230



Judge Frank M. Padden of the State street court handing check to Mrs. Veronica Lynch, whose husband, a policeman, was killed by a burglar on Dec. 8. Mrs. Lynch is holding Rita, her youngest child, and is accompanied by Mary Veronica, 5 years old. The fund for the widow was collected by Judge Padden in his court from minor offenders who were shown leniency.

Collected in Court

Judge Frank M. Padden of the South State street court yesterday presented to Mrs. Veronica Lynch, widow of Policeman Michael Lynch, a check for $1,230. The money had been gathered in the court in recent weeks by permitting minor offenders to contribute in lieu of being fined. Policeman Lynch was shot and killed Dec. 8, by a colored robber in the Atlantic & Pacific Tea company store at 458 East 37th street. The killer Henry Dixon, was arrested and has confessed.

U.S. MAY LISTEN AT PARLEY ON GERMAN DEBTS

Coolidge Agrees to Presence of Experts.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The Coolidge administration gave approval today to the participation of American experts in the international commission that is to fix definitely the amount of German world war reparations and provide for liquidating the German debt from the proceeds of German bonds sold to private investors.

What makes this latest move toward a final reparations settlement of transcendent importance to the United States is the possibility that it will pave the way to a revision of the settlement of world war debts owed America on a basis of their present cash value. If this consummation should materialize, the United States would discount for cash the present sixty-two year obligations of Great Britain, France, Italy and other European nations.

Would Relieve Home Burdens.

If the United States were to accept five billion dollars cash for war debts with sixty years yet to run, having a present value of six billions five hundred millions, it would receive about half of the principal originally loaned to the allies. Inasmuch as the cash so received would be devoted to the retirement of Liberty bonds, the burden of debt borne by the present generation would be tremendously lightened.

The approval by the Coolidge administration of the inclusion of American experts in the commission to make the new reparations settlement was given following a conference of Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg and Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador.

Sir Esme called at the state department on behalf of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Belgium and Germany, to inquire whether the American government would agree to the participation of American experts, and, if so, whether it would propose the names of such experts or leave the choice to the six governments. In either case the experts would be appointed jointly by the reparations commission and the German government.

Mr. Kellogg Replies.

After consulting President Coolidge, Mr. Kellogg later in the day informed the British ambassador "that if the six governments desire American experts to serve upon the expert committee, the United States will have no objection. It is understood that the choice of these experts will be made and they will be appointed by those governments."

In this manner, proceeding as was done in the case of the appointment of the American members of the Dawes commission in 1923, the administration sanctioned the project informally without becoming officially involved in the settlement of the reparations question, which is held not to concern the United States. Our only interest in German reparations is trifling, being only 2¼ per cent of the present annuities, which amount to about $10,000,000 in addition to $13,000,000 annually to reimburse us for the expense of our army of occupation following the armistice.

Possible Members of Mission.

Each government will be represented by two experts. Among those mentioned as likely to be chosen to represent are Owen D. Young of New York, who was one of the three American members of the Dawes commission and whom Vice President Dawes credits with the conception of the Dawes plan of reparations payments; Rufus C. Dawes of Chicago, brother of the Vice President, who served as adviser to the American group in the Dawes commission and as assitant to Mr. Young as first agent general of reparations; Thomas Nelson Perkins, of Boston, partner of Roland W. Boyden, American unofficial representative on the reparations commission; and Jeremiah W. Jenks of New York, the political economist whose latest service of distinction was the reform of the finances of the republic of Hungary.

While the two experts chosen will not be named by the administration their names will be submitted to the President and Secretary Kellogg for informal approval as the American appointees to the Dawes commission were approved by the Harding administration.

Keeps U. S. Out of Tangle.

By virtue of this policy President Coolidge aims to promote a final settlement of the reparations problem without entangling the United States in European affairs and particularly in the maneuvering of our European debtors to get the war debts owed America thrown into the scales.

Great Britain and France have never ceased to scheme to get the United States into a position in which it would be compelled to cancel the war debts in consideration of the cancellation of an equal amount of German reparations. No less eager are the allies to induce the American government to give approval to the flotation in the United States of a gigantic issue of bonds by Germany in payment of reparations.

Germany originally was called on to pay about thirty-three billion dollars in reparations. Then the Dawes commission fixed a schedule of annuities for Germany to pay without fixing any definite total of reparations. In part payment Germany turned over to the allies bonds secured by German railroads and other industrial properties of a face value of approximately four billion dollars.

Why Settlement Is Delayed.

But these bonds are not marketable and will not be so long as the aggregate which Germany is required to pay has not been fixed. Investors will not purchase the bonds of a country that might be made insolvent by eventual exactions of reparations.

It is not unlikely that the total amount of reparations will be fixed somewhere between four billion dollars and ten billion dollars. The Europeans continually insist that they could let Germany off easy if America would let them off from paying their war debts. But President Coolidge has no less insistently held that reparations and war debts are unrelated and that in justice to American taxpayers the war debts cannot be cancelled.

President Elect Hoover has held to the same view.

JOKER'S PRANK IN FIREWORKS STORE KILLS 4

Ignites Stock; Youngsters Burn to Death.

Cartersville, Ga., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Four children were burned to death today in a Christmas fireworks store, when a Roman candle, lighted by a customer, caused an explosion which enveloped the building in flames.

The charred bodies of William Shaw, 11, and Frances Shaw, 15, children of the proprietor of the store, and Mary Bell Dodd, 16, were brought out of the blazing building by firemen.

Mary Kennedy, 18, who with three other children was earning extra holiday money by working in the fireworks store, was burned so badly that she died tonight.

Hugh Padgett, 11, was severely burned, and his father, Paul Padgett, was badly cut about the face in an attempt to escape through a show window.

Girl Fights Off Rescue.

J. R. Shellhorse Jr., 17, dashed into the burning building and attempted to carry the Dodd girl outside, but crazed by the sudden blast of heat, she fought him off and rushed back into the flames. The youth made his escape with both hands badly burned.

C. Davis Shaw, proprietor of the store, told police that a man whom he did not know entered as a number of persons were shopping and snatched a large Roman candle from a counter.

Before any one could stop him, Shaw said, the man lighted the fuse and begun firing the hot balls of flame about the store.

Other fireworks were ignited and while the man with the roman candle was being taken outside, the whole place caught fire with a series of explosions.

4 Die in Kentucky.

Hazard, Ky., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The custom of celebrating Christmas with fireworks cost the lives of four children here when a firecracker, tossed in fun, landed in a can of blasting powder.

The dead, children of Cornelius Stacy, who live on Troublesome creek, ten miles from here, are: Taylor, 3, Sally, 5, Richmond, 7, and Polly, 14.

The firecracker landed in a can of power used for "shooting" coal. There was a terrific explosion followed by fire. A daughter, Frankie Stacy, 17, may lose her life as a result of heroic efforts to save the smaller youngsters. With the flames raging about her, she passed a year old baby out the window before she would leave the blazing house. Doctors say she has a chance to live although her condition is grave. The mother also was burned trying to save her children.

FATHER SANTA TO SON DESPITE DIVORCE CLOUD

Lawyers Arrange Truce in Westlake Family.

"A Tragedy of the Divorce Court," as pictured in McCutcheon's cartoon reprinted in yesterday's TRIBUNE, was averted last night by a conference of attorneys in the case of Westlake vs. Westlake. Emory W. Westlake, young sportsman and realty operator, was permitted to play Santa Claus to his son and only child, Emory III., 3 years old.

Mr. Westlake, son and heir of the late Emory W. Westlake, wealthy packer, helped decorate a Christmas tree in the apartment of Mrs. Marie Kramer Westlake, 5468 Cornell avenue, which was his home before last June. The wife, a daughter of the late Louis A. Kramer, manufacturer of packing house machinery, filed suit for separate maintenance in July and the bill is still pending.

Cartoon Gives Inspiration.

McCutcheon's cartoon, published originally on Dec. 17, 1911, shows a man alone on a wintry night gazing across the street to the lighted window of a cottage. Through the window may be seen a Christmas tree and children playing with their mother.

Mr. Westlake, well known as an amateur aviator, saw the cartoon. He purchased some toys and called his attorney, Frank Koral. Mr. Koral telephoned the wife's lawyer, Robert E. Cantwell Jr. Mr. Cantwell got in touch with Mrs. Westlake.

"Domestic trouble is all the more sad on Christmas," she said. "There is nothing that can be done to make me happy. But I don't want my child to feel the tragedy of the situation. I welcome the chance to call a truce for the boy's sake."

Santa Visits the Boy.

So Santa Claus visited Emory III. last night. He stayed for more than an hour.

"But there was no reconciliation between me and my husband," said Mrs. Westlake.

Mrs. Westlake is seeking a decree on a charge of cruelty.

REPORT RAPS TAX DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM; SUGGESTS REMEDY

Distribution of revenues to the 400 taxing bodies in Cook county is characterized as having no "logical system" and the method of raising and using bond funds as "reprehensible" in a report submitted to the Chicago Association of Commerce and other civic organizations yesterday by E. O. Griffenhagen of Griffenhagen and Associates, Inc. The present method of distributing the tax revenues should be supplemented by a ten year plan of public finance for the metropolitan district, according to the report.

"Each taxing body gets its own funds on a predetermined basis," the report states. "This is without regard to its real merits, its changing needs, or the needs of other bodies. It spends them as it sees fit. It naturally feels the importance of its own work and tries from time to time to increase its share in total tax funds raised."

There is no excuse for the financial emergencies such as the school and water fund deficits, Mr. Griffenhagen says, which cause confusion and interference in the operation of city departments. The plan for a ten year advance period would set up a standard for public officials in the evolution of annual expense appropriations, particularly in the issuance of bonds for municipal and other important local improvements.

J. M. PATTERSON QUITS PANAMA TO RESUME FLIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GATUN SPILLWAY, Panama Canal Zone, Dec. 24.—J. M. Patterson, publisher of the magazine Liberty and the New York News, and his party who have been making an aerial cruise of the Caribbean in his amphibian plane Liberty, sailed aboard the steamer Cristobal for Port au Prince, Haiti, following a round of entertainments here. The cruise of the party, which included in addition to Mr. Patterson, his daughter, Mrs. Alicia Simpson and Floyd Gibbons, was interrupted due to the illness of the pilot, Lieut. Fred Becker. He has recovered and they plan to proceed by air to Santo Domingo and then to Porto Rico. Army planes took the party across the Panama canal Sunday. Mrs. Simpson was the first woman to cross the canal by air.

TAX VALUATION WORKERS PAID; AWAIT RULING

County Treasurer George F. Harding yesterday issued pay checks to 481 reassessment workers, notwithstanding the opinion of Attorney William Struckmann that such payment was illegal and that the treasurer could be held personally liable. The treasurer followed the advice of his counsel, Attorney George Lennon. Attorney Struckmann contends that the Supreme court ruling of last Thursday, refusing a mandamus to compel the treasurer to pay salary rates to assessment workers in excess of $10 a day also invalidates the entire reassessment order of the state tax commission. The Supreme court will amplify its verbal decision, explaining its reasoning, with a written opinion to be handed down at the next session of the tribunal.

Yellow Cab Company Gives Police Funds $2,000

BRITISH ROYALTY HOLD HAPPY YULE UNION ABOUT KING

Slow Progress Continues; Nation Rejoices.

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Christmas eve brought to King George of England new hope for recovery and the blessing of a united family. The physicians attending his majesty reported tonight that slow improvement in both general and local conditions of his illness was continuing. At the same time it became known that on three occasions during his extended battle against the tenacious disease the doctors considered him to be at the very gates of death.

England's Christmas joy is thus much greater in the assurance that the beloved sovereign has come safely through the darkest part of the valley and for a week has been climbing steadily, although slowly, to higher ground.

Slow Progress Continues.

The brief bulletin issued at 8:30 p. m. at Buckingham palace said:

"The very slow progress in his majesty's local and general condition continues. No bulletin will be issued until Tuesday evening."

This will be the second time, the other being last Sunday, in about six weeks that the royal physicians have had such confidence in the progress of their patient's condition that they have believed one bulletin in 24 hours sufficient for the rassurance of the public.

Family Is United.

The sick king and his brave and faithful queen had cause for happiness tonight, for they had gathered around them a complete family circle, some members of which came from the ends of the earth for love of their father. The Duke of Gloucester, the last to arrive, reached the palace today, after weeks of travel from southern Africa. The Prince of Wales, who had made a quicker homeward journey, displayed his lively spirits by hunting today with the Quorn hounds at Malton Mowbray. He returned to London this evening. With his brother, the Duke of York, he dined with Queen Mary tonight.

Although the ultra-ray treatment was not given to the king tonight, it was authoritatively understood that this therapy has not been abandoned, but was only interrupted temporarily.

Curtis, Uncle, Old Indian Fighter, Dies at Age of 84

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Noah E. Curtis, 84, uncle of Charles Curtis, United States senator from Kansas and Vice President Elect, died yesterday at the home here of his son, Frank Curtis. The funeral was held today. Mr. Curtis served as an Indian fighter and for several years was stationed at Fort Cobb, Okla.

RUSSELL TELLS MAYOR WHAT HIS POLICE ARE DOING

All but Six Major Crimes Solved, He Reports.

Since Police Commissioner William F. Russell assumed command of the department on Aug. 1 only six major crimes were committed which remain unsolved, he reported to Mayor Thompson, who had requested an accounting of the achievements of all city departments. Commissioner Russell gave the record of his department from Jan. 1 to Dec. 15 as follows:

Quasi-criminal arrests	275,282
Criminal arrests	29,900
Sent to Joliet and Pontiac	2,343
Sent to Bridewell	8,710
Sent to county jail	1,234
Major crimes cleared up	15,907
Property recovered	$11,967,840
Cars stolen	9,962
Cars recovered	8,864

Among the important robberies cleared up by the police since Aug. 1 were Wheaton bank, West McHenry bank, Bowman Dairy company, Service State bank, and Halperin's restaurant holdups. Commissioner Russell also included the following in his "clean up" list.

Sept. 4—Shooting of Officer Leonard Jagla.

Sept. 17—Raymond C. Bullard, auto thief, captured after fatally wounding Patrolman James O'Brien, while attempting to steal an automobile.

Sept. 18—Billy Ranieri kidnaping case.

Sept. 21—Patrolmen Fogarty and Carroll were wounded in a gun battle with James Pecora, an ex-convict, and Leo Liakos, a gunman, at the Turkish Village, 609 N. Clark street, at which time James Pecora was killed. Leo Liakos, who wounded these officers, was captured in his apartment eight days later.

Sept. 24—Police under command of Commissioner Stege cleaned up 106 crimes by raids made during the night.

Sept. 25—Case of Charles Stanley, who admitted implication in more than 100 robberies committed in Chicago during last few weeks and who was identified as the slayer of Capt. Charles Arman of Lafayette, Ind., who was killed by five men on Nov. 1, 1927, after they robbed a bank.

Oct. 1—Ten men were arrested in raids on reputed rendezvous of George Moran's north side gang, as sequel to taxi war.

Oct. 4—Charles Walz and Tony Grecco were convicted of the murder of Patrolman Arthur Esau and punishment fixed at death in the electric chair.

Oct. 16—George Darrow, alias Kostinock, Saltis' henchman, shot to death by Patrolman Thomas Curtin at whom he fired four times with a shotgun, when Curtin discovered him in a saloon at 7338 S. Racine avenue threatening nine patrons and the owner while demanding to know where the latter procured his beer supply.

Oct. 16—The arrest of John Kulka, Casimer Flandeski, Peter Spila, Edward Pescal and Frank Berendt, youths ranging in ages from 17 to 22, by officers of the Deering street station. They confessed committing approximately 114 robberies over a period of two and one-half years.

Oct. 31—Lieut. John Kelly killed Hyman Greenberg in an attempted holdup in a restaurant at 1417 S. Morgan street.

Nov. 26—Patrolman George Schaefer, on duty only three months, in a restaurant holdup, killed the bandit, Walter Zajac, who was on probation at the time on a larceny charge.

Nov. 28 — Patrolman John Murphy, traveling beat, suspected a stickup at the Lambrecht Creamery company, 10 E. 70th street. Upon entering, three bandits opened fire on him. Murphy leaped behind a desk and shot it out with them, wounding one, and frustrating the robbery of the company's pay roll amounting to $10,000.

Dec. 6—Thomas Stevens, positively identified as one of the bandits who seized $4,900 of the Pearson hotel pay roll, was shot to death in a gun battle with Patrolman Simon Kennedy in a rooming house at 1130 N. La Salle street, where the policeman lay in wait for his appearance. His pal, Charles Ward, was also captured.

Dec. 8—Patrolman Michael Lynch was slain in a tea store at 458 E. 7th street by Henry Dixon, colored holdup man, who confessed this murder and who also confessed the murders of Peter Casprich in a drug store at 5759 S. State street and William Pimm in a drug store at 1255 Miller street, and twenty one robberies.

Jail Holds 1,285 for Trial.

Commissioner Russell said increased police activity is evidenced by the fact that 1,285 prisoners are in the county jail awaiting trial, and 2,096 prisoners are in the house of correction. Awaiting disposition by Criminal court judges are 1,036 cases. The boys' employment bureau received 18,325 applications for jobs, and placed 14,624 boys in jobs.

"It is regretted to state that 13 police officers sacrificed their lives in the performance of police duty," Commissioner Russell wrote, "but to offset this, 51 persons were shot and killed by police officers during the act of committing crimes."

"In addition," Commissioner Russell reported, "we have guarded most of the pay rolls of Chicago and have prevented perhaps hundreds of pay roll robberies. Every captain made a survey of his district and learned the pay days of the factories, shops, and stores where there was danger. We had policemen on guard and we [illegible] many thousands of dollars by preventive police work. We believe we have practically eliminated the pay day holdups in Chicago.

"The number of crimes reported is much less than in former days. While we are handicapped by having an insufficient number of policemen, we have striven to give the city as full a measure of protection as possible."

PROMETHEAN AMERICA.

Prometheus was not a spiritual man. The friendly Titan stealing fire from the throne of Jove for mankind's benefit had not the inner fire that is called the spirit. He found no serenity as he lay bound for punishment on Mount Caucasus with an eagle tearing at his liver, nor could he lie indifferent to pain and bitterness and to the long wrestlings of life with outer things. The hills shook with his struggle. And the fire that he gave to man burned on through human life with an increasing power.

Prometheus was not a spiritual man. He was a good man. He was hopeful and courageous, but the boyish reach of the great Titan for fire and construction, for building blocks of a new civilization, for action and dynamic consequence were not the spiritual tests that more authentic saints usually demand. He was restless and outgoing. He burned with stormy fire.

Pometheus had faith in outer things and action, and no inner disillusion tortured him. He believed in man, his protégé, and in man's hopes and aspirations, and even through the torture of the Caucasus he suffered only simple anguish and pain of a Titan bound. No doubt wounded him. No poignant question, for his deed was done, and though he suffered for it, his democratic confidence in man held through the long years till a strong man came to set him free.

When the world that he saw sliding down from the snowy slopes of Caucasus seemed to repeat only an endless formula of strife and failure, building and decay, he held his simple faith. There was no other. He still believed in man and in the outright values of his living. For him no refuge offered in the spirit's inner realm. He was the builder. He worked with time and fire. In the rocks and workings of this world Prometheus believed.

Spirituality, says Santayana, is the disintoxication from values, and the spiritual life is a high indifference to the heats and tryings, the values and desires that drive men on. But Prometheus would never understand the subtle Santayana, for devotion, not indifference, moved his Titanic soul. He was aroused with values and the stormy livings of the world. His life was welded fast to nature, and to choose remoteness and the serene "life of reason" detached from nature's unavailing toil and shifting would have been death to him. Death is indifference. Life may be failure, work, enslavement to desire, bound on Mount Caucasus, but always life is movement on a way that would seem forward, and new devotion.

His was a boyish love, still undefeated under the beak of Jove's cruel bird, and the boy's belief in action and achievement never grew old. It was inarticulate and active, fresh in its faith in time and nature's movement, sure in its drive that needs no words nor rationalizations, no criticism, no turning inward to a verbal substitution for an overt world. No literature expressed the push and throb of living. No logic could defend the thrust and inconsistency of man's and nature's deeds. His was a generous world of action, and love, for him, was found in concrete things, in men, in doing.

Weak in words and such expression, Prometheus was great in his devotion. Weak in the finer arts and in the conscious subtleties of spirit, he made his love in action. Through life and mighty action was his love, and through his world a spirituality was diffused that philosophers and saints but rarely recognize. He was American.

Fire and iron and stark towers where men may labor: this is no Delphic grove where fair gods wait. America grows from the new soil with Promethean strength, and in the labor of the western continent and the confidence in man a Promethean friendliness sometimes may be found.

"All is love of achievement, nothing is unkindness," says Santayana of the Americans; "it is a fearless people, and free from malice, as you might see in their eyes and gestures, even if their conduct did not prove it. . . . In the classical and romantic tradition of Europe, love, of which there was very little, was supposed to be kindled by beauty, of which there was a great deal: perhaps moral chemistry may be able to reverse this operation, and in the future and in America it may breed beauty out of love."

Jove and Apollo, Venus and Minerva belong to an eastern hemisphere despite our importations, but Prometheus was the first American. Taller and taller in this western world burns the Promethean fire.

DISTRIBUTIVE TRANSPORTATION.

From private railroads to the public highway traveling Americans have turned in recent years, and first class railroads that carried 1,232,846,000 passengers in 1920 carried in 1927 only 839,010,000 passengers. This is one-third reduction. The small car and the motor bus are the main agencies in this transition. With 90,000 buses in 1928, compared with 15,000 in 1920, and with rates in general lower on the bus lines, the trend no doubt will continue.

The bus and the private motor car are distributive [illegible] transportation that will affect increasingly our social life and economic development. They will aid in the regional growth of cities and of industry. They will be factors in a wider spread of man's residence over the countryside. Distributive transportation will further distributive living. The congestions of the city by its means may be somewhat dispersed.

Of school buses in this country there were 39,000 in 1928. They are a sign of the new times, when families may live deep in the country and still enjoy urban advantages. The union of the city and the country, till now unknown in history, will be advanced by wide highways and the use of motor transportation.

For the long haul the railroads no doubt will remain the better. Wise railroads now use buses for their feeders. A flexible and distributive transportation slowly is developing in key with the shift of cities and the growth of new ideas.

TODAY IS CHRISTMAS.

Above the forest of the year Christmas day stands like a great tree over all the rest. It finds the open sun above the shadows and the shrubbery of time, and light burns on its upper branches with a clean radiance. In the rhythm of the year, that beats with unheard throbbing through the world, Christmas is the climax. It surges up into the sun and pauses for a high moment there.

Christmas today is a more secular occasion for well wishing than a holy day of chants and ritual. Its spirit is within; its works are among the homes of men; and though the spirit may be more anonymous than it was five hundred years ago, few would believe it now less Christian. Diffused through life, buried in the simple deeds of living, the Christmas spirit may well be more at home than in more formal exercise.

Christmas today has been domesticated. It is domestic and industrial. But the boy born in a manger 1,900 years ago probably would prefer his birthday thus to the tall forms and weavings of officialdom. His was a simple soul, and a birthday in the heart and in the home meant more to Him than deep ceremony.

IMMER SCHLANKHEIT.

Curved and slightly plumper women may be seen once more upon this continent, and though their plumpness may be rare, and then not noticeable, it bears the signs of a deliberate convexity. With Flo Ziegfeld, on the one hand, and General Motors, on the other, pulling for fuller lines, the shapes of girls and Buicks both show some development. Lines, say the experts, are slightly changing.

It is inevitable. The lean line could not endure in a changing world, and with the subtle change in format reaching all the way from presidents to motor cars and to the Ziegfeld Follies, the course of plumpness over our feminine population surely is outward bound. Those promoters of plumpness in this country, the salesmen of wheat products, candy, sirups, and of motor cars, all will rejoice.

But the change will not be great. Only a slight recession from the radical leanness of the past may be expected. American girls have French temperaments; but they will retain their English figures. A new synthesis and a new beauty has been created. With their French temperaments and their English figures, American girls are still American. And only America can produce them.

WARMER GIRLS FOR COLDER CITIES.

Girls at higher temperatures marry sooner, if figures dug out with commendable industry by the University of Wisconsin may be taken as indicative. In southern cities, where girls no doubt are kept a little warmer, there are more married women, whereas the cities of the bleak and frigid north have many misses. At mean temperatures of 59 to 69 degrees Fahrenheit girls remain only 27 per cent unmarried, while at temperatures of 45 to 48 degrees they remain 33 per cent unmarried. Though the temperatures mentioned in the Wisconsin report apply, of course, to the cities' climate, they would appear to be in direct ratio to the emotional climate of the respective girls.

That the men are not so hot in the northern cities may be another cause of the unmarried status of the north. The customs of the region also affect the issue. The northern girl with more of a tradition of independence goes out to work, when she doesn't care to marry, and lets the men go chase themselves. Other factors enter. But behind it all is higher temperature. The warm girl—if not too warm—from the land of orange blossoms will more likely marry than the steam heated girl of the frigid north.

Editorial of the Day

THE PUBLIC SERVICE NEWSPAPERS DO.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Newspapers, even the best of them, sin their sins, for they are human institutions; but they also perform their services to society, and those services frequently are of great value.

For example, the progressive decline in power, prestige and prospects from which Mayor William Hale Thompson and his lieutenants and cohorts are suffering in Chicago, is, in large part, a direct result of the grim and courageous fight THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE put up against the régime for more than seven years. That fight was full of difficulties, discouragements and drawbacks. It was an extremely expensive fight, because THE TRIBUNE was battling a wealthy, bold and firmly entrenched organization; and the newspaper knew very well that its sole possible rewards would be a better, cleaner city and a consciousness of public duty done. But it hung on in face of bitter counter attacks, threats, abuse and widespread unpopularity among those who stood to lose by its activities and among those who misunderstood its object and motives.

It is extremely lucky for Chicago that THE TRIBUNE did "stick." Millions of dollars have been restored to the taxpayers and other millions have been saved from dissipation. And though the city is by no means in a model condition, at least its people know how they have been used, and where they stand, and have a chance to rehabilitate their municipality and make it what it ought to be.

Again one of the great benefactors of Kansas City, possibly the biggest single factor in the work of laying foundations for the magnificent upbuilding of that town, has been the Kansas City Star.

There are newspapers that are cheap and lurid, and that deliberately stoop to reprehensible practices, but they are not typical of real American journalism. They are excrescences. And it is an unfortunate and unblessed city which does not have at least one journal with character and conscience which stands against incompetence, carelessness, waste and dishonesty in public places and wars for the things it believes are for the betterment of the community and its people.

Officials fear a newspaper that has honesty and nerve and dares to fight, and is not afraid of a little temporary unpopularity and opposition, and even loss, more than they fear the courts. Whether the public knows it or not, they know that such a journal, with its staff of men with highly trained powers of observation and investigation, is an extremely dangerous foe of incompetence and crookedness and must be reckoned with every minute.

IMPROVEMENT OF HEALTH IN YOUNG PEOPLE.

COACH WARNER gives the climate of the Pacific slope some part of the credit for the outstanding superiority of their university football team in 1928. Incidentally, those teams have not been boobs in other years.

For one thing, he thinks they grow winter and summer, night and day, whereas, according to the theory, the young people of other regions grow somewhat intermittently.

A professor at the university is responsible for the statement that California girls are changing in form and size from decade to decade. They are growing taller and narrower. These observations were based on somewhat extensive measurements.

In May, 1927, I saw several hundred Leland Stanford university students, boys and girls, in bathing suits at the lake on the campus. While no measurements were made, I thought the group the best, as physical specimens, that I had ever seen.

However, there is some evidence that the younger generation all over America are finer specimens than their predecessors. Nor is the trend limited to North America. A London letter to the Journal of the American Medical Association quotes F. G. Parsons, anatomist, of London university, as saying that London young men and young women are healthier, cleaner and better nourished than were their parents in the days of their youth. As the result of fairly extensive measurements, he says the average height of London young women has increased two inches in the last twenty years. The average height of the London young man has also increased, though not at the same rate. The improvement includes "splendid health and fine physique" as well as increase in height. He pronounces these young men and women as the finest human specimens in Europe.

The Germans claim that the improvement in their young people is even greater than that of young Britons.

EXERCISE IN PREGNANCY.

Mrs. G. L. R. writes: 1. Are bending back and stretching exercises harmful during pregnancy?

2. Lifting heavy articles?

3. What foods and beverages should be avoided?

REPLY.

1. Such exercises could be carried out in such a way as to be harmful. On the other hand, they could be made helpful.

2. The same answer applies. Pregnant women need to do some work and to take some exercise. At the same time, such work and exercise, if improperly done, may do harm.

3. If a pregnant woman is not gaining in weight unduly, if her blood pressure is normal, and there is no evidence of acidosis, or of acute Bright's disease, she should eat ordinary plain, wholesome foods in the ordinary amounts, and drink the beverages to which she is accustomed. If she begins to fatten up, or to run a very high blood pressure, to have albumin in her urine, or to have acidosis, she should go on a diet suited to her abnormality.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

ESTATE IN TWO STATES.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Mr. A., a bachelor, is accidentally killed, leaving no will. He owned a lucrative business in Wisconsin, where he resided, and another of the same kind in Illinois, and also had real estate in both states. He did not own the buildings in which he did business. A brother of the deceased buys the business in Wisconsin, also the stock and supplies in Illinois. This brother is temporary administrator. Is it lawful for him to buy the business before the estate is settled? Deceased left father and mother and brother.

Do the separate businesses have to be settled according to the laws of each state or can they be put together? Who are the heirs to this property?

B. R. H.

He probably would not do it without a court order. If he secures a court order, it is probable the facts justify the order. 2. It is common to have the principal probate in the state in which the deceased resided at the time of his death and subordinate proceedings in states in which he leaves assets.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DEFECTIVE PAVEMENT.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—[Friend of the People.]—The streets between Crawford on the west, Lawndale on the east, Montrose on the south, and Lawrence avenue on the north, running north and south, are in a bad condition, mostly on account of the Commonwealth Edison company tearing them up to put in conduit piping, and not repairing them in a substantial way.

O. R. G.

The vehicle tax and restoration forces of this bureau have been instructed to repair all defective pavements within the territory mentioned at an early date.

THOMAS H. BYRNE,
Superintendent of Streets.

NO LIGHTS.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been told that you have published that landlords can get by without leaving lights burn in halls at night. I should like to know if this is true, and if it is the law.

M. D.

In 283 Ill., 271, 275, the Supreme court held an ordinance requiring light invalid on the ground that the city has only delegated powers which do not include this subject matter. It is the general rule that in absence of such an ordinance or statute the landlord is under no legal obligation to furnish light [36 C. J. 36 and 214].

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WON'T PAY HONEST DEBT.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1927 my husband borrowed $25 of a man where he works. He paid back ten of this amount and then the man went to Canada and died shortly after. His sister-in-law wrote us a letter asking for the balance of the money, saying if we did not pay it she would take proceedings against my husband's wages. Could she make us pay?

MRS. R.

Apparently she is in a position to collect the balance by appropriate legal proceedings but such would not be worth while on so small a claim.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

R.H.L.

MERRY CHRISTMAS to you every one—all you readers of the Line and every last Contrib. We hope your Christmas stockings were full to overflowing—and that you have health—and a reasonable supply of money—and happiness—and all that. And as Tiny Tim said—and also at Christmas—God bless us every one.

THE CHRIST.

The virgin birth, the star that strangely led
The Wise Men to the manger—these may be
But legend, folklore; still the mystery
Remains, though nineteen centuries have fled,
The miracle, though He Himself be dead,
That turns the water of man's frailty
To wine of faith, that makes the blind to see
And gives the widows and the orphans bread.

Nor signs that came within the Wise Men's ken.
I only know He vouchsafed peace on earth,
I only know He gave good will to men;
Made burdens lighter for the cross He bore,

EOLUS.

We Might Name 'Em Java and Mocha.

Two Javanese sparrows were delivered to us yesterday. And, why not? We bought them and we're keeping them for Christmas morning to give them to a friend who thinks she adores Javanese sparrows. Poor darling, where in the world did she get that idea? Five times inside of one hour did those insane Javanese sparrows escape from their cage. They flew swifter than light and bumped their heads against the windows, almost got through keyholes, threatened suicide under the radiator and in the coffee pot, and caused heart failure generally. A cage is nothing in their young lives; whenever they feel like it they go right through the bars. But there's no accounting for tastes—she said she wanted a pair of Javanese sparrows. We're going to put the cage in a hat box and the hat box in a trunk and see if we can get them over to their future owner this morning. They are real Javanese sparrows from the beautiful land of Java, and so we have given them Javanese names—Mike and Ike. Of course, that isn't quite right, for one of them is a lady. But if you can tell which is Mike and which is Ike, we'll buy you another pair.

MR. MUSSOLINI now holds seven positions in his own cabinet. Just at present he is busy getting up and slamming the door on himself as he seeks to grab a couple more cabinet jobs.

MARY GARDEN says she fears men are superior to women. Add Boloney. Mary is just handing the poor things something to make 'em happy over Christmas.

You Would, Anyhow.

RHL: Lissen, Richard, this being the well known season of "good will toward men," etc., I want you to help me out. A friend sent me a quart for Christmas. Now, I want to start the New Year right by being a good and true citizen. Should I turn in his name to the authorities? I do not wish to begin 1929 by aiding and abetting lawlessness; furthermore, if I accept this gift without a protest, he may do the same thing again next Christmas, and before I knew it I would be making a habitual criminal out of him. What shall I do?

JABBO OF OLD DUBUQUE.

People Swallow Anything Nowadays.

Scientists are experimenting with a camera in the hospital at Sing Sing prison that can be swallowed, and when it is hauled in shows a picture of the patient's stomach. Which reminds us of Bill Nye's dog that ate everything he found. He ate up a lot of plaster paris one day and then drank copiously afterwards. And for years Bill had for a paper weight on his desk a rocklike lump labeled, "Interior View of Fido's Stomach—Taken By Himself."

He's (Or She's or It's) Gotta Telescope.

RHL: I gotta telescope but tha stars aint much. Jed Johnsons windmill is fine only it's upside down. In tha daytime everything is upside down. Orion's gotta nebulea that looks like a pie with one cut gone and yesterday afternoon I saw Johnsons hired girl kiss old man Johnson by the corn crib only it was upside down. Aldeberon is a swell star. Aldeberon is in Taurus and Missus Peachblossom who lives on tha hill took off a run of beer last week. Sirius is about as big as Canepus I guess but Canopus is I dont know how many light years away and Johnsons is on tha next forty. Old man Johnson keeps a bottle of something by tha tool house only its upside down. You cant see tha annual nebulea now because I was out all afternoon lookin at a picnic by tha river but that was all upside down and pretty tame fer a picnic by tha river. I think Spica is in Leo and tha folks that just moved onto tha old Highpocket farm had a fight because tha man come outa tha house and shook his fist at tha back door. I got some books about stars and they tell everything. Uranus is millions and millions of miles away and I know all about it but what gets me is what those newcomers had a fight about.

ORACLE.

Nobody Works on Christmas.

In accordance with the usual custom and owing to an outbreak of Christmas in its most aggravated form, the Line editor will abstain from work in any form today, and there will be no issue of the Line o' Type or Two tomorrow morning. You'll be coming down town, back to the grind again, and so done in and sleepy you won't miss it anyhow.

ONE of old Doc Evans' contribs yesterday asked, "If a mother smokes, will it affect a nursing baby?" Doc said he didn't think so, nor do we, but she oughtn't to scratch matches on the baby.

REPORTS from Arizona last night said that well armed lynching parties were patrolling the state last night hunting for an old fat man with long white whiskers and driving a team of reindeers. With a certainty that California is going to wake up this morning and find Boulder dam in her stocking, Santa Claus' life isn't worth a nickel in Arizona.

THE BEAUTIFUL Christmas trees were all lit up last night. And so many happy people we met here and there around the town—ah, they were all lit, too.

TODAY is the day when papa stays home and plays all forenoon with little Algernon's toy railroad and airplanes, while little Algernon wishes somebody had given him a ball bat with a nail in the end so that he could bash papa one on the coco.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

MERRY CHRISTMAS
Copyright, 1928, by The Chicago Tribune.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 25, 1863.

PHILADELPHIA.—It is understood that the National Conservative union committee, now in session in this city, has reaffirmed the nomination of Maj. Gen. McClellan for President.

EDITORIAL. — "Can the sea give up its dead?" Let no one ask or marvel more. Here is the defunct grave digger of the Chickahominy turning up again, and now formally as the candidate of the National Conservatives, we believe they call themselves. "Would a duck swim?" And will he not come at such bidding? Of course there will be a letter from Little Mac gracefully offering to take the lead of that army. When we sadly remember that nothing under his leadership ever came to anything but grief, we look upon it as a Conservative order for a coffin; a dismal fate bespoken; drawing on grim death at sight. These Conservatives met thirteen strong at Rochester some months ago, succeeded more recently in doubling that number at Cincinnati, and now at Philadelphia, in some upper room at the Continental, have made a nomination. The half feathered chick has crept out of its shell in the midst of winter. Long before the other brood of presidential candidates are brought out the stick-in-the-mud chieftain will have passed out of sight.

CHICAGO.—Lieut. Col. Elijah Watts of the 2d Kentucky cavalry and Miss Lucy Waggoner were married by the Rev. Dr. M. Eddy on Dec. 24.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 25, 1898.

NEW YORK.—Almost simultaneously with the return of the United States peace commissioners from Paris there arrived here the official representative of the Filipinos, Aguinaldo's personal agent, F. Agoncillo, accompanied by his interpreter, Lopez. Agoncillo said he had accomplished everything in Paris during the treaty sessions he had been sent by Aguinaldo to do. He declared the Filipinos do not want any protectorate and will stand firmly for independence.

MANILA.—The insurgent congress at Malolos on Dec. 21 unanimously adopted the Philippine constitution which had been under discussion for weeks. Aguinaldo and his cabinet had fully approved it.

CHICAGO.—Matthew C. McEwan, 444 Chestnut street, was given a Christmas surprise party. Fifty or more of his young friends went to his home and were children for the night. Mrs. Arthur Caton was one of the few who did not try to imitate children's garb. She came as an old woman and acted as governess to the youngsters. Miss Bertha and Miss Frances Diblee were Kate Greenaway girls. J. G. Watson was the nursery ideal of Little Boy Blue. Lee Jones was Little Lord Fauntleroy. Miss Mary Griggsby McCormick was dressed as a baby. Among the other guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Harlan, Mrs. R. W. Patterson, Mrs. Robert S. McCormick, Frederick Keep, Eames MacVeagh, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Keith, Frank Marsh, and Victor Elting.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 25, 1918.

PARIS.—President Wilson left Paris for a week's trip which takes him to American army headquarters at Chaumont and to England. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, Rear Admiral Grayson, and a small party. He will reach Chaumont Christmas morning. He will take Christmas dinner with the men at their mess and review 10,000 American soldiers. The President sent to the American people a Christmas message promising them a world league and a just peace.

LONDON.—A royal welcome awaits President Wilson on his arrival in England. He will cross the channel on the steamer Brighton, escorted half way across by four French destroyers and the remaining half by a British flotilla leader and six destroyers.

CHICAGO.—Four robbers held up Mose Iralson, diamond broker, in his office in the Chicago Savings Bank building, Madison and State streets, and escaped with $100,000 worth of diamonds. The robbery took place within calling distance of thousands of Christmas shoppers.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

IF BEN FRANKLIN HAD AN AUTO.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 20.—While driving along the outer drive in Chicago south of Twenty-third street the other day there was a strong wind blowing from the northwest and it seemed as if Chicago were being blown into the lake in the form of great sand drifts. Suddenly a blue flame flashed at the lower left hand corner of the windshield—then two more in quick succession. Was I being shot at? I thought so. But there were no holes. Then I thought it might be a short circuit in the spot light wires but there was no such wire.

Now I think I have solved the thing. It must have been caused by the friction of the sand blowing against the car and setting up a charge of electricity which found the windshield a convenient condenser. When the load became too great the blue sparks appeared.

RALPH H. MCANULTY.

A BENT DIME.

Cicero, Ill., Dec. 20.—I was filled with the Christmas spirit so much that I had but one dime left after making my last purchase, which of course I needed to pay my fare home. But the lady at the pay booth said she could not or would not accept the dime as it was bent a little. I offered to leave any or all of my packages with her until I could get home and back with a good one, but she would not listen. Nothing was left for me to do but cry, and even that did not move her, but many thanks to one kind lady in that big crowd for paying my fare, much to the displeasure of the lady in the pay booth, for she attempted to collect another extra fare from her for coming back to pay mine.

MISS ANNA CEROVSKA.

CHEAP AND CLASSIC.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Mr. W. J. Smith deserves commendation for his letter in the Voice of the People, wherein he made a good criticism of some theatrical managements for raising the admission prices to the point that it is impossible for the masses to patronize certain theaters.

In Boston, where I was two years ago, I frequently patronized the Repertory theater, where I was able to attend the presentation of plays of some of the world's greatest dramatists, like Shakespeare, Ibsen, Shaw, Barrie, etc., for only fifty cents. Obviously, as Mr. Smith remarked, the patronage of certain theaters is restricted to only the privileged class.

Chicago loudly boasts of being a progressive city. Let us have then a repertory theater like that at Boston, where any lover of good drama may be able to attend.

THEODORE N. CONSTANT.

STREET CARS IN WINTER.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Why in the world are people complaining about the heat in the street cars?

I ride the cars four times every day, and the time has yet to come when I complain of the cold.

It seems to me that the people who complain of the cold in street cars are these frozen turnips who, as soon as they get home, park a chair before the stove and put their feet in the oven.

A. KADIC.

TRANSPORTATION FOR PROFIT.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—It is suggested the railroads offer holiday excursion rates. To authorize a special rate the carriers must increase their business by over fifty per cent before they can begin to show a profit on the transaction. If, therefore, previous investigation or past experience shows that this additional amount of traffic cannot be secured, as is the case with holiday fares, it would not be considered good business policy to make a concession, which in such case would mean an actual loss of revenue.

It may not be amiss at this time to call attention to the fact that passenger earnings have shown a progressive decrease since 1920. The carriers, therefore, must of necessity conserve their revenue in every direction, and when reductions are made it must be reasonably certain that they will result in stimulating traffic to the extent of showing a profit.

Classing a retail dealer in merchandise with that of a railroad, which is really a dealer in transportation, the public cheerfully pay the amount asked for an article around Christmas time, knowing fully at the outset that the article is at an inflated price—but when people come to buy transportation during the holidays they want a reduction in a fare that is substantially the same all winter.

Why should the railroads reduce their rates when they cannot get a sufficient amount of additional traffic to offset the reduction?

STANLEY N. HEDIN.

BUSINESS AND CHARITY.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—I want to go a step or two farther than your correspondent who thinks it would be a "convenience to the public" for the railroads to give cheap excursion rates at their busy times, instead of just at slack times to stimulate passenger earnings. It would be a convenience to me, also, if the stores would have clearance sales in November and early December instead of February; and if the furriers would have sales in October instead of July; and if grocers would give away their stocks of Christmas trees the two weeks before Christmas, instead of the week after, etc.

But unfortunately that isn't the way business succeeds. Perhaps your correspondent is confusing business with pure charity.

F. LOCKETT.

MAYOR THOMPSON CUTS A RIBBON.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Mayor Thompson went out and with his own hand cut a ribbon across a bridge. It is the only real thing he has done for Chicago since he took office.

ERNEST FOSS.

MEASURING LIFE.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Let's hear from some of your people in Michigan who are against life imprisonment for violating the liquor law. Life imprisonment means just that, live and die in prison. How would you like to have such a sentence passed upon you? Put yourself in Mrs. Miller's place. Deal out justice, not hatred and murder. That is just what it is—murder. Remember, life in prison is death in prison.

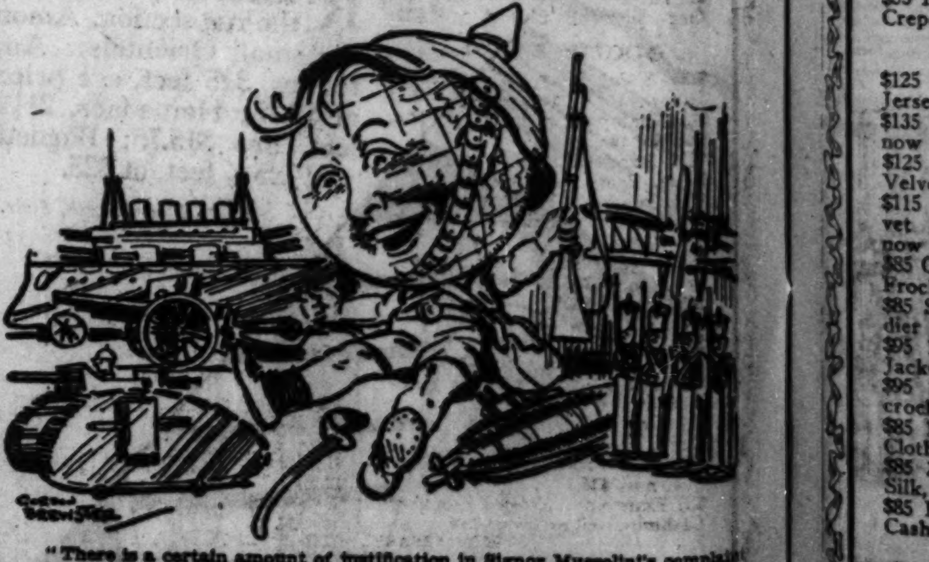
BABY WORLD'S DANGEROUS TOYS

[Irish Weekly Independent, Dublin.]



"There is a certain amount of justification in Signor Mussolini's complaint that 'in spite of the sublime Kellogg pact the whole world, not excluding the country of the aforesaid Mr. Kellogg, goes on arming.'"

CHICAGO HEAPS HOLIDAY CHEER UPON ITS POOR

Whole City Throbs with Spirit of Giving.

The holiday spirit of comradeship and good will had Chicago securely in its clutches yesterday, and nowhere was it more clearly exemplified than at the various stations over the city where Christmas dinners and gifts were distributed to the poor.

All charity organizations, most business centers, clubs, and many big hearted individuals are taking part in this widespread distribution of food, clothing, and toys, which began early yesterday morning and is scheduled to continue throughout all of today.

A thousand half bushel baskets of foodstuffs, contributed by Municipal Judge Matthew D. Hartigan and business men of the Maxwell street police district were distributed at the courtroom yesterday afternoon. Christmas baskets were delivered to needy families in the morning by 21 young women from the Chicago and North Western Railway Women's club rooms.

Judge Gives 1,000 Baskets.

Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen gave away 1,000 Christmas baskets to the poor who called at the Town Hall court yesterday. Funds for the Town Hall baskets were raised by the Christmas Cheer club of which Judge Immenhausen is president.

Five hundred baskets of foodstuffs and toys were given to poor colored families of the Pekin police district by Judge Charles F. McKinley at the Pekin court.

Aldermen Are Active.

Mrs. John S. Clark supervised the packing and distribution of 700 baskets for the poor of the Thirtieth ward yesterday and Sunday, while her husband was occupied as chairman of the council finance committee. Ald. Stanley Adamkiewicz passed out 200 baskets to the poor of the Thirty-first ward yesterday. Ald. Leonard Grossman of the Fifth ward was Santa to 1,500 children yesterday at three different places in his ward; Ald. Jacob M. Arvey will distribute food and money to poor Jews at 4613 Roosevelt road at 9 o'clock this morning, and Ald. William H. Feigenbutz of the Forty-fifth ward, through a club he organized, yesterday distributed several hundred baskets.

Ald. James B. Bowler of the Twenty-fifth ward; Ald. John Toman of the Twenty-third, and William E. Finucane of the Twelfth ward, member of the board of local improvement, each took charge of caring for the needy families in their wards. Gotthard A. Dahlbert, ward committeeman of the Ninth ward, yesterday played Santa Claus to 200 families.

Legion Post Aids Needy.

Members of the advertising men's post of the American Legion were entertained by the Post Glee club and orchestra for their Christmas luncheon held yesterday at the Hotel Sherman. The post will deliver baskets of Christmas cheer to the needy families of 30 ex-service men today, and is coöperating with the state service bureau of the Cook county council, in supplying baskets to 150 deserving families. The Maywood post of the Legion coöperated with the Maywood recreation bureau in a civic Christmas celebration at 5 o'clock last night, and provided dinners for every needy family in the town.

The north shore yesterday prepared to celebrate Christmas with old carols and festivals on the village greens where huge Christmas trees have been placed. Only Evanston will not take part because of the influenza scare.

Several truck loads of supplies for Christmas dinners will be apportioned among poor families today by employés of the south park district. The Hyde Park Lions club has invited needy children in its vicinity to a party Saturday afternoon at the Cooper-Carlton. This morning a group of 20 Camp Fire girls will sing carols at the Cooper-Carlton hotel.

Paddy Harmon Entertains 15,000.

The big Christmas party for poor youngsters was the one given at Dreamland yesterday by Paddy Harmon, noted sports promoter. Paddy entertains the kids every year, but the affair yesterday is said to have surpassed all his previous ones. Fifteen thousand youngsters were entertained by orchestras, clowns, acrobats, fairies, and Santa Claus, who gave away freely his toys, nuts, fruits, and candy for each person present. In addition to the party at Dreamland, Harmon distributed Christmas toys to the inmates of several children's institutions.

The largest Christmas dinner today has been prepared by Anton J. Cermak, president of the Cook county board, for 15,000 "down and outers." The food will be plain, according to Cermak, but there will be plenty of it. Men will be served at Franklin and Madison streets; at the Emanuel Baptist church, 2310 South Michigan avenue; at the Holy Cross mission, Randolph and Des Plaines streets, and at Cathedral shelter, 850 West Washington street.

One hundred and fifty homeless men were the guests at the Gospel Loop Church mission, 12 West Lake street, for a Christmas eve dinner last night.

Churches Greet Holiday.

Chiming bells and the caroling of choirs ushered in Christmas at midnight in churches throughout the city. With few exceptions, Episcopal parishes held their main service at 11:30 last night. The music of the midnight service at the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, was sung by the Oriental Consistory choir. At the Church of the Redeemer the combined parish choirs gave portions of the Messiah. Bishop Charles P. Anderson will deliver his Christmas sermon at St. James' cathedral, Cass and Huron streets, at 11 o'clock this morning.

Roman Catholic churches have prepared colorful ceremonials for today in addition to midnight services held last night. Pageants or cantatas will be given today by choirs and church members at the Ravenswood Methodist church, 4511 North Hermitage; the Messiah Evangelical church, School street at Seminary avenue; the Edgewater Presbyterian church, 1020 Bryn Mawr avenue at Kenmore; and the Waveland Avenue Congregational church, Waveland and Janssen avenues.

2 MORE U. S. LINES CUT FARES TO HAVANA IN RATE WAR ON CUNARD

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Two more steamship lines in the New York-Havana trade—the United Fruit and the Munson lines—announced today that they would reduce the passenger rates on their ships 25 per cent to conform to the rates which the Ward line has established in its fight to drive the British Cunard line from the Havana field.

The Cunard line announced, after a conference attended by Sir T. Ashley Sparkes, American director, that the action of the Ward line would have no effect on the rates of the steamship Caronia, which has been taken from the trans-Atlantic service and assigned to the Havana run for the winter months.

Here's Easy Way to Fix Wedding Date in Mind

County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer yesterday issued 189 marriage licenses, almost all of them to couples intending to be married on Christmas eve. "It's the best possible wedding date," Mr. Sweitzer commented. "Men my age know how difficult it is to remember a wedding anniversary and, furthermore, there's economy in combining a Christmas and an anniversary gift."

Daughter of Curies to Use Trust Fund Like Mother

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Assurance has been given Mme. Marie Curie, co-discoverer of radium, by the American Association of University Women that financial assistance will be provided to continue her scientific research after her death.

Prof. John Erskine of Columbia university was the bearer of the association's message that the organization had decided to endow her daughter, Mme. Irene Curie Joliot, with the income from the trust fund Mme. Curie now enjoys.

The daughter has been associated with Mme. Curie in her research work. The association announced that the gift was made to relieve Mme. Curie's apprehension that the fund would be stopped and her daughter's work curtailed.

WORLD CIRCLED BY SANTA CLAUS; HERE'S HIS STORY

Christmas Celebrated by Many Nations.

College called on Pope Pius this morning in the consistory hall and presented their Christmas greetings.

In reply, the pope accentuated the sad condition of the Catholic faith in Mexico and Russia, where he said piety and faith were proving superior to the persecutions. The pontiff hoped for happier days in these two countries, but said the time has not yet come for raising a hymn of thanksgiving.

Britons Enjoy Celebration.

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Christmas was preceded in London today by a threat of rain, instead of the traditional frost, and for the first time in ten years the royal standard flew over Buckingham palace instead of Sandringham, the royal family's favorite home for the yuletide holidays. Otherwise the season was normal, with the last mad rush of Christmas shopping and with railway terminals jammed by Londoners headed for the county and country folk headed for London.

A giant Christmas tree was placed in the nave of Canterbury cathedral and visitors were invited to place around it gifts of clothing, shoes and provisions for the families of distressed miners.

French Greet Father Noel.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 25.—[1 a. m.]—Paris has this night celebrated the wildest Christmas eve since the pre-war days, despite the fact that the stabilized franc has advanced prices almost ten times what they were in the good old days.

The arrival of a record number of American visitors, together with the decision of a majority of the American colony to remain home instead of passing their yuletide holidays, as heretofore, in the snow covered mountain resorts of Switzerland, were largely responsible for the celebrations.

The majority of the French people greeted Father Noel in their homes, where the traditional feasts and other revelries were held.

2,000 Riot for Yule Trees.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—In a two hour battle 2,000 men and women tried to storm the railroad station of Bernauerstrasse, where two cars of Christmas trees were being unloaded. They were thrown back after police rushed reserves to the battlefield.

In all parts of the town, squads of policemen are out to protect Christmas tree dealers. All day long gangs in the poorer parts of the town organized raids to seize Christmas trees. Dealers who failed to obtain selling licenses and could not ask for police protection, were robbed unmercifully. One of them is dying, in a hospital. He was nearly clubbed to death when he tried to defend the trees—the symbols of Christian love and charity.

Marines in Nicaragua Feted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 24.—Approximately 5,000 officers and United States marines will spend a tropical Christmas in Nicaragua, the majority of them stationed in mountain villages far removed from railroad and commercial centers. However, marine air transport, pack mules and primitive ox carts, have delivered or dropped from the air individual packages for each marine, containing sweets, smokes, and also appropriate supplies for a real Christmas turkey dinner. Through the donation of the American Red Cross, gifts are available for all.

Santa Defeats Communists.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Dec. 24.—Dadu Maroza, Daddy Frost, the Russian alias for Santa Claus—won his annual battle with the communists. Christmas in Russia is being celebrated as usual, although Christmas dinner in the homes of Russian city dwellers will be a scanty affair, the chief holiday dish being a bowl of barley grits which is served with bacon cut into tiny squares and fried crisp.

American Christmas stockings and German Christmas trees are unknown to Russian children. Crude wooden toys such as dolls, carts, trains, boats and automobiles are hand carved and gaily painted by the peasants and are the only play things obtainable in Russia.

Cuba Gets Christmas Spirit.

HAVANA, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The spirit of Christmas took an unprecedented hold on the Cuban people this year, with the result that many Yuletide functions are being held and nearly every community has its Christmas tree for the poor.

Brazilians Face Torrid Weather.

RIO JANEIRO, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Residents of this last stopping place of President Elect Hoover tonight were promenading along the broad avenues in holiday spirit wearing the lightest of garments and without hats to obtain the cooling benefit of every possible breeze. From early afternoon the cafes were crowded by merry celebrators.

Japanese Observe Day.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 24.—The observance of Christmas is more widespread in Tokio this year than ever before, although devoid of religious significance, except for a few Japanese Christians.

"MA" GREENSTEIN SAVED BY HER OWN CHARITIES

For many years, Christmas eve to Mrs. Lena [Ma] Greenstein, 64 years old, was a time for giving to the poor. In those years she was the prosperous proprietor of a loop lunchroom and handed out sandwiches to the homeless.

Yesterday Mrs. Greenstein was on the receiving end of Christmas giving. She no longer has her lunchroom, no longer is affluent and no longer is able to play Mrs. Santa.

Superior Judge Joseph David, after many continuances of the case to save her from jail, entered a final decree in a habeaus corpus proceedings, finding that she should not be confined for her failure to pay a $15,000 judgment against her, obtained in the spring of 1927 by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Morris Greenstein, in an alienation of affections suit. The judgment had been threatening "Ma" with jail for more than a year.

LAST MINUTE SHOPPERS BREAK FORMER RECORDS

Streets and Store Aisles Filled with Them.

Christmas crowds in the loop yesterday afternoon were the largest in thirty years, according to Frank J. Matchett, captain in charge of the traffic division of the police department. The great swarms of last minute shoppers at some corners on State street made it almost impossible for traffic men to get crowds safely across the street, he said.

"I never have seen so many pedestrian shoppers or so many sight-seers touring the loop in taxicabs or private automobiles," the captain declared. "Prosperity and fine weather combined to bring out a record crowd, one which taxed the energies of our whole traffic department."

Within the stores the traffic was if anything more closely packed than on the streets. In an effort to complete the filling of the Christmas stocking, men, women and children elbowed one another, trod on each other's toes, and dodged ahead of one another in making purchases.

Each Intent on Buying.

"I'm sorry," or "beg your pardon," the usual polite apologies of shoppers, were apparently not in order the day before Christmas. Instead there was a dogged determination to get one's purchase at any price, as far as one's next door shopper was concerned.

At the stocking counter in one large loop department store a line of customers often two deep continued all afternoon.

At closing time the lineup still was fighting mostly in good natured fashion, with money and purchase ready, to be waited on by the overworked saleswomen.

Practically all the loop stores closed at six o'clock, sending into the streets mobs of customers who had failed to complete their shopping list.

Crowds Bundle Laden.

One of the large department stores was unable to turn its belated customers into the street until three quarters of an hour after closing time. At 6:30, when the other stores were closed, shoppers were jamming the aisles entreating clerks to wait on them. At 7 o'clock last night State street appeared to be as full of hurrying bundle-laden shoppers as during the early afternoon.

Third Transfusion Aids Policeman in Life Battle

Following a third blood transfusion yesterday, the condition of Policeman Charles Sherlock of the Sheffield avenue district was reported much improved last night at the Lutheran Memorial hospital. Last May while on duty Sherlock was struck by a speeding car. Apparently recovered, he returned to duty after a few weeks, but recently suffered internal hemorrhages. Policeman Walter Casey gave two pints of blood in transfusions Saturday and Monday, and Policeman Charles Mendenhall another pint yesterday.

Holiday Train Crashes in Australia; 40 Hurt

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 24.—[U. P.]—Forty persons were injured today when a six car train, carrying holiday makers from Melbourne, collided with a freight train at Kowerup station. The sides of five coaches were ripped open and many persons had remarkable escapes. Eighteen of the injured were taken to hospitals.

Prevent Attacks of Colds and "Flu"

USE

NOZOL

To Keep the Nostrils Clear and Healthy

"Spray the nostrils and throat with an oil to keep them lubricant. 'Flu' and grippe germs cannot take hold in membranes that are well lubricated" ... such is the advice being given out by leading health authorities.

And for this purpose all urge the use of a highly effective preparation... NOZOL.

Spray or drop a little Nozol in each nostril and the throat two or three times a day. The antiseptic oils cling to the linings, protecting you against the germs.

Nozol costs but little and you should get a bottle today at your druggist. Take no chances, particularly with the present prevalence of flu.

COOLIDGE LEADS CHRISTMAS EVE JOY AT CAPITAL

Touches Button Lighting Community Tree.

the First Congregational church, which the President attends. Dr. Pierce had dedicated the selection to Mrs. Coolidge.

Tomorrow the presidential party is scheduled to leave by special train for Sapelo island, off the Georgia coast, some time after noon. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge it will include the President's military and naval aids, Col. Osmun Latrobe and Capt. Wilson Brown; Col. James F. Coupal, the White House physician; Mr. Coolidge's stenographer, E. C. Geisser, and a corps of newspaper correspondents and photographers.

Will Sit for Portrait.

Frank O. Salisbury, a British artist, also will accompany the party. He has been commissioned by the New York Genealogical and Biographical society to paint a portrait of the President to be hung in the organization's new home in New York City. Mr. Salisbury recently did a portrait of King George of England. The President will sit for the British painter during his stay in Georgia.

The party expects to reach Brunswick, Ga., Wednesday morning, where Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will be met by their host, Howard E. Coffin. From there they will go by automobile and boat to Sapelo island. No definite time has been set for the return trip.

Exodus of Officials.

This trip, with the prospect of the President and Mrs. Coolidge being away on New Year's day, is believed to be one of the reasons for the large exodus of other government officials from the capital for the holidays.

While it is not certain whether the President and Mrs. Coolidge will return in time for the customary New Year's reception, many in official life who usually are present at the ceremony have left Washington. Included in the group who have returned to their homes to spend Christmas are a number of cabinet officials and many members of the senate and house.

THREE DUNCAN DANCERS MAY BE BARRED BY U. S.

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Three of eleven girl protégées of the late Isadora Duncan who arrived here aboard the liner Caronia for a dancing tour, today faced deportation because they are under the age limit of 16 years.

The three who were held last night on the ship pending transfer to Ellis Island, are Elena, Lilia and Vera, aged 13, 14 and 15. With their eight companions, who were admitted, they were brought from Russia by Miss Isa Duncan, adopted daughter of Isadora, and head of the school Isadora founded in Moscow. All are pupils of the school.

The group plans a six months' tour of the United States.

THOMPSON SEEN AS BIG ISSUE IN COUNCIL ELECTION

Lines Form for Voting in February.

With the aldermanic primary Feb. 26 two months away Chicago's political factions, a preliminary survey reveals, already are beating the tom-toms and whetting their scalping knives preparatory to the bi-annual battle for control of the city council.

Scouts for all the camps agree in their early reports that the signs on the horizon forecast a struggle of more consequence than the usual scattered ward clashes. The paramount issue from South Chicago to Rogers Park, they say, will be the same as that of the 1928 local elections—Shall the Thompson-Crowe-Eller Republicans continue in power?

Test of Thompson Power.

Although they have shut out all the Thompson candidates for state, county, and sanitary district offices, the voters, except on bond issue ballots, have had no direct say so on the conduct of the city hall since Mayor Thompson took it over in April, 1927. The mayor retains his post for two more years, but the council election is looked upon as an effective referendum on his policies.

"On two recent occasions the voters have shown their discontent with the city government," stated the Municipal Voters' league in its latest bulletin. "It needs overhauling.

"The voters cannot get at the mayor, as his term runs to 1931. But they can get at the city council. A cleanup in that body will do a lot of good. Not a dollar of the city's money can be spent without consent of the aldermen. They have power to find out where the money goes, and if they are blocked in doing this they can call for help from the state's attorney and the grand jury."

Endorsed for Reëlection.

The M. V. L. has endorsed for reëlection seven "outstandingly valuable" councilmen out of the 50, all but three or four of whom plan to run for reëlection. Those endorsed are: Guy Guernsey [6th], W. W. Mills [37th], John Chapman [40th], Thomas W. Bowler [41st], Albert E. Loescher [44th], John A. Mason [48th], and E. I. Frankhauser [49th].

In the anti-Thompson revolt is the formation of the new Civic Safety commission headed by Albert R. Brunker. Mr. Brunker is executive secretary and Harry Eugene Kelly chairman of the new organization, the purpose of which is to aid the Municipal Voters' league in making a council housecleaning. The commission, according to Mr. Brunker, is nonpartisan and has no professional reform aspects. It will work with the regular organizations in finding and financing the campaigns of acceptable candidates.

"The situation under Mayor Thompson has been inexpressably bad and we are out to arouse the citizenry to the necessity of a cleanup," declared Mr. Brunker. He added that the commission will set up headquarters at 19 South La Salle street. Among its sponsors are George W. Dixon, Bernard E. Sunny, Harold Ickes, John A. Carroll, Harold F. McCormick, Alfred Decker, Max Epstein, George Lytton, Angus S. Hibbard, Marvin Pool, George A. McKinlock and Taylor Strawn.

Report from Ward Camp.

From the ward camps also comes the word that Thompsonism will be the gage of battle.

A notable demonstration is the 43d ward on the near north side, now represented in the council by Ald. Titus Haffa, a Thompson yes man. Haffa has told his friends that he has decided to withdraw, leaving the field clear for former Ald. Arthur F. Albert, a Deneenite, who fought his a spectacular battle two years ago and yielded his seat only after a bitter election contest. Albert has announced his intention to run again. Albert and Haffa, as newsboys, were close friends, but they split politically at the mayoral election.

One of the most strongly contested wards is expected to be the "Bloody Twentieth," heretofore ruled by Morris Eller. Because he has defied the Eller ring, Ald. A. J. Prignano, a Democrat, will have against him William Pacelli, state representative and an Eller henchman. Prignano has an anti-administration record in the council.

Citizens Take a Hand.

In at least half the other wards independent citizens' groups have sprung up like mushrooms and are sponsoring or seeking candidates in coöperation with the Civic Safety commission and the M. V. L.

A vigorous fight to wrest control of the black belt from the two Thompson aldermen, Louis B. Anderson [2d] and Robert R. Jackson [3d] appears to be in the offing. Attorney Earl Dickerson, a protege of Edward H. Wright, is squared off against Anderson while Nathan S. Taylor and James B. Cashin, both attorneys, are being groomed by the Deneen-Independents to run against Jackson. The presidential election showed defections in the colored voters' ranks which the anti-Thompson forces hope to widen in February.

In the Woodlawn district Ald. Guernsey [6th], Deneen leader of the handful of anti-administration men in the council, expects to have little opposition. His petitions already bear 2,500 names and the dopesters have it that Bernard W. Snow, Thompson ward chieftain, will run nobody against him.

Other wards in which there apparently will be a battle on the Thompson issue are the 14th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 22d, 28th, 33d, 35th, 36th, 45th, 46th, and 47th. In most of these wards either a Thompson Republican or a Democrat who has gone along with the administration will have to defend his seat against an independent candidate.

Two seats in the council now are vacant, those of former Alderman Ross A. Woodhull [7th], elected sanitary district trustee, and former Alderman Donald S. McKinlay [19th], elevated to the Municipal court bench. In the Seventh ward, Burdette J. Smith, head of a law book publishing house, is likely to get independent support while Morgan Fitch, son-in-law of County Assessor Charles Ringer, Thompson ward committeeman, may oppose him.

A whole crop of candidates has arisen to fill McKinlay's shoes. Among those seeking Deneen indorsement is Donald McGilvray, while the Democrats are looking over Robert Rolin, wholesale produce man, and Attorney Cecil Smith, McKinlay's choice. Peter Grady, Democratic ward committeeman, also is said to be in a receptive mood.

Desert "America First."

In and around the city hall, of late, as the election draws near, there has been growing evidence of a desire on the part of administration followers to desert the "America First" bandwagon. The latest indication is the council finance committee's resolve to cut $5,000,000 out of the 1929 corporate fund budget at the peril of administration wrath.

Theoretically none of the aldermen are aligned with a political party and their names appear on the ballot as non-partisans. Actually, however, all of them are definitely in a political faction and, despite their efforts to pose as non-partisans the aldermanic battles almost always are fought out on political issues.

CALL MEETING TO PLAN RELIEF FOR COUNTY'S COURTS

Cook county's need for additional judges to keep the business of the civil and law courts from getting into hopeless chaos will be discussed on Jan. 2 at a meeting called yesterday by Sidney S. Gorham, president of the Chicago Bar association.

The meeting will be attended by the three members of the executive committee of the Circuit court, the three members of the executive committee of the Superior court, Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court, Judge Henry Horner of the Probate court, Chief Justice John J. Sullivan of the Criminal court, the president of the Bar association, Mr. Gorham, and the two vice presidents and other members of the Bar association.

Plan Coöperation with Courts.

The committee was formed some time ago to provide a closer coöperation between the active heads of the various courts of the county and the officials and members of the Chicago Bar association.

Chief Justice Sullivan, State's Attorney John A. Swanson, and Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission, have urged that more judges be assigned permanently to the Criminal court, so that criminals might meet justice speedily and certainly meted out.

With the legislature opening next month these officials have recommended that a bill be passed increasing the number of judges elected in Cook county. Under the constitution, which regulates the number of judges according to increases in population, Cook county is entitled to more than seventy judges. At present there are but forty-eight in the Circuit and Superior courts.

Gorham Tells Position.

Mr. Gorham, in calling the meeting of the special committee, stated that if an examination of the dockets of the courts discloses they are not keeping up with cases filed, and if prompt administration of law is prevented by too small a force of judges, then the legislature should increase the personnel of the bench to provide a sufficient number.

NAME HUNGARIAN AS PRESIDENT OF ROUMANIA HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Dec. 24.—Indicating the tremendous changes which have taken place in Roumania since Premier Juliu Maniu took over the government from the Liberal dictatorship, the Roumanian parliament today elected Stephan Pap Zicso, a Hungarian, as president of the chamber of deputies. Heretofore the minorities had been persecuted, it is charged. Now Premier Maniu has promised that they will be given the autonomous rights guaranteed in the peace treaties. The new president of the chamber of deputies, like M. Maniu, was a member of the Hungarian parliament before the war.

The senate elected Trojan Bratu as its president.

Before adjourning for the Christmas holidays, parliament passed the budget for 1929, in which the revenues and expenditures were balanced at about $228,000,000.

CHRISTMAS, BUT FRENCH SENATE TALKS BIG ARMY

Rushes Through Bill for $20,000,000 Increase.

BY WILLIAM SHIRES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Dec. 24.—'Twas the day before Christmas, but the venerable French senate would not let that stand in the way of argument over appropriations for the army.

Certain august solons wanted to know how France's natural love for peace coincided with the $20,000,000 increase in army expenditures asked for next year, and Minister of War Paul Painleve told them.

Even the name of President Coolidge was dragged into the debate to support the thesis that France needs the most powerful army in the world.

Quotes President Coolidge.

"You ask if the Kellogg pact should not allow for the cutting down armies," M. Painleve said. "Well, look at what President Coolidge says. He wrote the other day that countries which seriously organize themselves for real defense are the best guarantee for peace, and that the great war would have come sooner if the menaced countries had not had some defense."

M. Painleve admitted that the French military expenditures for the coming year are equal to those of 1913, when all Europe was in the midst of an armament race, but he explained that France had more colonies to defend now.

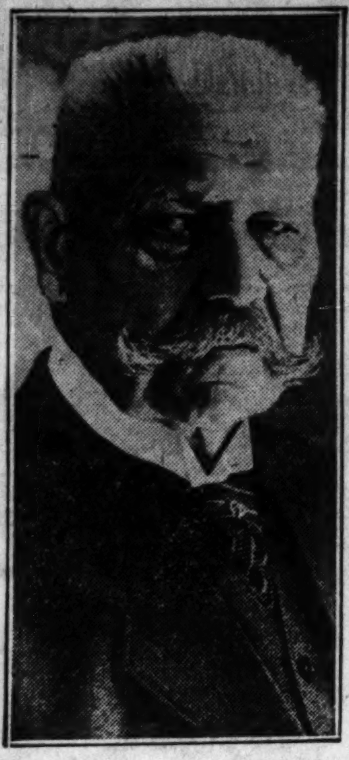
Senator Attacks Militarism.

Senator Henri de Jouvenel expressed amazement at France's growing militarism. He became so heated that one senator interrupted to exclaim that he was presenting German public opinion with a great Christmas gift.

"What is strange to me is that the signing of the Kellogg pact and the decision to increase our armaments came at the same time," Senator de Juvenel said. "Eighty per cent of our budget expense is unproductive. Germany's corresponding proportion amounts only to sixty per cent, counting that for furnishing reparations in kind, which is a heavy blow to German production. If we do not want to disarm, let us admit it. Let us stop proposing peace at Geneva and arming for war at Paris."

Notwithstanding the senator's remarks, the senate swept through scores of articles in the war budget with such speed that it seemed certain it would be able to present the nation with a little Christmas present late tonight—the world's most powerful army for at least another year. The chamber of deputies already has passed the bill.

PLAYS SANTA



PAUL VON HINDENBURG.

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Paul von Hindenburg, the 81 year old president of the German republic, spent Christmas eve quietly at his home in the executive mansion. He was surrounded by children and grandchildren and a blazing Christmas tree was in the center of a pile of presents. The octogenarian executive personally distributed the gifts to the younger members of the family.

The home celebration was preceded by official festivities in the reception hall of the mansion, where the entire presidential staff, domestics and other employés of the presidential entourage, assembled and heard Gen. von Hindenburg wish them each a Merry Christmas. Here, too, there were gifts for all and after distribution of them the chief of the government presided at an informal repast of coffee and Christmas cake.

More than a thousand destitute and aged persons were gladdened by gifts of about $25 each. This money was distributed from the remnant of the Hindenburg fund, founded on the occasion of the president's eightieth birthday.

Regent of Hungary Grants Christmas Amnesty to 248

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The regent, Admiral Horthy, today granted Christmas amnesty to 248 prisoners. The list included 42 persons who have been in jail more than ten years and six who were sentenced for offenses under the new press law. In some cases a fine was substituted for imprisonment. The amnesty did ont include sixteen prisoners who were convicted of offenses in connection with the Red revolution.

PAN-AMERICAN TREATY READY BY NEXT FRIDAY

Delegates at Parley Are Pleased by Progress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Real progress in the formation of a more effective arbitration treaty for the American republics was reported tonight by the sub-committee appointed by the Pan-American arbitration conference to draw up a draft convention.

Following two long drawn sessions, the latter lasting until 7:15 this evening, members of the sub-committee expressed confidence that they would be able to complete their labors in time to submit a new treaty to the conference next Friday. It was stated that agreement had been reached on a number of controversial subjects and on a general formula for the treaty.

Delegates attending the conference expressed much gratification today over the reception which has been accorded by the various republics to the new draft conciliation convention worked out last Saturday.

Confident of Success.

Confidence was expressed that the present parley will result in the establishment of better machinery for the settlement of international disputes. The feature of the new conciliation treaty arousing the most enthusiasm is the one which provides that in case of a dispute between two treaty powers, the permanent commissions set up by the Gondra convention at Washington and Montevideo must immediately attempt to conciliate the disputing countries. This provision was adopted after the Paraguayan-Bolivian dispute disclosed that a conference of nations offering "good offices" was more effective in dealing with a crisis than the vast machinery of the league of nations or other arbitration and conciliation treaties.

Bolivia to Be Topic.

Dr. Victor Maurtua of Peru, chairman of the conference mediation committee expects to call his group together tomorrow to discuss the Bolivian-Paraguayan situation if an expected note from Bolivia arrives this evening.

The conference is anxious to have this dispute off its hands and on the road to settlement before the delegates return to their homes. The delegates hope to leave Washington next Saturday.

Report Boat Full of Canada Rum for United States Lost

CHATHAM, Ont., Dec. 24.—(AP)—A 70 foot open boat, heavily laden with Canadian liquor, is believed to have been lost with its crew of two men Thursday night while en route from Erieau to Fairport, O., near Cleveland. This information was reported today at an investigation of an airplane crash near Blenheim Saturday, in which Charles Yokum was seriously injured. It was said that the plane, piloted by Norman Thompson of this city, was searching for the missing craft.

JAILER TO GUARD PETITTI AT JAIL IF VISITORS CALL

Angelo Petitti and Andrew Cappellano, convicted kidnapers of 10 year old Billy Ranieri, will be under constant guard when they have visitors in the county jail, according to an announcement yesterday by Warden Edward J. Fogarty. The warden said he could not refuse the men the usual visitors courtesy as long as they behave, but because of the murder of Ole Scully, a state's witness, and the numerous death threats to others connected with the prosecution, he would see that no orders are issued by Petitti, reputed head of the extortion ring, while he is in jail.

Capt. James L. Doherty was complimented in a report made yesterday by Commissioner of Police William F. Russell to Mayor Thompson.

Hugh L. Harrod, 6601 University avenue, one of the jurors who inflicted the 25 year penalty on the two men, announced yesterday that he has taken steps to secure employment for Tony Cappellano, son of the convicted man. The youth was acquitted on the theory that he had only obeyed the bidding of his father.

PRE-INVENTORY FURNITURE SALE-THURSDAY!

CHRISTMAS DAY IN ARGONNE, TEN YEARS AFTER WAR

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROMAGNE, France, Dec. 24.—Our boys—14,168 of them—are sleeping peacefully this Chistmas eve, ten years after the armistice, in this huge American cemetery in the heart of the Argonne.

A light fall of snow has whitened the ground the same color as the Carrara marble headstones marking each grave, and the same thick white mist, which during the momentous offensive of 1918 screened murderous enemy machine guns, hangs in wisps over the shell splintered remnants of the vast forest.

A thin glaze of ice covers the roads and paths, but every footstep turns up the tenacious chalky mud of the Argonne, which impeded the progress of the valiant soldiers during the final drive of the war that split Von Hindenburg's army in half, compelling it to retreat all along the line and causing the former kaiser's capitulation.

Argonne and Verdun the Same.

Times have changed in the Argonne and Verdun but little—especially in winter, when vegetation is dead and the foliage is gone, revealing the horrors of the war.

Most of the villages and hamlets have been rebuilt, bridges have been reconstructed, some fields gradually are coming under cultivation, and the inhabitants are returning to till the soil.

But the dread mark of the war god still exists in the fox holes along the road, hastily dug trenches that held up the advance long enough to build deep, timber lined dugouts, and solid reinforced concrete German pill boxes at strong points.

The roadside is littered with rows of barb wire stakes and corrugated iron strips for shelters, wrecked machine guns and rifles, massed deadly grenades, and occasionally battered field guns and rusty howitzers. Even a few wrecked tanks are sprawled where they were left when they were hit by shells.

Still Search for Heroes.

One encounters parties of French workmen sifting the ruins with curious pitch fork shaped implements, searching for the bones and skeletons of undiscovered heroes, and carts appear at intervals to carry off remains dumped at the roadside for interment at the huge ossuary at Douamount.

One more American hero rejoined his comrades for the long rest in Romagnes cemetery today, when Supt. Walter Shail of Richmond, Va., interred the remains of a United States marine, found by a French working party between St. Etienne and Somme-Py, where the second American division, acting as a spearhead for Gen. Gouraud's French army, smashed the hitherto impregnable German front at Blancmont and pried loose the enemy's steel semi-circle around Rheims.

Thus far the marine's body is unidentified, as the wrist tag has been reduced to rusty powder, but through tooth charts which are being sent to Washington it is expected his identity will be established.

U. S. Infantryman Found.

A month ago at a Molleville farm, near the Cosemvole road, another unidentified infantryman was discovered, and the skeleton of still another was found at Exermont, Sept. 20.

Other men recently discovered were three men of Company F, 113th infantry, in Boise d'Etraye. They were buried by Germans, where they fell, and were discovered accidentally. They have been identified as Corp. Joseph Kirch and Privates Joe Sturgell and L. A. Walker.

When unidentified bodies are found they are placed in a certain section of the cemetery with a headstone marked, "Here rests in honored memory an American soldier, known only to God." When they are identified the remains are moved to another section.

Marble crosses mark the resting places of the Christians, and the marble five pointed star of David the graves of Jews.

NATIVES BATTLE MODERN PEARL DIVING METHODS

TAHITI, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The proposed use of modern diving suits in competition with the primitive methods of native pearl divers has aroused the people of the Paumotu island group almost to the fighting point. Thousands of South sea natives dependent upon pearl fisheries feel that their means of livelihood is menaced. The native divers, weighted with stones, have been descending on ropes from small boats to pry the pearl oysters from the ocean floor.

Recently a concession was granted to use diving machines, or suits. This, it is asserted, was in contravention to the law and also violated the exclusive privilege of the natives in diving.

Natives stormed a warehouse at Hikueru, seized diving helmets and concealed them. More than a thousand natives milled around the administrator and a gendarme, but there was no violence. Passive resistance was decided upon, but the natives seemed determined that no diving apparatus should encroach upon their preserves.

The Land of Sun Tan

Fashions that have received the stamp of chic from Cannes, Biarritz and the Riviera, now play their roles in the setting of our Southland and determine the lines and colors for summer, here. White, and white with strong color notes bring the fashionable sunburn to an interesting point of smartness. The prevalence of yellows and soft tans. The originality of angora with sheer materials. The "little" coat worn with every kind of frock. The tubbable frock of silk shirting. Flannel and velvet coats in many new guises. Sport suits interesting in Rodier woolens. The sheer printed frock with lace jacket, smartly called the "five o'clock frock." A panorama indicating the fashions of spring and summer is presented here on the Fourth Floor in settings in which one visions the backgrounds against which these modes will move.

(a) The travel suit of covert cloth is caped. Corded silk blouse. For women. $150.

(c) The sports frock of silk cross-stitched in angora in white with colors. $65.

(d) A printed silk frock is sleeveless and with a long coat. Sizes for misses. $59.50.

(e) Linen crash suit tailored with blouse of handkerchief linen. $27.50.

(f) The white coat of fine woolen is modernistically caped. Misses. $100.

On the Fourth the Apparel Floor

The small hat of angora encircles the informal daytime mode with white in an individual way. $27.50.

Ballibuntl in flattering width of brim. Appliques of high color suggest the mode of prints. $37.50.

Fifth Floor, North.

shoes

The street costume or the more formal frock for afternoon is worn with pumps of light beige kidskin, banded in reptile. $16.50.

For the printed frock, the favor of fashion is forecast for the slipper of colored leather. One with lizard vamp and kid quarter is in many bright colors. $20.

COAST SEES GEORGIA TECH IN FIRST DRILL

RICKARD FINDS NEW METHOD TO GAIN PUBLICITY

Pay-Off Era Out of His Calendar.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JOHN RINGLING.

New York, Dec. 24.—There has been a great change in the relation between the sport promoter and the sport writer since Mr. Tex Rickard organized his coterie of sportily inclined millionaires and developed a happy-go-lucky racket into a solid industry, as efficient and economical as the pork packing industry, which utilizes everything but the squeal. It is more efficient, in fact, for Mr. Rickard, as will be seen, sometimes turns the squeal to profitable account.

Under the old dispensation, when Mr. Rickard was going it alone with the backing of Mr. John Ringling, the circus man, and slowly enticing the so-called big men of the city to his enterprises, he maintained a pay roll, or pay-off roll.

Pay-Off Defeats Itself.

One used to hear that this man and that man, writing for the New York sport pages, were on Mr. Rickard's payoff roll, for so-and-so-much every week. There certainly was a pay-off roll, but this system of tribute or graft finally defeated its own purpose because the honest sport writers, in order to demonstrate their independence and honesty, developed a tendency to slam Mr. Rickard and his productions.

It came to be that no respectable sport writer would write a pleasant word about either the man or his shows lest it be thought that he was in receipt of one of those weekly envelopes from Mr. Rickard.

I never have had a definite idea as to whom was taking this graft from Mr. Rickard or how much it cost to keep a fairly venial sport writer subsidized. Sport writers fall to gossiping on trains when they are clattering around the leagues with the ball clubs or going to Louisville for the Derby, and I suppose that in the course of a few years I heard every sport writer in town with one or two exceptions, mentioned as being in receipt of graft from Tex Rickard. It was a vicious situation.

There may have been a graft within the graft, for Mr. Rickard's pay-off man was no chump and it is conceivable that he placed on the pay-off roll the names of some sport writers who had absolutely no inkling that they were so listed. Such a case once came to light in connection with a prize fight promoted for the ostensible benefit of a hospital. When the receipts were counted and the costs of promotion were charged against them it was discovered that the hospital owed 75 cents or something like that and word was wafted around town that the newspaper boys had received no trifling portion of the money in return for ballyhooing the show in their columns.

What Rickard Promised.

One of the sport editors, a fellow who runs a gabby, looky-here kind of column, heard that he was supposed to have received $200 so he wrote a column in the paper one day saying, "Somebody has been holding out on me," and stating that if he must be listed as one who would graft $200 from a charity fund he would have to have the $200.

There was quite some talk about graft in the sport writing business

ILLINI HARDWOOD HOPES

Norgren Will Keep Maroon Five Busy During Holidays

Long hours of hard work during the rest of the holidays is the Christmas present Coach Nels Norgren has handed his University of Chicago basketball team. Two practice sessions a day have been prescribed for the Maroon tossers so that they will be ready for their three remaining practice games, which precede the opening of the Big Ten season Jan. 8.

Saturday the Maroons go to Greencastle, Ind., to play De Pauw; Jan. 2 Beloit comes to the Midway and three days later the strong Butler team invades Bartlett gymnasium. Chicago opens it conference season Jan. 8, when it entertains Purdue, favorite for the Big Ten title.

Four days later Dr. Meanwell's Wisconsin five will descend on the Midway.

The Maroons have shown unexpected strength to date. With three of the best defensive players in the conference last season lost by graduation, Norgren faced a difficult task, as Hoerger, McDonough, and Farwell are not easy to replace from the limited material available.

This loss forced Norgren to abandon his delayed offense, dependent on close guarding. He has developed a fast breaking offense that will hit for the opposing basket the minute a Chicago player traps the ball.

The new system has worked admirably. And in addition Norgren has discovered a guard who can fill the shoes of any man he lost. Marshall Fish promises to be one of the greatest guards that has ever played in Bartlett gymnasium.

MAROONS' OFFENSE

H. CHANGNON. BOB KAPLAN.

Art Abbott should get the call with a bit more experience. He is taller than the others, and with a little more tutoring will probably develop into a valuable player.

Capt. Gist is a fixture at center, and is key man in the Maroon attack. He has an unusual eye for the hoop, is fast and shifty and a fighter.

Tommy Loughran, Mandell Lead in Ring Popularity

New York, Dec. 24. —(AP)— The worthiest champions of them all in the boxing world are Tommy Loughran and Sammy Mandell, in the light of the final ranking of leaders of the various weight divisions for 1928, which is published today by the New York Sun.

Loughran not only heads his own light heavyweight kingdom by a good margin in the Sun's consensus, compiled each year from the votes of 60 newspaper boxing writers in various cities, but his name also tops the leaders in the other classes in the points which reflect the favor of the critics.

The boxing Adonis from Philadelphia tallied a total of 596 points out of a possible 600, ten points being awarded for each first place rating.

STATISTICS SHOW WHY OUR HAWKS CAN'T WIN GAMES

Defense Fails; Gardiner Overworked at Goal.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Statistics of the first quarter of the National Hockey league season reveal some surprising things, primarily one of the main reasons why the Chicago Blackhawks are at the bottom of the American division standing. In view of the Hawks' eastern trip, which begins tomorrow night against the Boston Bruins, the statistics are of importance.

Despite all the credit hockey writers and critics have been giving Chuck Gardiner, the Hawks' goalie ranks at the bottom of the division in percentage of stops. But those bald figures reveal more than that in that Gardiner has had to handle 100 more shots than any other net minder in the division.

Manager Knows Defect.

Gardiner stopped 454 of 474 shots for an average of .959 and the only chap who topped him in number of shots was Benedict of Montreal, who stopped all except twenty of 475 shots. Montreal is in the Canadian division. The answer seems to lie in the Hawks' defense which permits an opposing team to take an average of nearly fifty shots a game.

That Manager Herbert Gardiner realizes the weak spot is certain in that he is donning the pads to get in condition and may go back on the ice. Unless it is absolutely necessary, however, he will not take the ice tonight against the Bruins, thereby cheating Boston fans out of a duel between two of the greatest defense men hockey has ever known, Gardiner and Eddie Shore.

Dye Fails to Score.

Further figures on scoring are almost as startling, one of the big surprises being the fact that Babe Dye, former Hawk, who rates as one of the most dangerous shots in the league, hasn't as yet scored a single goal. Furthermore, in percentage of goals made for number of shots the Hawks rank high.

Lionel Conacher, New York Americans' defense man, leads the league in percentage of goals scored for number of shots with four goals out of 28 shots. George Hay, another former Hawk, leads the American division with four goals from 39 shots, but second and third are Chicagoans. Ty Arbour, Hawk wing, is second, with three goals in 35 shots and Marvin Wentworth, Chicago defense, is next with only one goal made in 12 shots. Vic Ripley, young center, ranks seventh in the division with four goals from 61 shots, while Capt. Dick Irvin is further down the list with three goals from 67 shots.

Elmhurst College Seeks Membership in Little 19

Elmhurst college, Elmhurst, Ill., has filed application for membership in the Little Nineteen athletic conference, and a committee of investigation is now preparing a report to be acted upon at the May meeting of the conference. The college has met a number of Little Nineteen teams regularly. Its football team lost only one game this year. F. C. McFarland is the coach.

Alabama U., Poly Alumni Football Teams to Clash

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Athletic relations between Alabama's two largest colleges, broken 21 years ago because of intense rivalry between the student bodies, will be partially resumed New Year's day when alumni football teams of Alabama university and Alabama polytechnic institute meet here.

McCarthy Has the Hitters; Now He Wants a Bunter

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Although his ball club is practically "set," Joe McCarthy, the Cub chief, will not be able to sit back and forget his responsibilities during the course of training activities next spring on Catalina island.

Having at his disposal such hitters as Hornsby, Cuyler, Stephenson and Wilson, not to mention a few capable hurlers, one might imagine McCarthy has nothing else to do than to get his gang into physical shape and turn them loose on the other seven entries in the National league. The hitch occurs in the fact that he must arrange a batting order that will get the maximum results.

A solution of this arrangement would be simple if, among the talent available, there was an athlete with the qualifications of a second place hitter. This spot involves ability to hit fairly well, to run, to bunt and to look 'em over. Cuyler has all of these except the knack of bunting. English, last season's leadoff man, apparently comes closer to the requirements than anybody else, so in the absence of strength from an unexpected source it is probable that Cuyler will top the batting list next spring with English, Hornsby, Wilson and Stephenson following in the order named.

Not a few of the citizens who lend financial support to the north side team insist McCarthy places too much stress on the cleanup ability of Wilson, but there is about as much chance of talking the Cubs' chief out of this idea as there is of making the sun come up twice in one day.

The pudgy Hack last season drove in 120 runs, a mark which was tied by Jim Bottomley and exceeded only by Pie Traynor. Wilson accomplished this total with a batting average of .313, whereas Bottomley hit .325 and Traynor .339, both with heavier scoring teams. On this basis McCarthy cannot be charged with erring in his judgment. It also is a matter of note that in the recent valuable player award Wilson was the only outfielder scoring points among the first ten.

SLUGGERS

KIKI CUYLER. HACK WILSON.

Jack Cummings, one of the young catchers enrolled on the Giant staff, was here yesterday on his way from St. Louis to his home in Pittsburgh. The lad had been in the Mound City for a month to undergo an operation to cure what was defined as water on the shoulder. He reported that his arm had loosened up considerably as the result of the surgical explorations.

* *

Tony Kaufmann, the Chicago lad who for years was a member of the Cubs' pitching corps, may break into the Giant outfield next season. Tony, after being traded to St. Louis, was shipped to the Rochester team of the International league, and as there was no need of him in a pitching rôle, he was employed at the latter place as a fly chaser. His hitting went a long way in helping to bring Rochester a pennant. Kaufmann can field with the best of them and can throw well with either arm. McGraw drafted him from Rochester, thus satisfying a wish a years' standing.

* *

There was no business to transact yesterday, so E. S. Barnard, American league chief, closed up shop and hopped a train for Cleveland, his former home. Henry Edwards, the circuit's publicity man, also went back to the Ohio metropolis to show his friends that life in Chicago is not as hazardous as painted.

Santa Visits Braves, Leaves Mr. Joe Dugan

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Santa Claus tonight dropped around to the doorstep of Judge Emil Fuchs, president-manager of the Boston Braves, and when he awakes tomorrow he will find himself in possession of Joe Dugan, who has for the last six and a half years has been the star third baseman of the New York Yankees.

Announcement of this transaction was made by Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, and ended the guessing contest on Jumping Joe's next address.

That Dugan should be let go by the Yanks occasioned no great surprise, but that the Braves got him did cause something of a stir. Among those who take a fancy to outguessing the magnates the prevailing opinion was that the Chicago Cubs held the inside track on the services of Dugan.

Officially, the Braves came upon Dugan by reason of the fact that they declined to waive on him. Originally it had been the intention of the Yanks to give their veteran third sacker his unconditional release, have him waived by all the clubs in the two majors, and thus enable him, as a free agent, to transact his own business. Had this been done Dugan doubtless would have wound up with the Cubs, as it is known Joe personally favored the idea of aligning himself with Joe McCarthy.

New York and Pennsylvania in Boxing Harmony

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—A working agreement which further extends the disciplinary powers of the New York state athletic commission in its administration and supervision of boxing today was effected with the boxing authorities of Pennsylvania.

The agreement is a resumption of harmonious relations between the neighbor states after a rift which dates back to the campaign of Benny Bass for recognition as the world's featherweight champion. The commission here withheld recognition and the refusal disrupted the friendly relations between the two boards. By resuming relations with Pennsylvania, the local commission strengthens its position as administrator of boxing in the most important ring center of the country.

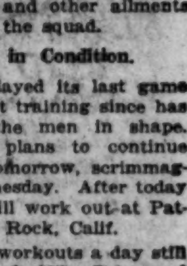
Working agreements also are in effect now with Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Michigan and with the Ontario athletic commission, and the local authorities also have sympathetic agreements with European boxing governing bodies.

North Dakota Tossers Leave for Utah Games

Denver, Colo., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Continuing its 6,000 mile barnstorming tour, the University of North Dakota basketball team left here today for Ogden, Utah, where Wednesday and Thursday it meets Brigham Young university and the Utah Aggies, respectively.

DIXIE ELEVEN PREPARES FOR BEARS' ATTACK

California Works Out Twice a Day.



NIBBS PRICE.

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 24.—(AP)—With the grand reception over and the first thrill of arrival subsided, Georgia Tech's football team, eastern representative in the New Year's day gridiron classic, turned today to the more serious business of preparing for the battle with California's Golden Bears.

It was a warm day in which the southerners turned out for their initial workout. After they had been given their first view of Pasadena by sunlight Coach Bill Alexander jumped the Yellow Jackets into their pigskin apparel for a practice session in the rose bowl to remove the kinks of the long train ride from the south.

The drill for the Dixie aggregation was nothing more than an exercise. It was open house for newspaper men and photographers, who were permitted to get their bounty of stories and pictures.

Alexander pronounced his men in fine physical shape and discounted reports that "flu" and other ailments were prevalent in the squad.

Price's Men in Condition.

Georgia Tech played its last game on Dec. 8 and light training since has served to keep the men in shape. The tech leader plans to continue light work over tomorrow, scrimmaging probably Wednesday. After today the southerners will work out at Patterson field, Eagle Rock, Calif.

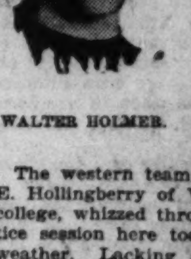
California's two workouts a day still are in effect. Coach Nibs Price and his Bears descended upon tournament park this morning and again in the afternoon. The work of polishing up the westerners continued through both sessions. Price indicated that his charges are approaching fine form under the rigorous training grind. Odds still favored California's Bears today to uphold western supremacy in the east-west clash.

EASTERN TEAM SCRIMMAGES

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Football stars of the past and present donned uniforms today to pit experience if not teamwork against the great eastern squad which is training at Stanford university for the east-west charity game at San Francisco Dec. 29.

The pickup eleven which scrimmaged against Coach Andy Kerr's easterners included Ernie Nevers, former all-American full back; Ed Walker, end; Hal McCreery, center; Fred Swan, guard; Mike Murphy, quarter back, and many others who brought fame to Stanford in earlier days.

Team Learns Plays.



WALTER HOLMER.

All of the plays with which Coach Kerr hopes to snatch victory came in for a workout and the eastern team functioned smoothly throughout. While no intimation has been given as to starting back fields, the one receiving most attention is composed of Harpster, Carnegie Tech, quarter back; Weston, Boston college, and Guest, Lafayette, half backs; Holmer, Northwestern, full back.

The western team coached by Orin E. Hollingberry of Washington State college, whizzed through a long practice session here today despite rainy weather. Lacking a thoroughly experienced signal caller, Hollingberry has decided to use Dan Allen, former Yale player now with the Olympic club, and "Biff" Hoffman, Stanford full back. Two back field combinations are being experimented with. One includes Sims, Stanford quarter back; Cowan, Sulross college of Texas, and Horan, Washington State, half backs; and Hoffman, full back.

Lombard Five to Play at Wisconsin Saturday

Handsome Trophies, Rivalry Enliven Meets.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Dozens of our best known prep basketball players will not have the opportunity to linger around their shedding Christmas trees the remainder of the week, for as soon as they have received their quota of oranges, nuts, and candy, they will be obliged to dash into tournament play.

During the last half of this week there will be four major prep tournaments in the northern half of the state—at Moline, Streator, Pontiac, and Dwight.

Handsome trophies, rivaling those of the state and national tournaments, will be awarded at each of the four cities. For this and other reasons based on geographical rivalries the play is expected to be as spirited as the more conclusive affairs which wind up the season's endeavors.

Streator Meet Is Largest.

The largest competition in the matter of teams entered and variety of events will be held in Streator, where La Salle, Ottawa, Morris, Marseilles, Mendota, Spring Valley, De Kalb, Horace Mann of Gary, Ind.; Hammond High of Hammond, Ind.; Crane Tech and Marshall High of Chicago; North High of Columbus, O.; Wheaton, Gardner, Malden, and Streator hook up in a series beginning Thursday and continuing through Saturday.

At Moline the Big Nine will battle in the spacious new fieldhouse. Canton, state champion and runner up for the national title; Monmouth, Kewanee, Geneseo, Princeton, Rock Island, East Moline, and Moline will compete.

At Pontiac the following teams will fight it out: Flora, Freeport, Olney, Cornell, Tilden, and Lindblom of Chicago; University High of Bloomington, Roanoke, Havana, and Villa Grove.

Dwight to Show New Gym.

Dwight will show off its new gymnasium to teams from Mazon, Wilmington, Odell, Saunemin, Chenoa, Long Point, and Reddick Dec. 28 and 29.

If there isn't too much sleet and snow, we expect to see parts of all these tourneys and write a few pieces about what we see and the big shots we meet. We also hope to get much guidance in the arrangement of a January tour which will carry us through some of the basketball nests in the extreme northern part of the state, thence to Egypt—such cities as Centralia, Mount Vernon, Bridgeport, Benton, Marion, West Frankfort, Herrin and quite a few other places where they play basketball with a vengeance.

It looks like a busy January!

Leonard's Home Burns; He and Wife Are Rescued

Fresno, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—H. B. (Dutch) Leonard, former major league baseball player, and Mrs. Leonard, known on the stage as Muriel Worth, were rescued from their burning ranch home by neighbors yesterday. Both were ill of influenza. The home, a two story structure on the Leonard vineyard, was destroyed at a loss of approximately $40,000.

Spruce, Balsam Bring Memory of North Woods

BY BOB BECKER.

Although "magic carpets" capable of transporting one through the air like a motorless airplane are supposed to be found in the far east, undoubtedly many a Christmas tree today will serve as a real magic carpet to carry the outdoorsman who inhales the pungent fragrance of the spruce or balsam many miles and many months backward into experiences and vacations in the north woods.

Certainly no two species of trees by association with good times out of doors are better fitted to serve as Christmas trees in the home than the balsam and the spruce. Both are linked to nearly every true outdoorsman's experiences when in the north hunting, camping, fishing, canoeing, or what not.

The spruce, popular as a Christmas tree, is the species whose needles go all the way round the branches, thus making each branch somewhat tubular in shape. The needles are stiff and prickly and have little aromatic fragrance when compared with the balsam.

This tree takes one in memory to the spruce swamps of the north, where the big snowshoe hares have runways cut deep into the bog and pitcher plants bloom in the summer.

The balsam, one of which stands in our home today, is another popular Christmas tree. This is our favorite conifer. First, because it is so fragrant, and, secondly, because its branches with flat, slightly incurved needles, are so useful. The outdoorsman can sniff the fragrance of his balsam Christmas tree and think of camp, and a springy, soft balsam bough bed 'neath the roof of his canvas home. It is this species which furnishes the boughs for wonderful camp beds.

Rickard Finds New Means to Get Publicity

just then and I understand that the publishers' association called Mr. Rickard in and threatened to toss all his ballyhoo clear out of their sport pages if he did not squeal. I heard that he did squeal and turn over the list, promising to discontinue the payments, but I also heard that he stood pat and refused to name names, but promised nevertheless to cut it out.

He probably was glad of the chance to cancel the pay-off roll because it must have been expensive and its very existence was a constant invitation to the honest writers to give him and his undertakings hell.

The state of affairs that I am speaking of covered a period of several years during which time Mr. Rickard was steadily ingratiating himself financially, politically, and to a certain extent, socially, with the cocky young successful men of the town. There is an element in New York, Detroit and Chicago, of smart, shrewd, gay young business men who have clawed and clambered their way up from comparatively modest means to great wealth in the few years since the war, some of them are in stocks, finance and the like, others in the automobile trades and so on.

Seats Means Success.

They are strung along in the forties, they see fifty coming and they seem determined to do a lot of living before their arteries go bad on them. They play together having business success and a joyous sense of victory as a common tie and they gamble in thousands on the market as playfully as they gambled in marbles in the school yard thirty or forty years ago. They also like to be among those present in the front rows at Mr. Rickard's major productions such as the heavyweight championship fights, not half so much because they like the fights as because the location of their seats is the gauge of their rank among the big shots.

It is a boyish vanity and quite understandable and if you think I am misrepresenting, you should have heard Mr. Rickard in Chicago mentioning the men he just absolutely had to crowd into the first ten rows because they would rather stay away than be seen further back, or you should see them coming down to the ringside from their clubroom in the new garden on fight nights with their boiled shirt-fronts blown out between gleaming lapels to sit in public as figures of importance and success.

How the Thing Now Works.

They get marvelous liquor, but they are too smart to be dissolute. Well, as Mr. Rickard accumulated this following he discovered that he had among his friends men who advertised profusely in the papers, men who played about socially with the executives of the papers, and even men who played with papers so, of course, he realized that there was no necessity of his going to the sport writers or sport editors for favors any more. One night he sat at a great drinking dinner and was bored by a man sitting next to him who talked ramblingly, and familiarly of the garden firm and its stock.

"Didn't know that feller from Adam," Mr. Rickard recounted, chuckling, "but later on discovered that he was Mr. So and So, the owner of the daily so and so, who really owns more stock in the garden than anybody except me. You can see how much chance they is for them to be knocking Tex Rickard and his shows in the daily so and so."

The walls of Mr. Rickard's office began to bloom with autographed photos of executive editors, publishers and owners of newspapers. The sport writers as they came in were supposed to be impressed by this evidence of high approval of Mr. Rickard and his operations. To one man who was not duly impressed, Mr. Rickard dropped casual remarks about having lunched with the owner of his paper, yesterday, about a date to golf with him next week, and so on. The sport writer didn't bother to puzzle this out, but went to the owner and said: "Say, Rickard is telling me how chummy he has been with you lately, and I would like to know what's the score? Is he a sacred cow on our paper?"

Checkup Might Show This.

"Rickard is four flushing," the owner said, "I met him just once in my life and a few days later he wrote me asking me for an autographed picture to hang on his wall."

Still Mr. Rickard is above dealing with sport writers now. He runs with their bosses or with people who do run with them, and he trusts, as all big business men trust, that the owners will not suffer their writers to print things detrimental to his business.

I cannot report that his trust is vindicated in this respect, for one still sees cynical articles in the daily press, running under the names of men who long ago formed a suspicious habit of mind toward the competitive qualities of Mr. Rickard's contests and who are unable to learn new modes of thought.

Mullen Lines Up Card for Friday Show

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Matchmaker James C. Mullen of the Coliseum A. C., which will hold its first boxing show at the Coliseum Friday night, yesterday announced the card of four ten round fights.

In the feature event, Joe Sekyra, Bohemian light heavyweight of Dayton, O., will meet Cuban Bobby Brown. Sekyra is credited with a victory over James J. Braddock, who flattened Tuffy Griffith in New York recently. The Dayton, O., Bohemian also won from K. O. Christner, who knocked out Knute Hansen.

Brown has knocked out Babe McGorgary, Homer Robertson, Jeff Smith, and Johny Haystack. He is an aggressive two fisted fighter who can hit with either hand.

Mullen asserts he will pit the winner of this fight against Johnny Risko of Cleveland in the main event of the Coliseum A. C. show on Jan. 4. If the Sekyra-Brown fight terminates in a knockout, the fight Jan. 4 will go a long way toward determining either a successor to Loughran's 175 pound title or another contender for the heavyweight championship.

Jack McCarthy, clever west side welterweight who recently won a ten round decision over Iowa Joe Rivers, will meet Izzy Grove of New York in another ten rounder. Grove won a decision over Vince Dundee in the east a short time ago. They will meet at 150 pounds.

Lope Tenerio, Filipino lightweight, and Iowa Joe Rivers will be the principals in another ten rounder. Both are hard right hand hitters and this fight may not go the limit. They will meet at 135 pounds.

Eddie Shea, west side Italian featherweight, and Georgia Nickfor of New York have been signed for the other ten rounder. Nickfor has been substituted for Sammy Dorfman, who is unable to go through with the Shea match because of a cut lip received in training last Sunday.

All fighters are in Chicago and training at local gymnasiums.

Silver Skate Races Magnet for Juveniles

Included in the first entries received for THE TRIBUNE's thirteenth annual Silver Skates Derbies to be held at Garfield park on Jan. 26 and 27, were nominations from 53 boys under fourteen years of age. They will race in the Juvenile Derby.

This is extremely gratifying as the purpose of THE TRIBUNE races is held to encourage growing boys and girls in a healthy outdoor sport. Skaters who compete in the senior races need little or no encouragement. They are taken care of by the various skating clubs which enter them in the city, state and national events. No one except their parents look after the welfare of the youngsters, some of whom will face the starter for the first time next month.

System Is Widely Copied.

"TRIBUNE races have done more to encourage the youth of the nation in ice racing than any other organization I know of in the twenty years I have been connected with the sport," William B. Bratton, who will have charge of all ice activities at the Chicago stadium, said yesterday. "The program of TRIBUNE races and its system of running off its events has been copied in many other cities. Because of my connections with speed skating and hockey, I seldom have had the opportunity to attend a TRIBUNE meet but I shall be glad to lend a helping hand at the 1929 Derbies."

The first batch of nominations has been turned over to Harry Bers, chairman of the registration committee of the Western Skating association. All entrants will be placed in their respective races so that no time will be lost in sending the program to press when the entries close on Jan. 20 at midnight.

No Entry Fee Required.

This winter's TRIBUNE Derbies are supported by the mayor's skating committee, the park and playground systems and the Chicago Public High Schools' Athletic league of which E. C. Delaporte is supervisor of athletics. The races also will receive the support of most of the skating clubs.

No entry fee is required to enter THE TRIBUNE's races. Those desiring to race are requested to read carefully the entry blank appearing on the sports pages, then fill it out and mail it as directed. Other information regarding these races will appear in these columns.

The Advantage of Extra Trousers

TROUSERS are always the first to show wear, and that is the reason for many suits being laid aside long before their allotted time. ▼▼▼ Besides the convenience of always having a freshly pressed pair ready, the real advantage comes from their economy in being worn alternately—thus wear is uniform and the life of the suit is practically doubled.

AMATEUR FIGHT PROMOTERS FORM CONTROL GROUP

Charles Schultze Heads New Organization.

Organization of the Illinois Amateur Boxing Clubs association was completed yesterday in the offices of the Illinois boxing commission. Its purpose is to protect so-called amateur boxers from competing too frequently. More than sixty amateur promoters agreed to coöperate and protect the amateurs as far as possible.

Charles H. Schultze of the Eagles club of Chicago was elected president and Henry Wallenwein of Waukegan, Ill., vice president. Edward S. Willard of Chicago was chosen secretary and treasurer. The board of directors is composed of Paddy Harmon, J. E. Gleason, George Kamberson, Frank Hiplock, Peter Schafer and J. W. Allison. The first regular meeting of the association will be held at 716 West Madison street at 10 a. m., Dec. 30.

Brundage Is Speaker.

Avery Brundage, president of the National and Central A. A. U., addressed the meeting. He said something must be done to keep the amateur ranks free from professionalism. Brundage pointed out that the National A. A. U. junior championship tourney will be held here this winter and that THE TRIBUNE would conduct its tournament in February.

Boys who fight for more than expenses will be barred from both tourneys. The promoters agreed to live up to the amateur rule.

Roy E. Davis, chairman of the boxing committee of the Central A. A. U., and Walter George, secretary of the boxing commission, also delivered short talks.

To Establish Clearing House.

"We must do something to keep the amateur boxer simon pure," Brundage said. "I think we have started right by asking the promoters to pay the boxers' expenses only. We also have asked them not to use the same fighters too many times in a week. The boxing commission is coöperating and in time I think we can clean up a bad situation."

President Schultze asserted a clearing house will be established as soon as the organization starts to function. All promoters will be compelled to present their cards for shows to this clearing house committee, which will have the right to sanction or reject any bouts. All promoters were in accord with the movement to clean up the situation which is making professionals out of the amateurs.

DEMOCRATS SING HARMONY HYMN IN COUNTY MIXUP

Expect Patronage Plan to Heal Wounds.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Democratic county officials uplifted their voices yesterday in a harmony choral. As dean of the corps, County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer joined the Christmas waits and in his best baritone piped up a peace, goodwill carol for the Democrats, beset with discord in recent days over the succession to the late George E. Brennan as boss.

The Democrats now are stronger inthe county building than in a generation, and the officeholders declare the last thing they want is jangling and factional strife in the party organization. Mr. Sweitzer, being a middle of the roader as between the Martin J. O'Brien and Anton J. Cermak groups, was picked to do the solo work.

The hymn he raised was that some two years hence the reward of peace might be a clean sweep in Cook county and the election of the next mayor of Chicago. So now's the day for hatchet burying, mitting, smoking the Calumet, and united fronting, cheerio.

Patronage to Make Peace.

A patronage program, it was announced, has been tentatively agreed upon devised to iron out factional troubles. Mr. Sweitzer and others of his colleagues declare that patronage inequalities are at the bottom of 99 per cent of internal differences within the party.

The harmony proposals as now elucidated are:

1. Revival of the patronage committee idea, to be composed of Mr. Cermak and Mr. O'Brien, each of whom shall pick another man, and Judge John J. Sullivan to be the fifth member.
2. A job survey, which will card index all Democratic patronage.
3. Distribution of the jobs to be on salary value of the jobs and the vote showing of the wards.
4. Ward committeemen to have the right of viseing appointees.
5. Patronage tabulation covering the entire field, to be open at all times to the inspection of committeemen.

Start Plan Feb. 1.

The plan is for the real work on patronage equalization to start after Feb. 1. Meanwhile, county officials will have a chance to fulfill personal recognition which they owe to committeement. After that the job survey, it is declared, will show plenty of jobs left over to even the wards up

The patronage census idea with its elaborations is somewhat new to the Democrats. Thirty years or so ago, the late Dr. T. N. Jamieson, who recently died in Pasadena, established a similar device among the Republicans, and in later days when Fred Lundin was king pin at the city hall, the card indexing surveyed the jobs as fine as a gnat's knee, but Lundin, of course, carried the key and there were no duplicates.

Process of Evolution.

As to leadership, the Democratic officials agree with Tallyrand that a political boss is a product of evolution. And this being a quiet season in politics, there is plenty of time for the process.

They are talking of putting in Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the U. S. shipping board during the war, as county chairman. They say it would give a fine landscape effect to the party, while Mr. Hurley's talent as an organizer would be another aid.

"Leaders are not made," caroled Mr. Sweitzer, "Like Topsy they have not any father or mother; they just grow. Their principal assets are character and reputation for square dealing. Self-seeking will not make a leader. Neither will self-assurance. When I speak of a leader I mean a man of sense, self-respect, dignity and understanding. Such a man will appear sooner or later and when he does the Democratic party will have a leader.

All for Good of Party.

"In the meantime wouldn't it be better for everybody to forget dreams of factional disturbances and suppress our individual ambitions for the good of the party. If we do that in good faith we will present a solid front two years hence, and win a sweeping victory. Also, any outstanding citizen of Democratic faith whose career has won him public confidence and esteem can be next mayor of Chicago.

"The outstanding result last month was the success of a large majority of our candidates for county offices. These victories can be credited to several circumstances, not the least of them being the admirable management of Martin J. O'Brien, chairman of the managing committee. We owe him a debt of gratitude for laying a foundation on which to build party harmony and future victory, and it grieves thousands of Democrats to read about factions forming for future control. They are bad for harmony and future success.

"Conditions in Chicago which contributed so powerfully to our county success are not likely to improve in the next two years. They will operate in our favor until after the mayoralty election in 1931. If we Democrats behave we are on our way to occupy once more the seats of the mighty."

ALDERMEN GET BACK TO WORK OF CUTTING BUDGET TOMORROW

With only two days left in which to complete the 1929 budget, the finance committee of the city council will resume its sessions tomorrow at 11 a. m. The budget must be finished Thursday in order to be printed in time for the council meeting Dec. 31, the tentative dead line.

Appropriations for many of the minor departments have been agreed upon but the cuts made total only a small part of the $5,000,000 which the aldermen have pledged to lop off from the expenditures of 1928. Several times the committee has begun discussions on the large appropriations for the fire, health, police, and law departments but have become stalled before an agreement could be reached.

Two subcommittees have been appointed, one to smooth out the objections to the law department's request for $987,720, which the controller has cut to $841,640, and the other to confer with members of the school board with the view of having the school board share the expenses of nurses, dentists, and physicians who examine school children.

Find Boy Who Started for Iowa to Visit Mother

Robert Holmes, 11 years old, son of Attorney Robert H. Holmes, 6559 Greenview avenue, who left home alone last Saturday to spend Christmas with his mother, who is in a sanitarium at Cherokee, Ia., was found last night at Marion, near Cedar Rapids, Ia., according to a message received by his father. On his journey Robert reached Cedar Rapids and, lacking fare to go further, was cared for by a police matron, who started home with him. The boy slipped off the train at Clinton, however, and apparently was hitch hiking towards Cedar Rapids when picked up.

Elmer Listens to Bells Ringing at Old Trinity

Christmas Music Programs Appealing, He Says.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Christmas bells are ringing out carols from Old Trinity church tower, New York City, through KYW at this 11 o'clock hour. It is interesting to hear the message of Christmas cheer from this historic source. In past years the radio audience has had to pick up this broadcast from a distance.

The 10 to 11 o'clock hour last evening was a special one by reason of a lovely Christmas song service from New York, through KYW, conducted by the Rev. S. Parkes Cadman. The music was rendered by the Paulist Choristers [New York], directed by the Rev. William J. Finn, and the Medievalists [a mixed voice sextet]. These Paulist choristers of both New York and Chicago wholly merit their fame. The New York cho risters last evening sang the traditional and popular carols in a very beautiful way, but they brought in variety, with several verses of the carols being taken sometimes by the entire chorus, sometimes as a solo, with the chorus humming the accompaniment, sometimes with the soprano section singing a verse, and also by the introduction of a chimes background.

Here in Chicago, Quin Ryan's narration of the Story of the Nativity with the W-G-N Symphony orchestra supplying an appropriate background of music, was a fitting Christmas eve feature, 9:30 to 10. There was an appealing simplicity about this program. This noon we will have another opportunity to hear the Paulist choristers of Chicago, for W-G-N broadcasts the 12 o'clock high mass at St. Mary's Catholic church.

FLAMES DESTROY ROADHOUSE; ONE BURNED TO DEATH

Frank Chambers, 29 years old, a waiter, was killed last night in a fire that destroyed the Lafayette Gardens, a roadhouse at Mannheim and Higgins roads.

The place, which had been closed for three months, was to have reopened today. Frank Rush, the owner, and half a dozen employés were making preparations to receive guests. Chambers was sent into the basement to light a gasoline stove.

There was an explosion, which apparently knocked the waiter unconscious. The others fled from the house, and when Motorcycle Policemen Ulrich and Albert Davis arrived they learned that one man was still in the burning structure. They carried Chambers out, but he had been so severely burned that he died before reaching a hospital.

German Admiral at Jutland Battle Dies of Narcotic

FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN, Germany, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Varrentrapp, retired, who was in command of the battleship Schlesian at the battle of Jutland, was found unconscious today and died later at a hospital. He was stated to have died from an overdose of a narcotic to which he had become addicted because of depression and sleeplessness due to injuries which he suffered in the war. The admiral was in command of the Wilhelmshafen naval station until the revolution, after which he went to his native town of Frankfort to live.

Interrupts Hold-Up and Gets a Bullet in His Leg

James Accamanda, 30 years old, attendant in the Washington Park hospital, was shot in the right leg last night when he stepped out the rear door of the hospital and interrupted three robbers holding up a truck driver and his partner in the alley. The stickup men had just taken $9 from James Hageman, driver for the New City Packing company, 944 Fulton street, and were searching his helper, Frank Walsh, when the hospital door opened and Accamanda shouted. Firing one shot, the bandits fled.

The Young Pretenders

By Alice Grant Rosman

SYNOPSIS.

Lying helpless in bed after a motor accident, Hugo Donaldson broods because his father, with whom he'd quarreled just before the smash, never visits him. He decides he must be dead. Lady Eleanor Wise, his aunt, tells him his friend, Paul Mostyn, is in prison for stealing; that he married a girl of whom his family disapproved, and that Bunny Molyneux is heartbroken because she expected to marry Paul.

Bunny calls to tell Hugo she believes Paul has been the victim of blackmailers. She is shocked that his family failed him. The girl assures Hugo she was never engaged to Paul, but would like to help him because of their lifelong friendship. Hugo gives her his roadster, which he calls Miss Trotsky.

Paul's wife, living in disguise as Mrs. Hallett, accepts an offer to become Hugo's reader. She is glad to have an opportunity to study these friends of Paul, whom she believes his enemies, and is surprised to learn Hugo is loyal, and only his accident has prevented him from helping Paul. Tright, Hugo's nurse, cautions Mrs. Hallett never to mention the boy's father, as the sight of Sir Richard so disturbed Hugo while delirious that the doctors advise his keeping away. Hugo and his reader become fast friends and Bunny is the only visitor he is always glad to see. He asks her for the newspaper cuttings about his accident, which his family has refused him. He finds the stories contain no hint of his quarrel with his father over the disgrace of being sent down from Oxford, and he decides Sir Richard hasn't forgiven him and has ordered him shut in this room.

The elders all insist Bunny has been jilted and needs pity, which so enrages Hugo that he schemes to stop the gossip, and hits upon the novel idea of announcing that he and Bunny have been secretly engaged for some time. The girl joins him gleefully in the conspiracy and then thrills him with a kiss.

INSTALLMENT XLIV.

PANORAMA.

Mrs. Hallett arrived at last and Hugo said to her in a morose voice:

"I'm in a bad temper this morning. You don't mind, do you?"

"Very much," answered Mrs. Hallett, but she smiled.

"Don't you think it's a rotten world, Henrietta? I can't see what's the use of it myself. I'd like to take a hammer and smash it up."

"Wasn't . . . wasn't the ring all right?" asked the girl, anxiously.

"O, rather. It isn't Bunny or the ring, but the ass who had the cheek to give it to her. I'll bet you despise him in your heart, even if you won't admit it."

"You must not be morbid," admonished the girl. "It isn't as if you hadn't been engaged before your accident."

"No," said Hugo in a flat voice.

Another lie that every one believed, and kind little Henrietta, trying to justify him in his own eyes, little knew the truth. He would have liked to tell her, but withstood the impulse, feeling it weak. Only a contemptible fool would tell a thoroughly good lie and then go and blab about it, and this was Bunny's secret, too.

Warmth crept into his heart at that remembrance, for he had done it for her, and even if he never got well and had to give her up there would be comfort in the thought that he had silenced Molly Mostyn's wagging tongue and Aunt Eleanor's tales of Bunny.

"Does she? But she couldn't be like me. It's ridiculous."

"Let's go to Syria for an hour or two, shall we?" he suggested. "I'm feeling better, thank you."

Yet when she read to him he found he was too tired to attend and his mind roved instead over the past week and all the unexpected drama it had brought him. Paul's troubles, Bunny's love, the conviction of his father's anger and injustice; Hugo II., that amazing gesture of friendship from Alison and Bill, Tessie marrying Roland, and the true story of Mr. and Mrs. Anstruther; the perfidy of Molly Mostyn and Aunt Eleanor; the epic of Bunny and Robin; his mother suddenly announcing a desire to do something for Paul.

"Rum," said Hugo to himself, and became suddenly conscious of Henrietta's voice, low pitched and beautiful, reading of Semiramis.

She was apart from all these others, as much apart as though she had walked into his world from another he had never seen. Yet she, too, was in the panorama, steadfast and still and secret, but very understanding.

She was a stranger, coming and going every day from a background he could not visualize, filled with thoughts he could not guess, and yet she was a friend.

Rather like Paul's girl, Bunny had thought her. Hugo pondered that and was glad, not only because it marked Bunny's approbation of Henrietta, but because it reflected credit on Mrs. Paul.

"I say, Henrietta, you were going to read me Paul's case," he interrupted her reading to say.

She put her book down for a moment, looked at the clock, and protested.

"There won't be time this morning, but I haven't forgotten."

"This afternoon, then. Promise."

"Very well. This afternoon."

Her voice was rather faint and she took up the reading again quickly, as though to ward off argument.

"You needn't be worried," he said persuasively, as the little clock pointed to twelve and she rose to go. "You think I'll get in a state if you read it to me. I know, but I won't. I give you my word. I've got over that a bit, because things are going to be all right for Paul again."

She turned her head away and made a great business of straightening her hat, but her voice betrayed her as she said:

"And for you, too. Please do believe that."

"And you and Hallett," said Hugo, touched. "Let's all believe it."

"I hope Hallett's a nice chap," thought Hugo, waiting when luncheon was over for her return. "I hope he's good enough for Henrietta. . . . Wonder what her name is, really. She has never told me. Quiet sort of girl."

Mrs. Hallett, returning found him gazing into space at a future that held wonders that were nearer to her than she guessed.

"You know, the only thing that's wrong with old Paul, Henrietta," he said, as though continuing a conversation, "is that he's a bit careless, but that isn't a crime."

"No," said Mrs. Hallett.

She opened her bag and took out the newspaper cutting as though she had come to a place where she could no longer deny him anything, but she did not sit down at once. She looked round the room, bringing her eyes back at last to the face of Paul's friend, and saying steadily:

"You said things were to be all right for him again. I suppose . . . his parents have come round, then?"

"O lord no!" Hugo's laugh was hard. "Little you know them. They won't come round. You know my view of parents, Henrietta. I've told you. Paul's people have been pretty beastly from the start, but the old lad has friends, and they're putting their heads together. There will be money for him and all that."

He could not tell her that he and Bunny were the friends, because he wanted her to see Paul as the splendid fellow he really was, not just a chap depending for aid upon a girl and a silly ass who liked him. But there was his mother, who would carry more weight in Henrietta's mind, perhaps.

"My mother's on Paul's side for one," he said eagerly, "and Bunny's guardian and various other people. Paul was always a popular fellow, and you see the point is he didn't do it and has been scandalously treated all round."

"I see."

Mrs. Hallett sat down and took up the cuttings and began to look them through, then put them down again.

"They won't have anything to do with this girl he married, I suppose?" she said.

"Paul's wife? O, rather. It was only the Mostyns who were down on Mrs. Paul, and, if you'll believe me, Henrietta, they had the dam' cheek to try and buy the poor girl off . . . afterward, I mean, when Paul was safely out of the way. That will show you what they are."

"You don't think it might be better for him if they succeeded?"

"Better? Why, Hang it all, she's the girl Paul married, and he has a right to his wife. Of course, you only know what the newspapers say, but I'll bet you wouldn't let any one buy you off behind Hallett's back, and this girl is rather like you. Bunny says so."

"Like me? O, nonsense!"

Hugo thought she was insulted and almost angry and he hastened to reassure her.

"She meant it as a compliment . . . she did really. Bunny thinks a lot of Mrs. Paul."

"Does she? But she couldn't be like me. It's ridiculous. I . . I saw a photograph of her in one of the newspapers."

"Not really like, of course," admitted Hugo, soothingly. "Only rather, Bunny said. She thought it was just your voice and manner that reminded her, but she meant it nicely, I give you my word. Bunny admired Mrs. Paul. Nice girl she said she was, and she went into the court and applauded her. You read me the case and I'll show you where. Dashed exciting, it must have been."

Good Morning! MERRY CHRISTMAS!

I'm far away from you today, but I'm thinking of you, and hope that for each and every one of you this may be the happiest Yuletide you have ever had.

Were you planning to be downtown? If so, and you have an idle hour or so on your hands, I'm sure you would enjoy seeing "Four Sons," which opened at McVickers' this morning.

It tells a war story that serves as background for several splendid characterizations, the most remarkable of same being Margaret Mann's impersonation of Frau Bernle, who gives three sons to Germany. Her fourth, who has become a prosperous American citizen, joins our colors and, a doughboy, goes overseas to fight under the stars and stripes.

There is nothing particularly new about the war angle. We are pretty familiar now, thanks to the screen, with the sadness and fury and destruction and desolation of the long, long days of the long, long years of the world war. It is the naturalness of the characters in this piece that holds you.

You live in the sufferings and gallantry of Mother Bernle—with her dear old face and hands. And you feel poignantly with the other players. The young men portraying the four sons are all splendidly cast and Albert Gran as the jovial postman of the little village of Burgendorf, is excellent. He reminds you of Emil Jannings in "The Last Laugh."

Earle Foxe, whose fate it is [apparently] to always make you hate him in the pictures, is hideously repellent as a Prussian officer. What happens to him finally is what happened to many men such as his Major Von Stomm, when the war was over.

"Four Sons" has been intelligently staged, costumed, directed and photographed. Its musical score, with prologue and epilogue, is delightful.

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Directed by Robert Leonard.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST.

"Angelface"	Norma Shearer
Gwen	Gwen Lee
Steve	Johnny Mack Brown
Bradley	Lowell Sherman
Steve's Mother	Eugenie Besserer

She's Racketeering Gal, But You Like Her

You're going to like this "lady of chance." She's a snappy number. And she comes through so nobly in the end! BESIDES knowing how to wear her clothes and her hair. The damsel with a flair for dress, sure does have an edge on the femme who hasn't.

One exception only is taken by this reporter to Miss Shearer's excellent pantomime in this venture. She does, I think, overwork the grimace.

As "Angelface," the heroine is no pure and spotless maiden. She is a young woman given to working "rackets," and is out on parole when the story starts.

While telephone operator in a large hotel she is approached by two who had known her in other days. By various threats, they persuade her to join them in relieving a certain credulous rich man of a roll. She gets all of same by means no fouler than the ruse by which they would have kept her from having any of it, and from then on DO they put on the Mary's lamb act. They do!

Angelface meets—and marries to trim—a nice young chap she believes to be wealthy. He turns out the reverse and she starts to leave him. BUT—this time her heart has become involved.

"You wouldn't understand—but I LOVE this guy!" she tells the pursuing Gwen and Bradley.

The piece throughout is smartly staged, directed and acted. It has both suspense and comedy and should mean money to its makers.

See you tomorrow.

Does Christmas make you wish you were a child again?

The Answers.

John Muench, 65 East 69th street, caterer.—Yes, sometimes, for a little while. There is something about Christmas that makes one recall childhood events and friends. In the course of time parents, members of your own family, relatives and friends pass away, and thus Christmas loses some of its luster.

Miss Irene Donnelly, 2829 North Sawyer avenue, clerk.—I don't know whether I would care to be a child again, really I don't. I had a wonderful time when I was a child, but I am having a wonderful time now. My saddest tragedy when I was a child was when I found out there was no Santa Claus. I don't believe I would care to be a child again. Children have more troubles than we have.

Hugo Fuhlbrugge, 522 Cornelia avenue, restaurant man.—Yes, in a way, you bet I do. Children enjoy Christmas in a different spirit; they enjoy everything, and such annoyances as they have are not weighted down with the responsibilities of later years. Yet the shouldering of responsibilities and carrying them to success is one of the joys of a maturity.

Miss Jeanette Lloyd Wright, Boston, Mass., singer—I'll say Christmas makes me wish I were a child again. My childhood days were very beautiful, simply gorgeous. Paris, that was the place; a dream in reality, or reality in a dream, whichever you like.

Arthur Lund, 2555 West North avenue, shipping clerk.—I'll say Christmas makes me wish I were a boy again. It's nice to be a little fellow with your folks at home. It's nice to be one of the noisy, excitedly happy little fellows romping around the Christmas tree.

PUBLISHER TO WED

LESLIE FOSTER.

CONDE NAST.

Condé Nast of New York, publisher of Vanity Fair, Vogue, House and Garden and several other magazines, is to marry Miss Leslie Foster, daughter of A. Volney Foster of Lake Forest and New York, it was announced yesterday at Aiken, S. C.

The announcement comes as a surprise to friends of Miss Foster, who went east about a year ago for a literary career. She is 22 years old. With her father, Miss Foster is spending the holidays at the home of her grandfather, George A. Leslie, and it is understood the wedding will be solemnized there. It is also reported that the wedding will take place next Saturday.

Mr. Nast is 54 years old. Thirty years ago he went to New York to take a job at $12 a week. When he embarked on a publishing venture of his own ten years later, he was among the very large salaried men in the publishing business. He has been married once before, his first wife being Jeanne Clarisse Coudert, daughter of Charles Coudert, international lawyer. The couple were divorced in Paris at 1923 and Mrs. Nast subsequently married J. Victor Onativia Jr.

'Abie's Irish Rose' Faded on Screen, Author Admits

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—"Abie's Irish Rose," for all its astounding success as a stage play has been a flop as a movie, its author admits.

Anne Nichols, on the stand in the federal court before Judge Goddard today in her suit against Universal Pictures corporation, Carl Laemmle, its president, and Harry Pollard, who produced "The Cohens and the Kellys," for the film company, was asked:

"No, it was a failure," she replied promptly.

THEATER

"THE WAR-SONG":

Comedy, in three acts, based by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Spewack and George Jessel on a story by E. Richard Schreyer: made known in Chicago (by Albert Lewis and Sam H. Harris) December 23, 1928, in the Harris Theater, with this cast:

Eddie Rosen	George Jessel
His mother	Clara Langsner
Emily, his sister	Shirley Booth
A social worker	Jean Thomas
Sid Swanson	Raymond Guion
Sally Moss	Mary Hayes
Herman Wagner	Hans Golle
Bob Elkins	William Gargan
Doctor Hayman	Ted Athey
A civilian officer	Frank Spelvin
An M. P.	Charles Peters
NEW CHARACTERS IN ACT II:
Private Perkins	Paul Byron
Private Winters	Joseph Latham
Sergeant Gilhooley	Clyde Franklin
Captain Conroy	Charles C. Wilson
Private Higgenbotham	Ben Segal
Mr. King [Y. M. C. A.]	Edwin Jerome
Corporal Ringling	Paul O'Brien
Private Chickopopolis	H. C. Warren
Private Shorer	T. F. Benson
NEW CHARACTERS IN ACT III:
An operator	Paul Schults
Von Bergen	S. Albon Bumann
Brinkerhoff	Sol Doudy
Maj. Von Stoch	Edmund Löwe
A sergeant	Henry Von Zinda
A guard	Herman Lehman
Another	Carl Worms
A third	Harry Bass

Mr. Jessel and his managers again provide a good reason for going to the Harris. It is told of "The War-Song" that a great deal of rewriting was involved before Mr. Scheyer's original suggestion was made into the present play by Mr. and Mrs. Spewack, Mr. Jessel, and, doubtless, Mr. Lewis, who is, as I have said ere this, one of the most talented of the producers who undertake their own directing; but the result is worth it. What Mr. Jessel now has is an effective conveyance in the general tone of "The Jazz-Singer," with countless shrewd touches of what it were easy to call hoakum, and what is really an understanding employment of the importunities and appeals that have caught the emotions and the understanding of theatergoers through the centuries. I don't expect to find in the traffic of the stage better use of these matters than is to be had in "The War-Song" through episodes such as a decent lad's learning of his sister's seduction; the same lad's being torn from an ailing and grieving mother because of a silly rumor that he may run off to escape the draft; and the lad's receipt of the news that his mother is dead as the bugles are blowing at Yaphank to call the rookies to France. Yes: they're hoakum; and you need not be ashamed of your tears in these scenes because the Armistice was ten years old last month.

If you liked "The Jazz-Singer," you will like "The War-Song"; and to me there is strong probability that you will like "The War-Song" even if you didn't like "The Jazz-Singer": the latter was essentially the drama of a Jewish boy, while the new piece could well be about young Casey, or young Olsen, or young Smith, or even young Schmidt. As it is, it is about Eddie Rosen, a brave youngster who keeps his fatherless home going by his earnings as a song-plugger, likes square goyim just as he likes square Jews, has no use for anybody who isn't square, and thinks it is wrong for fellows to go out and shoot at each other in battle. But go he must; and he gets by, toughening up a bit in fibre as the breaks go against him, but emerging as he went in—right and square.

And Mr. Jessel just makes the lad live for you: you believe the play even when it runs, as it does here-and-there, into actor's gags and what is known in stage-lingo as the old surefire. There is nobody else quite like this little comedian; and, good as he was two years ago in "The Jazz-Singer," he is a better actor now. He easily can spare a cheer or two for Miss Langsner, whose acting as the mother is perfect, and one or two more cheers for the direction by Mr. Lewis, the acting in general, and particular the sound casting of the German soldiers in the final scene.

News-Notes of the Stage.

"White Lilacs," the operetta with Chopin's music, is to be sung January 20 in the Grand Opera-House.

Philadelphia's committee on play-censoring says that "Young Love," shown here in the Autumn, is "obviously impossible," and will not be permitted in that city.

Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner will give four Sunday afternoons, starting January 13, in the Harris.

"Sin-Tax" is a bulletined play by Leonard Wood, son of the distinguished soldier who served as governor-general of the Philippines, and Harold M. Sherman, and is said to be "an emotional drama of the tropics."

Chicago's Life on Show for Behaviorists

Savants of Other Kinds Meet Here, Too.

What is good and what is bad in the American sociological scheme will come under expert examination this week, beginning tomorrow, at the twenty-third annual meeting of the American Sociological society at the Congress hotel from Dec. 26 to 29.

Eminent experts on the behavior of the national communities, and the whyfors for such behavior, will hold forth for the four days. While the central topic, as announced, is a discussion of the rural community, a glimpse through the program indicates that the farmer's more cosmopolitan neighbors will come in for a goodly share of dissection.

For instance, there is the talk tomorrow on "Prohibition and Gangsters, a Chicago Community Study," by John Landesco of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology. And "Newspaper Circulation as an Index of Urbanization," by Robert E. Park of the University of Chicago.

The business of the sociological uplift of the farmer will come in for exhaustive discussion on Thursday. Daniel H. Kulp II. of Columbia university, Edmund DeS. Brunner, Institute of Social and Religious Research of New York City; Manuel Gamio of Mexico, on the Mexican immigration situation; Alva Taylor of Vanderbilt university, and other experts will deliver papers on the sociological problems of rural life.

Rural sociology, the Russian experiment, domestic discords, the Negro problem, and religion will be discussed in a diversified session of the society on Friday. One topic is the "Rural-Urban Conflict," a discussion of the conditions in the Chicago dairy district by Arthur E. Holt of the Chicago Theological seminary.

"The Influence of Cultural Change Upon the American Newspaper" will be discussed at the Saturday session by Malcolm M. Willey of the University of Minnesota.

Hollywood Has Synthetic Christmas, Santa Claus, Etc.

Not to be stopped by an obstacle such as mere climate, the chamber of commerce utilized an airplane to drop movie snow on Santa Claus and his reindeer as they swept through long lines of children on Hollywood boulevard.

Cruze, the director who filmed "The Covered Wagon," and Betty Compson, his wife, sent out the screen colony's most talked of Christmas card in an effort to prove to their friends that no man's home is his castle in Hollywood, even if it is isolated in the hills to the north of the city.

Hollywood has more than its share of parasites who need no invitation to partake of the hospitality of the screen's notables, even if they don't know them and never will. The card, a two foot square folder affair, depicted the Cruze home with at least 50 strangers keeping the situation well in hand.

"O, yes—so glad, you know—er, what was the name again?" Miss Compson greeted two newcomers.

BALABAN & KATZ CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Yes, There IS a Santa Claus . . . .

TODAY is a day of gladness the world over. Children of men, young and old, enter the spirit of the season by giving and getting, forgiving and forgetting.

AND we are happy, too. Chicago gave us the greatest of gifts—Opportunity. It reared, comforted, inspired and encouraged us. It enabled us to erect monumental edifices of national importance and thus the city has become pre-eminent in the world of entertainment.

CHICAGO'S theater pre-eminence is due not only to the architectural superiority of Balaban & Katz Theaters, but to the fact that these theaters have blazed the way for every new and progressive change in entertainment

THE supremacy of Balaban & Katz Theaters is beyond question and we are overjoyed. Take your family to your nearest B&K Theater today for a happy Christmas celebration.

Family Reunions Gladden Christmas; Record for Dixons

BY THALIA

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

The Dixon clan, to be entertained at Christmas dinner today by George W. Dixon, his daughter, Miss Marion Dixon, and his son, George W. Dixon Jr., still maintains its record for assembling the largest family reunion at holiday time. There will be pretty nearly half a hundred Dixons, of various ages, to make merry today, and the only member absent is Miss Grace Dixon, who is spending Christmas at Chandler, Ariz.

George Jr. will be Santa Claus, and after dinner, each of the youngsters will be called upon as each of his elders had on previous occasions, to do some stunt or other. The assemblage will include the Thomas Dixons, the Wesley Dixons, their child; the Will Dixons and their two boys, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Dixon, the recently married Woodberry Stearns Agars, and the Dixons' other half dozen sons and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Wilton B. Martin, their daughter, Mrs. Channing Sweet, who has come from Denver, Colo., with her two children, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Faithorn, Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dixon III. (Katherine Strawn), their two infants, Mrs. Dixon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Wesley Dixon's father, Dr. George P. Marquis, and Miss Marion Dixon's fiance, Stanley Zaring.

Other families that are gathering together for Christmas day are the Mitchells, who will be entertained at the Lake Forest residence of the William H. Mitchells. The group will include Mrs. Mitchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King, Miss Barbara King, Garfield and Mr. and Mrs. John Payne Kellogg (Louise Mitchell). The Clarence Mitchells are in Tucson, Ariz., and the John J. Mitchells are in Santa Barbara, Cal., where Mrs. J. Ogden Armour is visiting them.

◆

Mrs. Thomas H. Cowles is to have with her her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell Blair, Mme. Ricardo de Soriano, and Miss Ynes de Soriano, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Granger, Marvin Hughitt, and Mr. and Mrs. George Davidson.

Mrs. James Viles of Lake Forest will entertain her son, Lawrence M. Viles, and his daughter and sons, Miss Glee Louise and Lawrence Jr. and James, and the Stewart Hathaways of New York City, who are here for the holidays.

The Ernest R. Grahams of 25 Banks street are entertaining for another kind of family, the opera singers, at the annual affair they give at Christmas time. The decorations, which always are most elaborate, this year include a miniature of the new opera house, 6 feet high and electrically lighted. And Mrs. Joseph B. Long has bid to her house many of the society folk who for one reason or another are not able to be with their families.

◆

Being present at family dinner parties won't prevent society people, young and old, from attending several large and important functions on the Christmas calendar. The Potter Palmer musical at their residence at 1350 Lake Shore drive with Vladimir Horowitz, the spectacularly successful young Russian pianist, takes place this afternoon, and this evening, the Robert Hall McCormicks are to give a large ball at the Blackstone for Miss Eleanor McCormick.

◆

Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal, Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson, Mrs. Stewart Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. George B. Massey are to hold open house this afternoon at the Boal residence at 701 Sheridan road in Winnetka. This reception, and the Christmas Eve entertainment the Boals gave last evening for the children of the country day school, who sang carols, is a custom of several years' standing.

◆

Miss Louise Fentress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fentress, will be presented to society this afternoon at a tea to be given by her parents and her sister, Mrs. Herman A. L. Behlen, at their residence in Hubbard Woods. Assisting her will be a group of north shore girls including Miss Jean MacLeish, Miss Charlotte Picher, Miss Elizabeth Knode, Miss Harriet Leonard, Miss Louise and Miss Antoinette Lackner, Miss Fredericka Walling, Miss Barbara Mettler, Miss Emily Fentress, Miss Elsie Watkins, Miss Louise and Miss Eleanor Sherman and Miss Lillian Dudley. The tea will be followed by a dinner and dance, also at the Fentress residence.

◆

Miss Elizabeth Crossett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark Crossett of 1200 Lake Shore drive, was presented to society last evening at a dinner-dance given by her parents at the Casino. Her frock for the occasion was of white marquisette embroidered with crystal beads, with a peplum of silver lace and full skirt with lace bordered ruffles. She held a bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Crossett wore white and silver brocade.

◆

Mrs. Bryan Lathrop who has been at the Drake hotel during her Chicago stay is leaving for Baltimore, and then New York City before sailing for Italy, where she is to occupy Mrs. Reginald de Koven's villa in Florence.

◆

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Coolidge has returned to the White House from her mother, Mrs. Limira Goodhue, in Northampton, Mass. Mrs. Coolidge will leave with the President tomorrow night for Georgia, where they will spend ten days, omitting the New Year's day reception in the White House, which has been a feature of the winter season ever since there has been a White House, with probably only two exceptions. One was during the McKinley administration when the late President William McKinley's mother died, and another when President Wilson and family were out of town for the holidays.

Mrs. Coolidge was guest of honor and Mrs. Kellogg, wife of the secretary of state, assisted Mrs. Jardine, wife of the secretary of agriculture this afternoon at the tea to introduce Marian Jardine to Washington society. The reception with dancing was given in the Chinese room of the Mayflower, and others assisting were the Princess De Ligne, wife of the Belgian ambassador; Mrs. Harry New, wife of the postmaster general; Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the secretary of labor; Mrs. George Sutherland, wife of Associate Justice Sutherland; Mrs. E. E. Gann, sister of the Vice President Elect; Mrs. J. L. Loose of Kansas City; Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, Dr. Louise Stanley, and Mrs. L. R. Eakin. Miss Jardine's contemporaneous buds also assisted.

Representative and Mrs. Fred Britten of Chicago entertained a company of young people at dinner tonight preceding the dance of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davies.

The newly presented debutantes and the other buds of this season were the chief guests among the four hundred entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davies at a ball this evening for their debutante daughter, Miss Rahel Davies.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Count and Countess Mercati are arriving on the Majestic tomorrow morning and have taken an apartment for the winter at Sutton place.

Mark Tobey's Art Makes You Laugh with It, or At It

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There opened yesterday at the Arts club a special holiday exhibition of curious and clever paintings by a young New York artist, Mark Tobey. The exhibition is to run for the week and the shortness of its time is another mark of the holiday spirit with which it is vested. The paintings are gay and amusing and odd. They are of that kind which supply critics with food for gentle banter.

There is more than a touch of Salcia Bahnc in many of the female figures. Which is responsible for the other? Did Mark Tobey first discover Salcia Bahnc, or was he discovered by her, or did both go their own ways and find to their mutual surprise that their path was the same? Whatever is the truth, these two artists approach the human form from an approximately similar angle. They see it in waves of motion. They see it well rounded and largely developed. They see it as more physical than spiritual.

There are in particular "The Blue Nude," considered by Mr. Tobey one of his most important creations, and a dancer in red with an hysterical garland of ostrich plumes around her ample middle, that are reminiscent of Miss Bahnc's work. And there are other heads and figures which suggest this and that modernist, but in addition there is Mark Tobey's talent itself that makes itself felt.

Particularly clever is the portrait of Weisenborn, the Chicago painter. And very clever and able is "The Bootlegger and His Friend." The pastels of "George" and Dr. H. C. Kollar" are excellent. The group of small drawings have moments of strength and charm. Humor, too, is an element found in most of the work. It is found, not pleasantly, in the monkeyish "Man Scratching Himself" and again there is a macabre humor in "Victory" and "Plant People." "Song of the World" has great beauty and the sense of all life springing flaming from the seed.

The exhibition will close December 31.

Let's Realize All Our Happiness on This Great Day

"Why do you write anything for Christmas day?" asked a discouraging relative of me. "Nobody will read it—nobody's going to read the paper on Christmas day. Just leave it blank."

That did rather take the gimp out of me, as my grandmother used to say. But just in case two or three of you do read the paper today, I'm going to tell you about something I often see when I go out walking and take a short cut through a foreign section of the city.

In a certain window in a house right on the street, there is always a baby. Sometimes the baby is held by a big brother who evidently adores it. He plays with it, and rocks it, and holds it off, and looks at it so lovingly.

Sometimes one of the younger children holds the baby—not as a duty, but as if she wanted to. Sometimes the mother holds it in a comforting and loving way.

I imagine from the looks of the house in which they live that the reason they sit there so much with the baby is because it is the only window in the tenement where there is any sun.

Now there is a new baby in that family. It's very tiny in its Italian swaddling blanket. They all hold it just as lovingly as they did the first one. They all look at it in the same way. The glances of love don't seem to tire the eyes.

One day, not long ago, I went by on the other side of the street. The sun was warm, so the window was open, and in the brightness sat the mother and her child, a shawl about the mother's head and shoulders, another about the baby, both shawls big enough to cover the garb of today. It made me think of the beautiful madonnas of the early Italians. It was the age old picture—old but ever new.

In this humble little family they welcome each baby. They are glad he has been born. They even seem conscious of that gladness.

Have you had time to think, in all the press of Christmas, how glad you are that yours were born? Sometimes we need to take out our happiness and label it, HAPPINESS. There can be no better day to do it than today.

And, since just saying Merry Christmas is so brief a greeting, I'd like to wish you one with the old carol:

God bless the master of your house,
The mistress also.
And all the little children
That round your table go.
And all your kin and kinsmen
That dwell both far and near.
I wish you a Merry Christmas
And a happy New Year.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This charming design is just the thing for daytime occasions—the bodice with the Vionet neckline, the attached hip yoke, split at the center front, to insert a circular godet that combines with the circular side front sections to achieve a dipping front hemline, being all new details. Crêpe satin, Canton faille crêpe, wool crêpe, sheer woolen, or dull flat silk crêpe in plain or modernistic pattern, are smart materials.

The pattern, 2607, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅜ yards of 40 inch material with 2¾ yards of binding.

Why Forsake Old Interests When Romance Knocks?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It's more a woman's failing than a man's to turn the back upon old friends when in the throes of a budding romance.

Consequently, girls feel more than men the desolation that follows if the romance falls through.

There's Maud. For three years she concentrated every interest on her suitor. Girls from the office, girls out of her school life would call her and ask if she's be at home, or would she join in an evening's merriment somewhere. A polite but final refusal greeted the advances of old friends. Presently it got about that Maud was completely absorbed in Ed and when Ed broke the news that he thought for the good of both of them they'd better discontinue seeing each other, Maud had no old friends to turn to.

But that is not the really serious thing about giving up every old friend and interest. With no diversions at her command, Maud's mind became too firmly fixed on Ed. She became a bit oppressive with her single fixity. There was no fresh stimulation in the way of rival interests to intrigue him. And Ed just happened to be the type of man who was not intrigued by such constant, single-minded devotion.

When girls write and tell me that they gave up everybody for their Ed or Jack or Billy and now he doesn't even telephone, they are simply suffering the pangs of a mistake of their own creating. It is time enough to concentrate solely on the object of one's devotion when there is no doubt of a possible breach. Until serious wedding talk is advanced do not yield up all other interests. For a great many men there is a glamour about the girl other men desire. If she of her own free will strips herself of that glamour, it is her fault if indifference is her reward.

If you find yourself, then, young women on the eve of a romantic affair, keep up your old friends and interests, if for no other reason than to prevent the indifference that being always sure of a girl invariably breeds in a man.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Ask to See Her Alone.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl, and when I ask her to go out with me she always tells me to take her girl friend along. SAM."

Tell her you prefer to see her alone, and that you feel it's asking too much to include her friend every time.

He's Undecided.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a certain boy. Another girl broke us up, but he got mad at her and we made up. Now I see him around her house. What shall I do?" PEGGY.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

ESTHER H.: TO REMOVE DANdruff you must shampoo the hair frequently enough to keep the scalp clean. Once a week or every ten days is not too often. Any good pure soap may be used. Apply this preparation every other day: Sixty grains of sulphur to an ounce of vaseline. Send a stamped addressed envelope for my booklet on the hair.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

My 8 year old daughter has been in bed with a severe cold. According to the doctor's instructions I have taken her temperature several times a day. Last night she awakened at 11 and called: "Mother, please come and take my temperature; I want to know how I feel." E. M. T.

Robert had had a long list of little playmates to buy gifts for and he found it a long ordeal to choose for each child. When he got home and had each gift wrapped and tagged he gave a huge sigh and said: "Well, that's over. Now, for the gettin' of mine." B. R.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cooking Green Peas.

Of all the shockingly bad cooking common almost everywhere, perhaps that of the delicate green pea averages the worst. It is unbelievable how poor this marvelously dainty vegetable can be made and is so often. For one thing, it may be stiff and seem poorly cooked, when as a matter of fact it was overcooked. Nor will it have that marvelous greenlike young grass color, nor will it have the sweet and delicate flavor that the pea should have.

Since green peas are considered the elegant complements of roast duck, of lamb, croquettes and creamed chicken in patty shells, and can be used with almost any meat or fish—at any rate it is used with almost everything—it does not seem a mistake to keep harping on the idea that they should be beautifully cooked. And now we have them the year around and those of our winters are often superior.

The first item of preparation should be the washing of the pods. They can stand in the water a little bit but not for long, just enough to cool them, then they should be thoroughly drained. The water evaporating from the surface of the pod cools them more than the water itself. Then shell the peas directly into the pan in which they are to be cooked. It is unnecessary to shell them over and on the pods as so many people do, and it is a great pity to shell them on dirty pods as also is done quite commonly. When this latter is done they must be washed, when they lose a bit of their delicate flavor. It is needless to say that we think soaking them in cold water after they are shelled is a great mistake.

The peas should be cooked in just enough water to cover them, or better only partly cover them, and since they are best if cooked in the gentlest manner we think it best to cover the pan so as to have the least fire under them while they are cooking. Then one must exercise a good deal of care in salting them, using much less salt than is usually prescribed, because even an average amount destroys their delicacy.

At this season a combination of diced cucumber with the peas, equal parts of each, makes an interesting and rather elegant combination.

Does Old Age Come Creeping, Creeping? Exercise It Away!

Yesterday we talked about exercise in relation to youth, suppleness, grace. As hinted, one does not and one should not await a ponderous flesh weight or an undernourished body before looking to exercise daily as a panacea for what ails you.

While stiffness, awkwardness, may not feel as uncomfortable to the individual herself as bulging hips and thickening waistline, still to an onlooker there's not much choice between being fat and being awkward.

Unless one is particularly gifted by the Providence that shapes us, by which I mean unless one is divinely svelte and easy in her movements through neither fault nor virtue of her own making, there is daily work to do to preserve the elasticity of the body and, by preserving it, to render unto youth the things that are youth's. Which, you know well, are fleet, agile movement and lightness.

Can you arise from a floor sitting posture without rolling and scrambling around? Can you come up without any more help from the hands than a light spring?

Can you get out of a chair and up on your feet without benefit of the chair arms?

Can you come down the middle of a stairway on a run without feeling the need of holding on to the balustrade? Can you run up a couple of flights without panting?

You see, we've gone through the preliminary health training in daily workouts. Women have taken off pounds and pounds with their special brand of daily dozen. But exercise is not for the fat alone, I repeat. There is quite a fair-sized army of women who do not realize, apparently, that grace and youth may be exercised into the body by consistent daily movements of not less than a ten minute period.

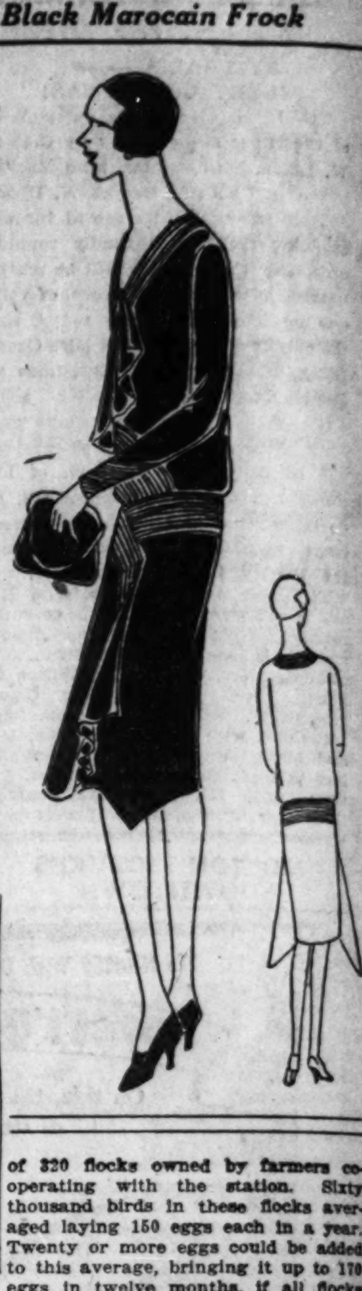
Patou Designed This Black Marocain Frock



BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Many a fashionable contour of today is only a detour. We mean, naturally, those round about curves and points and what not which go to make up the sum of present day style.

Eloquent of this fact is today's model, a stunning frock of black Marocain which was designed by Patou and which has demonstrated itself as one of the most popular models of the current Paris season. Here is a garment which is simply made up of detours. Observe, for example, the winding march of those fine tucks about the waist line as they go up at one side and then are deflected on the skirt to accent a wrap around drapery. These tucks join with a jabot front which is in reality a bolero side and with more fine tucks on sleeves and at the neckline to make the charm of this creation.

A word, too, regarding its chosen material. Marocain is one of the crêpes much emphasized in the midseason openings and this fact would seem to promise a vogue for both southern resort and early spring wear.

The skirts of many of our daytime models show no irregularity of hemline. Made with tiers or some treatment of flounces, they are not nearly so much given to the capricious hemline as are their sisters of the evening mode. Nevertheless, in the southern collections one finds many elaborate afternoon frocks which indorse almost as decided a dip as do the dance gowns themselves.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Men and women poultry keepers who have threatened to cut off the heads of all their chickens and go out of the business, will be interested in the encouraging report from Missouri. It tells how the returns on a flock may be boosted 40 cents a bird. The trick of increasing the returns is done by cutting the cost of producing eggs about 3 cents a dozen.

This cost cutting is done through better breeding, better care and management, more adequate sanitation, and housing, and closer attention to the culling, to get rid of the low producers, according to the Missouri station. Berley Winton of that station says although winter eggs cost more a dozen to produce, the more winter eggs produced, the lower will be the feed cost per dozen throughout the year. Even mediocre hens may lay well during the spring and summer, but it takes good birds with good care and management to produce the most winter eggs, he says.

Winton recently studied the records of 320 flocks owned by farmers cooperating with the station. Sixty thousand birds in these flocks averaged laying 150 eggs each in a year. Twenty or more eggs could be added to this average, bringing it up to 170 eggs in twelve months, if all flocks were improved as many are in those studied by Winton.

Winter is the time to boost egg production. Many of these Missouri poultry farmers secured above 50 eggs per hen during the winter months and some got as high as 60 eggs. The average was between 33 and 34 for each hen. Winton has it figured out that if poultrymen add 20 to their average of 150 eggs a year, bringing the total up to 170 eggs in twelve months, the saving would amount to 3 cents on each dozen eggs.

STOCK OF CHAIN SYSTEMS SHARES IN EXPANSION

Sells in Advance of Likely Earnings.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The rapid increase in chain stores and chain systems has been one of the phenomenal industrial and economic events of this year. Almost equally phenomenal has been the manner in which this comparatively new system in merchandising has fired the enthusiasm and imagination of speculators.

Prices of many chain store securities have been bid up to a degree not witnessed by most other industries, judged by earnings and dividends. For example, the common stocks of the leading chain store corporations now are selling on an average of more than twenty times their probable share earnings for this year. The disparity between prices and dividends is even greater.

On Future Prospects.

It is evident, therefore, that speculative enthusiasm for this class of securities is based largely on future prospects and developments. The success of the chain systems, with rapidly increasing sales and constantly expanding earnings, has been outstanding. Whether such progress can continue indefinitely, however, is a matter of divergent opinion.

There now are 6,675 chain store systems in the United States operating 120,181 stores, according to data collected by the research department of the Chain Store Review. At the end of 1927 there were 3,893 systems operating 101,536 stores. Thus the number of systems increased about 71 per cent, but the number of individual stores increased less than 19 per cent.

Reversal in Trend.

As the result of this disparity it is believed that expansion next year will show a reversal in trend, with a larger increase in the number of individual stores operated by the chains and a smaller gain in the number of systems.

Some interesting data on the relation of current market prices of chain store securities are offered by F. A. Brewer & Co., investment bankers. It is indicated that such stocks are selling on an average above 20 times indicated earnings and that some of the oldest stocks, which have been longest in the hands of investors, are selling as high as 37 times earnings. The tabulation follows:

Meat Packing Industry Prospers.

The meat packing industry has had a good year and faces another prosperous period, according to a statement issued last night by F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co.

"There was no material change in volume of business this year, for that is dependent on production of live stock," Mr. White said. "There was a slight decrease in the amount of beef available for market, but this was offset by added supplies of pork. Profits sufficient to meet fixed charges and dividend requirements and provide modest surpluses were general throughout the meat packing industry.

"The outlook for the coming year is very good. Due to price recessions at the close of 1928, we have started the new year with low priced inventories and without any burdensome stocks. The harvests were abundant and as many of the crops are valuable only when converted into live stock, it is a practical certainty that there will be plentiful supplies of cattle, hogs and sheep to provide profitable volumes during 1929."

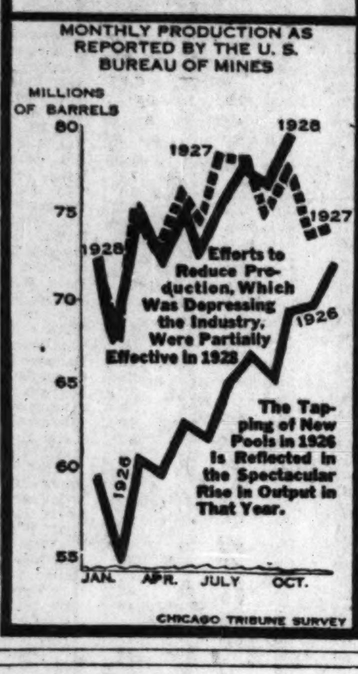
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Although the call money rate renewed at 9 per cent today and held there throughout the day, the demand for funds was light and the undertone of the market was easy. Time money and other sections of the money market were unchanged. In the next week a heavier demand for money is expected, and one banker said he expected before the end of 1928 to see the highest call money rates of the present year. This was considered interesting, in view of the fact that money has been as high as 12 per cent this year. In recent weeks predictions have been made that money would be appreciably easier after the end of the year-end strain. The opinion is growing, however, that dear money is in prospect well into the new year.

CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION IS ABOVE LAST YEAR'S RECORD FIGURES



Payments by Standard Oil Bust Records

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Cash payments by the Standard Oil group of companies for 1928 were the highest of any year since dissolution of the old company, reaching a total of $222,337,321 and comparing with previous record of $213,760,649 in 1927. Cash payments in the fourth quarter of 1928, approximately $64,722,485, were the highest quarterly distributions, comparing with previous record of $62,685,500 in the final quarter of 1926.

A total of $3,582,287,581 in cash and stock dividends has been distributed by the Standard Oil group of companies from dissolution of the old Standard Oil Company of New Jersey in December, 1911, to the end of December, 1928. This represents a yearly average of $210,722,798 for the seventeen years.

Do Not Include Rights.

Of the total $2,131,398,783 was in cash and $1,450,888,795 in stock dividends at par. The figures do not include rights to subscribe to $400,789,144 par value of common and preferred stocks offered to stockholders of the various units, nor the preference given in 1926 to Standard Oil Company of New Jersey shareholders to subscribe to that company's 5 per cent twenty year debentures at 100½.

1928..	$222,337,321	1918..	103,470,916
1926..	200,327,594	1916..	98,627,875
1925..	153,506,099	1915..	62,401,204
1924..	150,388,555	1914..	62,692,884
1923..	138,423,295	1913..	107,795,361
1922..	129,039,865	1912..	51,586,634
1921..	115,294,292
1920..	115,776,793	Gr. tot.	$2,131,398,783
1919..	105,901,477

Leader of Group.

By reason of 50 cents a share extra in the final quarter of 1928, in addition to its regular 62½ cent payment, Standard Oil Company of California led the group in cash dividends both for that period and for 1928, for the quarter is estimated at $14,168,360 comparing with $9,118,957 by Standard of New Jersey, while for the year California's dividends approximated $37,782,293, against $36,475,828 by New Jersey which formerly paid the largest dividends in the group.

The Standard Oil of Indiana paid dividends in 1928 approximating $32,310,392. Standard of New York's payments are estimated at $27,390,288.

Vacuum Oil company's cash payments for 1928 totaled $18,880,315, being swelled in the final quarter by payment of a $1 extra dividend. Vacuum distributed a 100 per cent stock dividend in April last.

The total of $1,450,888,795 in stock dividends at par by the group for the seventeen years' period does not include distributions to be made, early in 1929, by Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, Prairie Pipe Line and South Pennsylvania Oil.

RAIL PRESIDENTS GIVE REASONS FOR 1929 PROSPERITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Three railroad presidents went on record today as expecting prosperity in 1929. L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central, bases his opinion on four factors:

They are the record activity reached with leading industries without disturbance of relations between production and consumption; further substantial improvement of agricultural conditions; the contribution made by improved transportation and communication to the standards of living; and the stability of the entire business structure and the continued improvement in the "economic intelligence" of the average American, in the matter of law and regulatory measures.

C. Haile, president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas lines, foresees a promising first half in 1929. An increase of 9.5 per cent in earnings of his road for the first two weeks of December indicates that gross revenues for 1929 will at least equal those of 1927.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, said he expected that the year will show an increase in traffic of about 20 per cent from the average of the three years ended with 1925, and 40 per cent over the average of the three years ended June 30, 1917.

Business of World Pauses in Memory of the Savior

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—All principal financial and commodity markets throughout the world will be closed tomorrow in observance of Christmas.

Finds Flaws in Fisher's Stand on U. S. Tariff

BY LEON STOLZ.

Prof. Irving Fisher is leading the attack upon American tariff policies as enunciated by President Elect Hoover in his campaign addresses. Mr. Hoover favored increases in the tariffs to stimulate industries which were lagging in the procession of American prosperity. Prof. Fisher says all that is nonsense.

He reproduces the stock arguments against a protective system that has been doing business for a hundred years. To them he adds one which is at least novel. He says, "It is safe to say that a majority of the membership of the national and international unions making up the American Federation of Labor is employed by American large-scale industries."

Nothing to Fear.

From that premise he argues that American organized labor has nothing to fear from foreign competition because our large scale industries can compete successfully with foreign manufactures without tariff protection. The tariff will do more harm than good, he goes on, because it prevents foreign nations from selling to us to obtain money wherewith to buy our products.

Unfortunately for him, the premise is false. The majority of organized labor is not employed in what we ordinarily think of as our large scale industries. It is generally estimated that only about 7 per cent of the men and women engaged in the manufacturing industries are unionized. Union labor is powerful chiefly in the building trades, in mining, in railroad transportation, and in a few other occupations, such as printing. The automobile factories, which Prof. Fisher is thinking of as typical of American industrial life, are not unionized and never have been.

Growing Imports.

Prof. Fisher's notion that foreign nations cannot pay us what they owe unless we lower our tariff walls takes no account of the fact that our imports are steadily growing.

In 1927 we bought goods abroad valued at $4,184,000,000, and among the items in our invisible imports, not included in the figure just given, is $770,000,000 spent by American travelers abroad. The department of commerce estimates that the expeditures of Americans abroad in 1928 will total $900,000,000.

GENERAL TONE OF CURB MART QUIET; SOME GOOD GAINS

Speculators in Pursuit of Ford Stock.

(New York curb list, page 42.)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Although the general tone of the curb market was quiet today, Ford of England and the utilities were the center of speculative interest, and sizable gains appeared in that stock and group. Some specialties were also firm in the industrial list, and a few issues only showed moderate weakness.

Atlas Portland Cement, Fox Theaters A, and British Ford set new high marks.

The new Ford Motor, Ltd., dominated the trading throughout, advancing to its highest since listed. More than one million shares were dealt in last week.

This represented practically half the amount of the entire capitalization involved in the recent financing of the issue. The price opened at a new high record of 17⅞ today, a block of 25,000 shares involved in the initial transaction. The price subsequently advanced to 19¼, up 3 points where it compared with last weeks' close of 16⅛.

As had been the case since trading started on a when-issued basis the demand appeared to be coming from a speculative element anxious to obtain its requirements in the open market at any cost.

The oils appeared to be held back by the current heavy output of domestic crude, but this no doubt was warranted by the heavy increase in demand for the refined product during the last few months. Penn Mexico Fuel was a conspicuous exception, soaring nearly 15 points. Motor shares generally moved sympathetically with Ford, Ltd., and Ford of Canada gained some additional 16 points.

NEW INVESTMENT TRUST FORMED IN MINING INDUSTRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Formation of a new investment trust in the mining and smelting industry is announced by the North American Mining and Smelting corporation, which is offering 500,000 shares of its no par value capital stock at $3 a share.

The corporation is controlled by the Associated Metals corporation of New York, all of whose issued stock is to be deposited with the Corporation Trust company of New York under a voting trust agreement to be administered by Richard W. Saunders, comptroller of Paramount-Famous-Lasky corporation, New York; Walter Gordon Clark, consulting engineer, Los Angeles, and Charles E. Krebs, Charleston, W. Va.

Shares Sold in Wall St. Reach Impressive Figure

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Sales of shares on the "big board" today carried the total for the year over the 900,000,000 top, an increment of 3,697,900 shares on "the day before Christmas," bringing the actual total to 900,988,662. The best figures previously attained were those of last year, when sales to the same date were about 570,000,000 shares. This running record is accepted in Wall street as an index not only of its own prosperity, but also as a reflection of general well-being of the country.

ACTIVE STOCKS IN FASHION ON EXCHANGE HERE

Mohawk Shares Are Up 13 Points.

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

Active shares moved up in sprightly fashion on the Chicago stock exchange yesterday despite the absence of many traders who began the Christmas festivities on Saturday.

Mohawk Rubber was a feature of the day, selling up 13 points to a new high of 65 after which it closed at 60, a net gain of 8 points on the day. The company recently paid a 300 per cent stock dividend.

Strength in Mohawk Rubber was attributed to belief that the company will show a substantial improvement in business and earnings for the year just closing. This company, like many others in the rubber industry, took its share of grief during 1926 when inventories on hand were subject to severe readjustment due to the drop in rubber prices. During that year Mohowk took a loss of $1,505,272 on rubber prices.

Profits in Past.

The net profit in 1926 stood at $433,247 before federal taxes and at the end of 1927 totaled $624,171 and for the first five months of this year was $428,818.

The company had its start in Akron, O., where its plant is located, in 1912, when S. S. Miller, president and a group of associates bought the plant of the Stein Double Cushion Tire company. The amount of stock sold at the time totaled $350,000. The first year of business the net sales totaled $223,000, 8 per cent net profit on the investment. The profits netted $192,000, or 27 per cent, in 1914.

The funded debt of the company as of last August when 28,308 of the 35,000 shares of authorized no par common stock were listed totaled $800,000. The recent 300 per cent stock dividend brings the common stock authorized to 105,000 shares. The preferred stock listed was 21,645 shares.

Nachman Springfilled was up a point. The company manufactures spring filled mattresses and cushions for automobiles, and has a plant on South Halsted street, Chicago. It concluded final negotiations yesterday for the purchase of the National Spring and Wire company of Grand Rapids, Mich. The price paid was said to be around $1,000,000. The concern taken over will be called the National Marshall Spring company.

Rumor About Earnings.

The stock of A. M. Castle & Co., merchandisers of steel in the middle west and along the Pacific coast, jumped 7¼. The street heard reports of unusually good earnings during the last year and there was a rumor that stockholders may benefit more than usual from the prosperity.

Zenith Radio led the radio list with a gain of 2¾ on reports that the company may announce some good news in a few weeks. The automotive list was featured by gains of a point to more than 2 points in the Houdaille and Hershey issues.

Oil-O-Matic was up a minor fraction on small sales. The company announced through its president, C. U. Williams, that this month is expected to be the best in its history as a result of a special Christmas sales campaign for the sales of oil burners for domestic heating purposes.

Eases a Fraction.

Borg-Warner eased a fraction. The company reported that its subsidiary, the Warner Gear company, has received an order from Gardiner Motor company for 2,000 transmissions to be delivered up to March.

Fair store was not traded in, although D. F. Kelly, president, stated that November sales totaled around $2,274,000, compared with $2,287,000 in the same month last year. He added that sales for the first ten months of this year were about $22,076,000, against $21,307,000 last year.

RUMORS OF STOCK SPLIT, MERGER BY CHASE BANK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Rumors that the Chase National bank would split up its stock 4 for 1 and reduce the par value of the shares from $100 to $25 were current in Wall street today, but were not confirmed from any official sources. At the offices of the bank it was said that the plan to split the stock had been receiving consideration but that no decision had been reached.

Rumors that the Chase was to absorb the Mechanics bank, which has an extensive branch system in Brooklyn, were flatly denied at the Chase offices.

Reports that the Chase planned a splitup of its stock have been heard several times in the financial district recently as a result of the trend toward lower par bank stocks. The National City bank recently reduced its par value from $100 to $20 a share under the law adopted by congress some time ago which permits banks to place a par value below $100 on their stocks.

The Chase Natonal bank now has a capital of $60,000,000, surplus of $60,000,000, and undivided profits of more than $18,000,000. The bank's total resources are more than $1,156,240,000.

George H. Capper Sells Interest in Clothing Co.

George H. Capper, president of Capper & Capper, has sold the controlling interest in the concern to his brother, John S. Capper, who becomes president. The price involved in the sale was officially said to be between a quarter and a half million dollars. Chester G. Watson and Maurice Sandberg will be associated with Mr. Capper in the business, it was said.

Anaconda Boosts Dividend Rates Twice in Past Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—For the second time this year the Anaconda Copper company increased its dividend rate with the declaration today of a regular quarterly dividend of $1.50, or an annual rate of $6, compared with the $4 annual rate previously paid. The first increase this year was from $3 to $4.

Subsidiaries of Anaconda Copper have been among the copper producers whose payments to share holders have been raised during this prosperous year for the industry. Andes inaugurated dividends at a $3 annual rate. Greene Cananea started payments on a $6 basis, and Chile Copper's dividend was raised from $2.50 to $3 per year.

Nine Others Included.

Nine other copper companies have rewarded the common stock holders at a higher rate this year than in 1927. These include increases from $5 to $6 and then to $8 by Kennecott, from $2 to $4 by Calumet and Hecla, $4 to $5 by Cerro De Pasco, $1 to $6 by Granby, $3 to $4 by Magma, $1.50 to $2 by Nevada Consolidated and $6 to $10 by Phelps Dodge. Inspiration Copper in October resumed quarterly dividends of 75 cents, which had been omitted since April, last year. Calumet and Arizona paid an extra dividend of $1 in addition to the $6 regular rate.

The directors of the Pettibone Mulliken company of Delaware declared an initial quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the 7 per cent first preferred stock.

The Pittsburgh Steel company declared a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock. The last previous payment was made on Jan. 3, 1927 when a similar amount was distributed.

Announce An Extra.

The United States Finishing company announced an extra dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock and the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock. Directors of the Connecticut General Life Insurance company declared an extra dividend of 1 per cent in addition to the regular distribution of 3 per cent. The American Hardware company declared an extra dividend of $1 a share.

Directors of the Black & Decker Manufacturing company increased the annual dividend rate from $1 a share to $1.20 by the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 30 cents a share. The Bessemer Limestone and Cement company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the class "A" common stock and a dividend of $2.50 a share on the class "B." A year ago a dividend of $1 a share was paid on the "B" stock.

Exchange of Stock.

The Temple corporation declared an initial quarterly dividend of 45 cents a share. The company has obtained control of the Sleeper Radio company through an exchange of stock and of a transformer and condenser plant and has arranged for a building at Chicago which will triple its floor space in that territory.

Directors of the Murray Ohio corporation voted a dividend of 40c a share on the common stock. This is the first disbursement made on the common shares since the initial distribution of 25c a share made on Jan. 1, 1928.

Extra Cash Dividend.

An extra 1 per cent cash dividend was authorized by the directors of the Abbott Laboratories. This is the second cash extra of 1 per cent declared in 1928 on both the preferred and common stock, and is in addition to the regular 7 per cent dividend which has been paid quarterly on both classes of stock.

MOTOR MAKERS BUILD AND PLAN FOR FUTURE CAR SALES ABROAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Rapid growth in the reliance of American motor car manufacturers on the foreign field is indicated by the statement of one company that 25 per cent of its current business is for export markets.

Wall street has been watching this trend for some time and is now basing no small part of its confident belief that further progress will be made by the big American organizations on steady acceleration of the tendency. The larger companies are moving forward in a variety of ways to capture their due share of the expansion. Foreign subsidiaries are being organized for manufacturing and assembling cars in strategic places on the continent and England.

Sales organizations are being carefully built up in apparently remote places. Good roads movements are fostered in all parts of the world and even installment selling organizations are in progress of formation. Current profits are going into the building of these foundations for future earnings.

MORE DIVIDENDS SHARED BY BANK STOCKHOLDERS

Several more Chicago banks yesterday announced Christmas gifts to stockholders. The Devon Trust & Savings bank declared an extra dividend of 1 per cent and increased surplus to $100,000 by transfering $20,000 from undivided profits.

Woodlawn Trust & Savings bank declared 2 per cent extra and increased surplus to $300,000 by transfering $100,000 from undivided profits. The Stockmen's Trust & Savings bank declared an extra dividend of 3 per cent and the Independence State bank declared an extra dividend of 1 per cent.

Foreign Securities to Mature in '29 Show Decline

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Foreign government dollar bonds and loans of foreign state, provincial and municipal government maturing in 1929 total $117,957,000, the smallest amount in six years.

Financial Executive

A Chicago corporation has a most unusual opening for a financial executive of outstanding ability. His immediate work will be as assistant to the treasurer, his ultimate position will be limited only by his business capacity.

The man we want should have a vision for the future but an ever alert eye for the present; he must possess initiative and mature judgment. A knowledge of financial affairs gained through practical experience in banking or a very active commercial institution is essential. He will join an organization matured in years and in success but youthful and progressive. The salary will be commensurate with a position of this importance. In applying kindly state age and give complete record of previous employment, which will, if desired, be treated confidentially.

Look for Price War Among Oil Companies in Holland

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Holland, Dec. 24.—The Royal Dutch and Standard Oil companies, which have previously ruled the Diesel oil market of Rotterdam, were suddenly confronted today with a new rival when soviet Russia appeared on the Rotterdam market offering Diesel oil. The Russian oil is offered at extremely low prices, and it is expected that a price war between the leading oil groups will follow.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Wall street was in a Christmas buying mood today and the result was a broad and robust advance in the stock market. Prices went ahead from 3 to 5 points in a wide variety of issues and in a few isolated instances jumped as much as 10 or 15 points.

Nearly 3,700,000 shares were traded in—a fact, which in view of the holiday absence of a large part of the professional element was interpreted to mean that some of those millions paid out by brokerage and other business houses to their employes were finding their way into the speculative stock channels.

Out in Front.

There was nothing turbulent about the operations at any time but trading went on with sustained vigor from the start with prices in the main moving steadily upward. There was seldom a time when four or five stocks were not being forced out in front and bullish sentiment was concentrated first on one group and then on another. Activity increased rather than diminished as the day progressed. It was an unusual Christmas eve market.

Call money renewed at 9 per cent and remained unchanged throughout the day but the rate, high as it was, proved better than the speculative community had expected. Offerings were sufficiently plentiful to bring the outside price down to 8½ per cent in the afternoon. No one doubts that the situation will tighten up considerably before the end of the week but with the season what it is nobody Andes Copper Mining.

S. O. F.—Higher prices for copper and unusually low cost of production have enabled Andes Copper Mining company to show greatly improved earnings this year, as compared with last year.

The company is controlled by Anaconda Copper Mining company and has extensive properties in Chile.

For the first nine months of this year it reported net income of $1,782,470, which compares with $179,950 for the entire year of 1927.

This is equal to 99 cents a share on the 1,762,219 shares of no par capital stock outstanding for the nine months period, against 10 cents a share for all of last year.

November earnings were said to be at the annual rate of $4.50 a share and December earnings are expected to be higher.

Last week we announced that the company's convertible 7 per cent debentures had been called for redemption on Jan. 1, next.

We wish again to call the attention of holders of these debentures to the fact that these should either be converted or sold before that date, as it will be decidedly to their advantage to do so.

At the closing price on the market last week these debentures were selling at just twice the price of 110, which will be paid on their redemption.

CHICAGO CURB EXCHANGE

Walgreen with a jump of more than 6 points to a high for the recovery above 89 was a feature of a generally firm Chicago curb market. Buying in the stock was stimulated by the news that new stores have been acquired in Indiana and that locations for additional stores have been taken in the east. Harrison's Orange Huts was a leader in point of activity, finishing strong after an early loss of a point. Storkline common and City Radio were lower on a light trade, but the rest of the list held up well. Nominations have been announced for the curb board of governors. Leo J. Doyle, William M. Dickey, and George A. Koehl have been named for the three year term. Ralph A. Phalen has been named to succeed J. J. Rice, who has resigned, and David H. Annan is slated to fill the one year term carried over by Mr. Koehl. Elections will be held Jan. 14.

MAKE $800,000 LOAN FOR NORTH SIDE APARTMENT

BY AL CHASE.

Filing for record of a trust deed by the Sheridan Glenlake Building corporation with the Chicago Title & Trust company to secure a loan of $800,000 reveals that work is to start shortly on a large apartment building announced in July, 1927, in this department for the northeast corner of Sheridan and Glenlake.

Since the original announcement, a new group makes up the building corporation—the names to be announced later. And the architects have been changed. The new architects are Rissmann & Hirschfeld. However, the name, the Edgewater Château, remains the same.

Will be 15 Stories.

The Edgewater Chateau will be fifteen stories high and will contain 103 apartments. The fourteenth and fifteenth floors will form setbacks and they will contain de luxe flats. The loan, made by the Garard Trust company, is for thirteen years at six per cent.

Solomon G. Joseph bought from Percy E. Wagner of Wagner Brothers the 100x132 feet at the southeast corner of Racine and 79th for an undisclosed consideration. The land is improved with a three story building containing stores, offices and apartments. Wagner Brothers, W. H. Stenstrom, J. W. Russ and W. S. Abby, were brokers. Mr. Wagner took property in Gary and Indiana Harbor in part payment.

More Activity in Oak Park.

Activity in the Lake-Harlem business section of Oak Park is continuing, the latest development being the purchase by Jay C. Williams, vice president of the Charles H. Touzalin Advertising company, of a parcel 50x214 feet at 1133 Lake street. Mr. Williams is considering an improvement the nature of which will be announced later.

Mr. Williams is said to have paid approximately $150,000 for the property. The seller was a syndicate for which the Oak Park Trust and Savings bank held title as trustee. Extending through to William street the property has old improvements on the land.

BOND MARKET FAILS TO SHARE IN HEAVY TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—There was little activity on the bond market today. Many traders were absent on account of the holiday, money rates were discouraging and the supply of funds somewhat limited. This combined effect was to depress prices.

Changes in the main were unimportant. The only exceptions worth while were provided by a handful of issues in the legal rails, public utilities and United States government bond lists, where declines of moderate size took place.

Well informed observers do not look for much improvement on this market for the remainder of the week in view of the general expectation of more stringent money conditions.

Irregular in Price.

The convertible issues were quieter than they have been and showed irregularity in prices. Following the advance in metal stocks the copper convertibles were higher. Andes 7s advanced 3 points, selling more than double the figure at which they are to be redeemed in another week, but later eased off. Anaconda Copper 7s were influenced by the dividend action on the stock today, declining nearly 4 points. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s gained 2½ points. International Telephone 4½s were off a point but rallied.

A large number of industrial and railroad bonds are currently quoted at the lowest level for 1928. Among the conspicuously weak industrials, the last few days, have been American Ice 5s, which are off 9 points from the price at which they were brought out in May; Lorillard 5½s, about 10 points under the high of the year; Certainteed Products 5½s, Pacific Coast first 5s, Schulco 6½s, Victor Fuel 5s, West Virginia Coal company 6s, Consolidation Coal company 5s, and of the public utilities, Manhattan Elevated 2d 4s and Havana Electric 5s. A score or more of highly rated railroad bonds were selling today under the previous low level established in August.

Foreign List Quiet.

The foreign list was quiet but with a distinctly heavy tone in South American and in European issues. This group also contains a large number of bonds both listed and unlisted which are at the lowest of the year.

It will be interesting to follow the course of the market after Jan. 1, and to see whether year-end liquidation or high money rates has been the dominant factor in causing the decline this month.

WALL ST. IN YULE BUYING MOOD; PRICES ADVANCE

Activity Increases as Day Progresses.

Lead in Upturn.

Merchandising, mail order, rubber and motor stocks led the upturn. National Bellas Hess was again the star performer of its class jumping 15 points on the opening sale and holding around that level until the late trading when it slipped back some 2¼ points to 217¾.

Sears Roebuck moved almost as rapidly and wound up the day with a net advance of 14¼ points to its credit. The final price was the highest of the day, 182¾. Montgomery Ward was up 1½ at the finish. Macy & Co. gained over 5 points.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber continued its sweeping advance rising 10 points in the early trading and holding about half of the gain through to the close. This stock had gone ahead for nearly 25 points in the last week. Goodrich pushed ahead also and there was profitable demand for United States Rubber.

Chrysler was the leader of the motors group, rushing up some 5 points on a flood of buying orders in the early trading. In the afternoon, however, the stock was compelled to cede some ground. It closed at 123⅞, up 2⅝ points. General Motors advanced nearly 3 points. Hudson was bought at advancing prices and Mack Truck had another profitable day. Packard suffered somewhat from pre-holiday realizing toward the last.

In Public Favor.

A long list of industrial specialties participated in the public favor. Among them was Columbia Carbon, advancing to a new record high of 124½. American International was another issue to attain a new peak. It went to 150 and then slid off to 148½, which left it with a net advance of more than 8 points.

Heavy profit taking came into the copper shares following the announcement that Anaconda had been placed on a $6 dividend basis. It had been generally expected that the directors of the corporation would not only announce a $6 regular dividend but would regale the stockholders with a substantial extra.

When the announcement of the board's action came out the stock began to be offered in sizeable blocks and the price dropped more than 4 points from the high of the day. The closing quotation was recorded at 111⅞, representing a net decline of nearly 2 points for the day.

Decline in Unison.

Cerro de Pasco and Granby declined in unison with the leader, but Kennecott managed to hold to the plus side of the column. Besides those mentioned, the more conspicuous gainers of the day included Otis Elevator, up 14½ points; American Smelting, up 3; Vanadium, up 3⅝; Case Threshing, up 15; Texas Gulf Sulphur, up 4, and United States Cast Iron Pipe, up 5.

Among the outstanding losers were Baldwin Locomotive, off 15; International Nickel, off 13½, and Wright Aero, off 4¾ points.

SILK SHIPMENTS.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The average price of railroad securities has risen only 5.1 points during the last year, due largely to the fact that investors have been reluctant to buy them while $19,000,000,000 invested in railroad stocks and bonds will be vitally affected by decisions shortly to be announced by the Supreme court, according to the Granger Financial Review. "Meanwhile," says the Review, "the average for public utilities has gained ten times as much, although presumably governed by the same general factors of rates publicly regulated to yield a fair return on impartial valuation."

President W. J. Harahan announced yesterday that the net income of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway for the eleven months ended Nov. 30 amounted to $25,667,226. He predicted that the revenues for the month of December would bring the net income for 1928 to approximately $27,000,000 after all charges. Net income of the Chesapeake and Ohio in November was $2,205,876.

GRAIN PRICES SAG ON EVE OF XMAS; TRADING IS DULL

Country Not Disposed to Sell Corn.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Trading in grains was of a holiday character, and outside interest was distinctly limited. The undertone, however, was slightly easier with wheat closing with a net loss of ¼@½c, December being $1.14⅝ and May $1.20⅞ to $1.21. Corn had a range of ⅝@½c and finished at the bottom with losses of ⅛@⅜c, December being 84⅛c to 84¼c and May 90¼c to 90⅜c. Oats finished ⅛@⅜c lower with December 47⅜c and May 48⅜c, while rye was ⅛c higher to ⅜c lower, the former on December, which closed at $1.01⅝, while May was $1.07½.

Weekly statistics on wheat were somewhat favorable to holders, but the trade was not disposed to pay attention to routine developments, and the market declined under scattered selling, buying against bids checking the break. Northwestern markets were closed, and Liverpool and Buenos Aires adjourned early, the former being unchanged to ¼d lower, while Buenos Aires was unchanged, May finishing at $1.15½.

Export Demand Limited.

There was no export demand of consequence at the seaboard for wheat, due to Christmas holidays abroad, and it is expected that purchases will be small until after the turn of the year. Supplies on ocean passage decreased 5,824,000 bu for the week, and the total of 49,160,000 bu is only 3,300,000 bu in excess of last year. With Chicago and Buffalo to come the domestic visible supply increased 2,401,000 bu. The statement will be issued Wednesday. Fort William and Port Arthur stocks increased 12,930,000 bu for the week, and aggregate 44,137,000 bu, against 28,071,000 bu last year.

December corn showed a firmer undertone than the deferred deliveries and exporters continue after cash grain with sales of No. 3 yellow at an Illinois point to go to New Orleans at equal to 83½c Chicago. The December-May spread at the last was 6⅛c, or ¼c narrower than on Saturday, and the country showed no disposition to sell to arrive despite favorable weather over the belt. Purchases to arrive during the day were 18,000 bu, mainly from Iowa points. Cash houses bought December and sold May.

Buenos Aires Lower.

Favorable weather conditions prevail in Argentina, but good rains will be necessary to insure a liberal sized corn crop in that country during January and February. May corn in Bueno Aires closed 1c lower at 80⅝c, or 4⅜c under the same delivery in Chicago. With Chicago and Buffalo to come the domestic visible showed an increase of 1,571,000 bu.

Oats were dull and easier in sympathy with other grains. German crop is officially estimated at 484,000,000 bu, against 438,000,000 bu last year.

There was no pressure on December rye, and prices averaged slightly higher on scattered buying, while the deferred futures were easier. Export demand at the seaboard was limited. German crop is officially estimated at 314,000,000 bu, against 251,000,000 last year.

DECEMBER EGGS LOWER

Liquidation was on in December eggs early with a break of 1⅞c to a low of 31¼c, which wiped out the greater part of the advance of the past month, but a good demand developed on the decline, and a rally of 1½c from the inside figure followed with the finish at 32⅝c, a net loss of ⅜c. Trading in the December delivery is limited to the liquidation of outstanding contracts, and the open interest at the close on Saturday was down to 725 cars. Deliveries on Saturday, including those tendered in outside markets, were 56 cars. The period of extreme activity in the current month is regarded by many traders as about over, although erratic price changes are expected to continue. January opened ⅛c higher at 27⅛c but broke to 26⅝c and closed there, losing ⅝c for the day and prices were at a new low for the season. Total sales of all deliveries were 126 cars. Receipts, 6,410 cases.

December butter was easy and closed at the bottom at 47c, a net loss of ⅝c, while January was ⅛c lower at 45⅛c. Sales were 116 cars and receipts 16,756 tubs.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—There was no change in the raw sugar market early today and a pre-holiday feeling was in evidence. No sales were reported, although it was believed that on Saturday a local refiner bought 12,600 bags of Cuban from store at 3.92c, and an operator 7,000 bags of Philippines for February-March shipment at 3.96c. Holders of shipment sugars were asking 3.96c, with buyers at 3.93c. The raw sugar futures market was quiet, with price changes narrow. The undertone, however, was steady and aside from the present December position, trading in which ceases today, and which was 3 points lower under belated liquidation, prices moved within a range of 1 point and at midday were unchanged to 1 point higher on covering and a little trade buying. Prices for the day follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev close.
December	2.03	2.03	1.99	1.99	2.02

The refined market was unchanged at 5.25c for fine granulated, with demand light.

All American and foreign grain and stock exchanges, as well as the banks, will be closed today, Christmas. Trading at the stockyards will also be suspended.

◆

There was nothing in trade gossip or news at the finish yesterday to induce the expression of pronounced opinions as to the immediate action of any of the grain markets. Trade is centering its attention on the evening up of December contracts, particularly the wheat, corn and oats. Liberal deliveries of cash wheat yesterday weakened the December in that grain, while in corn and oats there was enough pressure from holders to enable shorts to reduce their commitments. With holiday dullness settling over the grain markets of the world no material change is expected between now and the first of the new year.

◆

There will have to be some lively adjustments in December corn between now and the close next Saturday. There is nearly 15,000,000 bu in open contracts to be cared for. This tends to create uneasiness on the part of interests on both sides of the market, and is decreasing the December discount as compared with other markets. With dry cold weather over the corn belt the expectations are that the marketing movement will be increased but there is not time enough to bring sufficient corn to satisfy the open interest.

◆

It was said that domestic millers were buyers of wheat at mills at around $1.21, while local interests appear to be liberal sellers at anything above that figure. The fact that the market closed easy created an impression that values were likely to work somewhat lower unless there is a decided increase in support.

◆

◆

Visible supply stocks of grain were not posted yesterday owing to Buffalo having a holiday, but will be completed on Wednesday.

SMALL GAINS IN COTTON

Trading in December delivery closed at noon. In New York 96 notices were sent out early causing fair selling by holders of this month's contracts who did not care to take the cash article which caused some easing. Liverpool was better than expected early and induced some buying causing strength. Prices follow:

A pre-holiday decrease in supplies of live stock sent many classes to the highest price level in several weeks on one of the fastest markets of the season yesterday.

Hogs and lambs lead the way up, both scoring gains of 25@50c, with top hogs again at $9.00 and lambs at $15.25. Quality was lacking in cattle offerings and best available stopped at $15.25.

Hog receipts at 27,000 were smallest for Monday since September, with only three smaller Mondays this year, resulting in a quick clearance directly after the opening. Trading was practically over before 10 o'clock in the forenoon, with only 2,000 pen holdovers left at the close. Outsiders took 10,000, the second largest shipments since August and 37 per cent of fresh arrivals. Range of prices continued narrow, bulk selling at $8.80@8.95, with general average price at $8.80, showing 40@50c advance since last Friday.

Cattle receipts at 7,000 were smallest of the year for Monday. The meager supply cleared quickly at unevenly higher prices, although top notchers were absent and few sold above $14.25. The small supply available checked the downturn in prices of cows and heifers, and in some instances part of the recent loss was regained. Calves held firm.

Lambs on Upgrade.

Additional advances yesterday carried top fat lambs to $15.25, highest since Sept. 10. The peak during the last week of December, 1927, stopped at $14.000 and two years ago was down to $13.35. Aged and yearling sheep shared in the full strength. With supplies of sheep and lambs dwindling at all leading points in the country, demand for feeder and shearing lambs continues brisk.

Receipts for Wednesday, today being a holiday, are estimated at 12,000 cattle, 39,000 hogs and 13,000 sheep, against 11,196 cattle, 33,611 hogs and 11,667 sheep, the previous Wednesday, and 8,501 cattle, 25,115 hogs and 20,-196 sheep, a year ago.

A MAN WHO IS AFTER THE BIG MONEY.

An Illinois corporation which has been in business for ten years, which is highly rated and the operations of which extend to foreign countries, desires to interview a salesman who has a great deal of ability and who is looking for a real opportunity to make a connection with an organization that will enable him to cash in in a big way through his efforts.

The opportunity that we are able to offer this man is an unusual one and the vacancy created is due to a program of expansion which has meant promoting men from the sales ranks to executive positions in the past four months.

We are not looking for a salesman who is seeking a soft berth where he can remain in Chicago and put in two or three hours work daily, but want one who is willing to sacrifice, who is willing to pay the price by leaving the city and willing to put in eight hours of real effort every day, and who is really after the reward that comes from this effort through earnings of $7,000 to $15,000 per year, and we have approximately three hundred salesmen who are earning this money. We are after the man who recognizes the fact that in order to accomplish anything worth while he must put up with a certain amount of inconvenience and he must pay this price for a certain length of time.

We are interested in a man with executive ability because should he prove within a short time that he is a real go-getter, we will give him an opportunity to cash-in through an executive position. We are not interested in any has beens who are trying to get by on past performances.

We are the largest organization in our particular line of business and our auditor's statements will prove this to be true. We make no promises that we do not fulfill as we do not believe that any business can successfully operate on broken promises. The man we select will be thoroughly trained for our work and he will be promoted as fast as his ability warrants. He will be given plenty of opportunity to use all the brains he possesses.

Our organization is composed of young men who are all live wires and who get things done. We are interested only in this type of man. We do not wish to interview alibi artists, and unless you have the courage of your own convictions and have the ability to interview chief executives and fight for what you know is right, please save your time and ours.

You must be between the ages of 28 and 40. You must be neat appearing. You must have far above the average sales sense, tact and ability to close, because our business brings you in contact with shrewd business men and men who like talking to only successful men. You must be able to meet these men on their own ground and talk to them as one business man to another.

Our business is closely allied to advertising, but it is an utter impossibility to explain our business in this column. Furthermore, before entering into any explanation we first wish to know whether or not we are interested in you, and should you be able to interest us over the phone, we will be glad to grant you a personal interview, at which time we will go into every detail of our work and prove every statement that we make to you with proof in black and white. If you are the right man for this position you will readily recognize that this is the big opportunity that you have been seeking for years.

We will show you a record of growth that will absolutely astonish you and a record of earnings by our men that will make you fight for this job, and right here we want to say that our business has nothing to do with stocks, bonds, real estate, insurance, club memberships, or vacuum cleaners. There is no element of get rich quick, and when you represent this organization you have something in your kit that you can be proud to show to the biggest man in this country.

Our records show that more than 50% of the executives in the United States, whose yearly incomes are $1,000,000 or greater have signed our contracts for what we have to offer.

We are interested only in the man who is desirous of making his last change; a man who is willing to come in immediately once that he is accepted, stay in Chicago for a week's training and then go out into the territory. He must be able to finance himself—we don't mean finance himself for two or three days, but long enough for him to get into production. This is important.

Read this ad over again before you act, and if you feel that you can convince us over the phone that a personal interview will be mutually profitable, phone Edgar Rice, Superior 0836, or Address C Y 228, Tribune.
